I have just read a list of 165 Communist writers working zealously and effectively in America to "brain-wash" our people, especially our younger generation. There are additional hundreds, but among this 165 are many talented writers who have written Hollywood motion picture scripts, television and radio plays, and novels and articles that may be read in almost any school or public library.

Whatever these people touch they contaminate with propaganda for the Communist cause. And yet in most cases the propaganda is served up in a subtle, cunning manner, designed particularly to create distrust of traditional American institutions such as our jury system, our U. S. Constitution, our economic system. People, young and old, who do not know the true facts of American history, who do not understand how our private ownership economic system works and what its advantages are, will be vulnerable to the Communist propaganda. They also will be "suckers" for Socialism of various other types.

Only an astonishingly small percentage of high school and college boys and girls have been studying American history.

The Harding Academy (high school) at Searcy has developed an outline for a high school course in American history. It was prepared for teachers and school administrators all over America who have been seeking guidance in establishing courses in American citizenship education.

The History outline presents these goals to be developed in each pupil: (1) An understanding and appreciation of our American system of government; (2) Improvement in human relations based on a recognition of the worth and dignity of the individual; (3) An understanding and appreciation of the Republican form of government, as contrasted with pure democracy and various types of Socialism; (4) A knowledge of democratic processes with a determination to see that they are applied at the national, state and local levels.

(5) An understanding of politics and political parties, and a dedication to wholesome political activities; (6) A sense of patriotism inspiring a desire and determination to work toward building a better nation while protecting its basic structure from all forces which might destroy it.

WIDER-RANGE TELEPHONE SERVICE

To meet the needs of modern living, we propose to expand wider-range telephone service to more telephone users in Maryland.

For some time we have been expanding calling areas to eliminate toll charges. For example, in the past 5 years we have eliminated toll charges between communities in 51 instances.

But that isn't enough. Customers tell us they want the privilege of even wider-range calling, without extra charges or tolls.

Accordingly, we are proposing a plan which will extend calling privileges to a wider range of communities and eliminate toll charges on 102 additional routes. Under the new plan every Maryland telephone customer will now be able to call one or more nearby communities without extra charge. How this affects you is explained in detail in our recent letter.

Other adjustments, both upward and downward, will be made in some long distance rates to Maryland points only—a slight increase in the charge for additional alphabetical directory listings and an increase in the charge for installing or moving telephones. For further information please call your Business Office.

One Man Looks At God

By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland, Maryland

In continuing our current series on the Epistle of James we this week consider his statement

Come now, you rich, weep and howl for the miseries that are coming upon you. Your riches are rotted and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and silver have corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have laid up treasure in the last days. Behold, the wages of the laborers who mowed your fields, which you kept back by fraud, cry out, and the cries of the harvesters have reached the ears of the Lord of hosts. You have lived on the earth in luxury and in pleasure. You have fattened your hearts in a day of slaughter.

As you can easily see, these are tough words. Since I have been in Oakland, I have known a great many people who have been more than willing in their willingness to work, sometimes to the point of overwork, with the unfortunate result that there are many in all churches, and other places, who have shown that they know how to share their wealth. But there also are many for whom the scripture is told the great pleasure that the acquisition of large amounts of money. And the people who do the actual work to earn the money get a very small return for their work. There are many people who get incomes of less than twenty dollars a week for a full week's work, sometimes more than that, as much as fifty or more hours. I have heard employers grow short on the quality of their workers, but I have also known a great many men who would be the sorriest who have left Oakland in just the past three and a half years, simply because they could not raise their families on the miserable wages they got. I know of one place, for instance, where girls work a total of ten hours for $7.50. By the time they buy two meals that day, have their social security and withholding tax taken out, they probably have a take home pay of about $2.00 or perhaps less. All this for ten hours work.

Though James speaks of laborers in the fields, whose wages have been "kept back by fraud", there are plenty of laborers in Oakland who have experienced the same type of fraud. These are the ones who receive these miserable wages of twenty to thirty dollars a week from businesses which participate in interstate commerce, where the law of this country clearly states that the minimum wage shall be no less than $1.00 per hour. When these employers have been asked by their employees about this law, the employers say "We haven't hired you by the hour, but by the week". And these same people claim to be very holy church members. James has something very clear in his statement that applies to people like this. Their riches will indeed rot. For though I have heard of one local man of wealth who claims that he won't go if he can't "take it with him", I am absolutely sure that he will not be able to open the door of heaven with a check no matter how large it is.

If only the employers would realize that by paying a decent wage they would be promoting good business in our town. If a man has a decent income, he would certainly use that money to purchase a better standard of living for himself. Builders, hardware stores, grocery stores, automobile dealers, appliance dealers, all of these and more would benefit if men could afford to purchase the things that they would like to have, to have nice homes and adequate food and clothing for their families.

Of course this is not the whole story. The sin does not rest alone on the owners of businesses. There are many men in the area who are not worth more that twenty dollars a week. Many men have been drawn into a condition of lazy stupor by the free handouts of the welfare state. Many men have taken advantage of the kindness and consideration of our welfare board by misusing the funds that are supplied to them, using money given to help buy food and clothing for their families to buy beer, and this is not the fault of the welfare board.

What this community, and for that matter any other community needs is an awareness of the responsibility in terms of love that we have to each other under God. Employers should pay decent wages. Workers should produce good hard work. Where men respect each other as children of God, each realizing his responsibility to the other, laborer for his boss, and business owner for his workers, a good life can be enjoyed. But where men who own businesses think of their workers as chattel slaves, worthy only of the least money that they can get away with in terms of wages, and this is a condition that I have observed in Oakland, then good men will continue to go elsewhere to find employment, and the employers will have to continue to put up with inferior laborers, and to look forward to reaping the benefits of this activity into eternity.

MARRIED

Hall-Fike—Shirley Joyce Fike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fike, of Confluence, Pa., became the bride of Robert S. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Hall, of Gip, W. Va.

The marriage was solemnized Saturday afternoon, August 10, at 4:30 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Akron, O. The Rev. Paul Willerd officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a white ballerina length gown and carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded with white roses.

Donna Fike, Confluence, Pa., sister of the bride and only attendent, wore a blue ballerina length gown and carried a bouquet of pink rose buds and white mums. William G. Fike, Confluence, Pa., served as best man for Mr. Hall.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fike chose a beige dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for approximately 75 guests was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fike, in Akron.

When the couple left for a wedding trip through Michigan and Canada the bride was wearing a gray linen dress with white accessories.

The bride was graduated from South Union High school, Uniontown, class of 1952. She has been employed in Akron as bookkeeper for a real estate and insurance company since her graduation. The groom was graduated from high school in Gip, W. Va., and is employed in Akron. The couple now reside at 1079 Harpster avenue, Akron.

Return From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Groves, of Uniontown, Pa., former residents of Deer Park, returned August 12, from a vacation trip of two months. The journey covered 11,726 miles and included 20 states, Alaska, Alberta, British Columbia and the Yukon.

Mr. Groves retired in June from a post as operating engineer for a construction company. He said his most exciting part of the trip was a 110-mile train ride through the mountains from White Horse, Yukon, to Skagway, Alaska. Gasoline prices in Canada and Alaska ranged from 50 cents to 66 cents.

Among the places visited were Yosemite National Park, Disneyland, Salt Lake City, Las Vegas, and Yellowstone National Park.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rodamer, was graduated from Rider College, Trenton, in 1955, and is employed as a private secretary by the New Jersey Bell Telephone company. Sgt. Stroff is serving with the air force at McGuire base. They are residing in Trenton.

Biggs Clan Elects

W. Harland Biggs, of Hagerstown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Biggs, of Loch Lynn, was elected president of the association of Biggs families at a reunion held last Saturday in Mt. Lake Park. Courtland V. Smith, Wheeling, W. Va., was elected vice-president; Mrs. Shirley Biggs Ferrell, Westernport, was elected secretary-treasurer; and Karl K. Gower, Washington, D. C., was appointed archivist and historian.

A large crowd was in attendance from New Jersey, Maryland, Washington, West Virginia and New York.

It was the first reunion of the family since 1926 and was planned and organized by Mr. Gower, genealogist and historian. Reunions are planned bi-annually, with next meeting set for 1959.

Mr. Gower gave the genealogy and history of the northern United States Biggs family from 1664 to the present, and explained the southern clan settled in North Carolina in the early 1600's.

Of the northern clan the original American settler was John Biggs I, of Worcestershire, England, who was with the English in 1664 when they drove the Dutch from New Amsterdam. He married Mary Hall in 1686. Succeeding generations lived in New York, and New Jersey, and later came to Maryland and West Virginia. In 1769 Benjaman Biggs I moved his family to the Western Maryland "Glades", later to Uniontown, Pa., and West Liberty, W. Va.

Joseph Biggs, who settled in Ryan's Glade, was born in 1787 and is the father of the present-day family in this area. He married Fanny Smith Hebb. Among the children were William L., Middleton Samuel, John H., Upton F., Margaret Smith, Nancy, Elizabeth, Odelia Benson, Ambrose Lipscomb, and Joseph H.

Mr. Gower is compiling a complete history of the clan and is endeavoring to hear from all of the Joseph Biggs descendants or those having knowledge of the Biggs family.

Cows Deserve Special Care In Hot Weather

Even short periods of unusually hot, dry weather can seriously affect a dairy cow's milk production and interfere with the weight gain of beef animals.

Cattle have few sweat glands and cannot readily adjust themselves to high temperatures. As a result they lose their appetites.

As insurance against these conditions it pays to plan pastures for minimum cow travel and take other steps to make living easier for animals in hot weather, suggests A. V. Krewatch, extension agricultural engineer, University of Maryland.

He recommends also providing hay in a shady spot or under a shelter, dividing the pasture into plots with electric fences for concentrated grazing, and being certain that water is always available. Using one of the new effective fly repellents also adds to comfort and helps keep production up. Fans for air motion in barns is helpful.

Shade trees is pastures are desirable, but be sure they are rodded, cautions the engineer, as a means of protecting valuable animals from lightning. Cows naturally seek shelter under trees during thunder storms.

United States Senator from Maryland

Marylanders who served aboard the U. S. Frigate Constellation are being asked to step forward and give your name, rank and serial number."

The request is being made by members of the Constellation Committee, who are anxious to have veterans of the historic ship or the relatives of former crew members on board when Constellation Day ceremonies are held on September 7 at Pier 4, Pratt Street, Baltimore where the frigate is now docked.

A bill introduced by Senator Butler and myself to obtain a presidential proclamation of Constellation Day is now before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Launched in Baltimore

Maryland has a very special interest in the Constellation, of course, because it was built and launched in Baltimore.

The launching was on September 7, 1797, at the shipyard of Samuel and Joseph Sterrett.

Today the Constellation is the Navy's oldest fighting ship.

Permanent Berth Planned

When the Constellation first put to sea, she was flying a flag of fifteen stars and fifteen stripes. This design, incidentally, was still in use when Francis Scott Key was inspired by the Star-Spangled Banner flying over Fort McHenry on the morning of September 14, 1814, to compose what later became our National Anthem.

The Constellation remained in active service as a fighting and training ship for about a century and a half, adding a glorious chapter to the history of our Navy.

Now, thanks to the efforts of hundreds of patriotic men and women, she can look forward to a permanent berth at Fort McHenry following her temporary stay at Baltimore's Pier 4.

Persons who were connected either directly or indirectly with the ship and who wish to participate in the September 7 program in her honor should write to "Constellation Committee; Baltimore 2, Maryland."

Construction of distant early warning radar system across roof of North America is now complete with cost of $500 million.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Amos
Devotional Reading: Amos 5:18-24.

Crusaders

Lesson for August 25, 1957

WHEN Amos, the hired man, Amos the migrant worker, stood up in the city square at Bethel to make a speech, no doubt people laughed. It looked funny to see a man in overalls making like a politician. They laughed: but they did not keep on laughing. He did not talk like a politician at all. It was like nothing they had expected. It was more like . . . well, like a prophet, only there hadn't been a prophet at Bethel since any one cared to remember. It was like a prophet, only Amos himself didn't want that title. The country was full enough as it was, of prophets who were happy as June-bugs, and about as effective. The one tune they hummed went something like "Everything is for the best in the best of possible world's."

Dr. Foreman

What Is a Crusader?

Amos did not see it that way. He drew such a dark picture of the country and the times, and the prospects, that the leading citizens were worried. Get that man out of here! they said. He's not good for business, he's not good for the church, he's not good, period. But Amos kept right on. We do not know how long he lived after those exciting days in Bethel, but his speeches are not dead yet. We can call him an early type of crusader. No popular occupation!

A crusader is next door to a crank, and some crusaders are cranks, and all cranks are nuisances; so most people shy away from the very word. However, we have other words meaning much the same thing. To crusade — it's no different from "stand up and fight," "stand up and be counted," "go out on a limb," "carry a torch for—," "go to bat (or to the mat) for—." Words change from century to century, but the thing is always the same. The crusader is a man with two slogans. He does not always put it this way, but these two are always samples of his attitude to life and the world around him: Something is wrong with the world: fight it!

Something is wrong with the world: right it!

Crusading From the Bottom

If you think all's well with the world you are no crusader. If you think a lot is wrong with the world but nothing can be done about it, you are no crusader. But even if you can say Amen to those two slogans just now mentioned, you are still no crusader if all you do is stand there and yell. A true crusader wants other men to join his fight. That was true when the word began to be used, in the years when European army after army went out to the mideast to win back the Holy Land. It is still true, a crusader is a rouser of men, not merely an aroused man.

What makes a crusader tick? They both feel the weight of the world's evil, but in different ways. The crusader from the bottom is a man who has felt the evil. Amos was in that class. He came from the very bottom drawer, a hired man in a submarginal area, next to beggars, about the most underprivileged of the underprivileged. He well knew what social and economic injustice are; he had been a victim of both. So today and always, some of the most effective crusaders are men and women who have personally been victimized by the evils they set out to destroy. Some of the greatest temperance workers and crusaders have been men whose own lives had been wrecked by alcohol.

Crusader From the Top

The crusader from the top, on the contrary, is a man or woman who has never personally suffered from the evils they fight. They are people with both sympathy and imagination. Wilberforce in England and Lincoln in America had never been slaves, neither had John Woolman; but they felt the evil of slavery more keenly than some slaves did. Frances E. Willard, founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, had never been an alcoholic. The greatest crusader of all time was surely Jesus Christ. Should we not say that he was a crusader from the top?

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

"I want to emphasize that the Russian plot is far more strongly organized in this country and throughout the world than is generally understood by our people." With these words, counterspy Boris Morros last week performed yeoman service in supplying a much-needed shock treatment to a lethargic world. His account of counter-espionage activities for the U. S. might well bring about a renewed awareness of an international conspiracy which has for its inflexible purpose the absolute destruction of freedom and liberty for all mankind.

With awesome precision, the masterminds at the Kremlin "brainwash" the free world with idle talk of disarmament, peaceful coexistence and ideological theorizing. A deliberate and skillful process of confusing our minds and disarming our will has taken root. The recent World Festival of Youth and Students for Peace and Friendship in Moscow is a good case in point. That this festival, and others, is an instrument of communist propaganda can be quickly demonstrated. These gatherings are designed to impress the representatives of some 120 nations of the "richer life" under communism. In a hypnotic trance, the delegates return to their homelands to spread the gospel of "peaceful" communism.

Though advertised as gathering "of youth for cooperation, friendship and peace," the primary aim of these festivals is to enlist the youth of the world in support of Moscow's foreign policies. The "peace" theme is always dominant, cleverly concealing real political and propaganda objectives. Debates and resolutions rigidly follow the Kremlin line. Out of the mouths of those ideological babes in attendance come such familiar communist chants as: The enemy in capitalist countries must be exposed—young people must have the enemy pointed out to them, they should be taught how to hate and combat him. These inspired hallucinations fit the usual pattern.

Even more incredibly, at a time when communist athletes from Red China and Bulgaria are pressing for admission to this country to compete in the 1960 Winter Olympics at California, a group of 41 American delegates to this World Festival accepted the Red bait, and in defiance of our Government they are now traveling from Moscow to Peiping. The communist propaganda machine will feed and thrive on these developments. And, at a time when the Department of State is wrestling with the problem of permitting American newspapermen to travel in Red China, the U. S. has thus been lured into a propaganda trap of humiliating proportions. The offensive in the cold war once again has been lost to us and will not be easily retrieved.

The Rainmaker, by N. Richard Nash is a romantic comedy in three acts that take place in a Western State during a drought. Not only is it hilarious in spots it is most dramatic when the Rainmaker makes Lizzie Curry believe she is beautiful rather than the plain person she really is. The entire production is excellent.

Members of the cast gave their usual top performance and ability. Tom Calkins, playing the part of H. C. Curry, Father of two sons and a daughter, also directs. Tom's portrayal makes one wish to see him acting in more and more plays. Noah Curry, the serious older brother, who manages the lives of his tries to manage the lives of his brother and sister, is most ably played by Neil Flanagan. He doesn't smile through the entire production and this in itself is certain-super acting as the plot unfolds. Chris Curran plays the part of Jim Curry, younger brother, to the hilt. His description of his expeditions with a girl called Snooky McGuire are powerfully delivered and tremendously funny. Helen Page Camp again shows her ability as a top actress. Helen, while remaining the "Plain" type girl until the last act, is wonderfully serious as both types, and her all-around acting, delivery of speech and expressions, does it. Deputy Sheriff, while one of the again. Leonard Drum's part as File, smaller ones, does his usual better than good job and is most convincing. Our local star, Aza Stanton again shows his versatility as he plays the sheriff. Aza in an Artist in more ways than Portrait painting. Joseph Hanrahan, handsome and romantic "con" man is at his best as Bill Starbuck, Rainmaker. His scenes with Lizzie in the "tack" room are outstanding. This show is a fitting climax to a delightful season at the Garrett County Playhouse. Gene Yell and his cast of capable players certainly made the summer most enjoyable.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Butler's Blast

While in California recently, Mr. Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, burst out with a more or less sensational charge that a group of "saboteurs" is trying to capture control of the Democratic party so that they can dictate the nominee for President and Vice President in 1960.

This allegation did not seem to get the public attention it deserved. Not that Mr. Butler is as much an influence in his party as his official position would indicate. Nevertheless, it cannot be recalled that any national chairman in either party ever made such a charge at such a period. His assertion is that this "group" seeks to "grab the Democratic reins" for "purely selfish reasons." In brief, it amounts to a declaration from the official head of the party, whose primary purpose is supposed to promote party unity, that there exists a serious party division.

It reveals a party rift that has been more or less unsuspected. Certainly it makes it worth while to examine the position and character of the chairman and his supporters and the reasons for the rift. So far as Mr. Butler is concerned, though he draws—and has from the start—a $25,000-a-year salary from the allegedly bankrupt Democratic party, he is far from being either the most astute, the most popular or the most respected of Democratic national chairmen.

He largely owes his job to his personal friendship and partisanship for Mr. Adlai Stevenson, one of the worst-beaten candidates for the presidency in our history. Mr. Stevenson, whose postelection speeches, interviews and statements reveal him as a deeply embittered man, has repeatedly said that he cannot "conceive" of any circumstances under which he would again run for President. However, he has not said it quite in words (and he easily could) that would irrevocably rule him out. And so long as he does not do that he will have a rather powerful friend (or at least one in a powerful position) as long as Mr. Butler is chairman. Further, Mr. Butler has made it clear that he intends to hold on to that chairmanship just as long as he can.

It is typical of Mr. Butler that in charging that a "group" of Democrats with their eyes on 1960 are scheming to take over party control he refuses to mention any names. During the 1956 campaign he made many rather low-grade charges against both Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Nixon, but never could be brought to the point of being specific. He never came forth with evidence or proof. Nor did he ever "follow through." Nevertheless, in these charges against his own party associates it is generally believed that he really has certain individuals in mind. Whether he will ever have the courage to name them is another matter. Much more likely, it is held, he will make a deal with them, looking to a continuance of himself in his present well-paid post.

Of the four most likely Democratic aspirants for the presidency—Harriman, of New York, Kennedy, of Massachusetts, Kefauver, of Tennessee, and Lyndon Johnson, of Texas—the most conspicuous are Senator Johnson and Senator Kennedy. With neither of these has Mr. Butler been sympathetically allied. Of the two, Senator Johnson at the moment seems to have at least more journalistic adherents. None of the New Deal-Fair Deal interpreters of politics seems able to mention his name without speaking of his "brilliant strategy," particularly in the recent civil liberties battle. They also usually couple "brilliant" with "masterly" and "wise." Rarely do any of his literary admirers speak of his "convictions." Actually, he is an exceedingly smooth Texas politican and "slick" would seem a more realistic word than "brilliant" to to describe his "strategy" and himself.

At any rate, though Senator Johnson undoubtedly has an extraordinaryily favorable press (largely composed of New Deal columnists), most of those who know them best think Senator Kennedy the better man and believe he would make the better president. However, the feeling is that Chairman Butler does not rate either very high—naturally not. Like so many of his campaign blasts, probably no more will be heard of Mr. Butler's latest charge. The trouble with Mr. Butler is that politically there is no real weight behind him. To some extent the same is true of his friend, Adlai. Aside from the fact that he is a two-time loser, his publicity value seems steadily shrinking. Soon, what he says and does will no longer be "first-class"—except on very dull days.

Let us look farward to another year with larger and greater hopes.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The Song for August

"There's a time of joy for the girl and boy who live in the open country; when garden and field give up their yield, and the table groans with plenty."

—o—

Wasn't It Good?

It appears that we all are pleased with ourselves over the success of the fair, the first Garrett county has had in a quarter of a century. Even those of us who didn't have as much as a little finger in its planning or its success have an inner pride that again our people have proven that they can do a job with their own creative resources.

Some of our 4-H boys and girls have found that high quality work means money in the pocket and those who lacked the urge to exhibit are already saying, "I'm going to start early next year," or "I'm going to do this or that," which is exactly the reason some folks wanted a fair to begin with—to help develop initiative and standards in our young people.

Even adults, some of them sophisticated adults, have an eye to flower arrangement for next year.

As for myself I have a yearning to hook a rug!

"Next year, next year," we're hearing it from many groups of people.

I'd like to take my hat off and give a how-how to Gus Gortner and committee who knew the kind of fair they wanted and rolled up their sleeves and got it.

Are We Losing Our Manners?

This month something new came in a wedding invitation. Enclosed with the invitation was the small engraved card inviting the guests to the party afterwards which is the usual custom. But it was the second small engraved card that I'm writing about. It was a reply card that all one needs to do is to write his name, put it in the stamped addressed envelope and mail it before a set date.

Necessity has brought this about because people aren't bothering to send their regrets if they cannot attend, leaving the bride's family in a dither.

I for one often get them back by the skin of the teeth, so it is almost with humiliation that I mention it.

I have heard brides' mothers say that it is frustrating when many invitations are sent, not to have early replies as many details depend upon a fairly accurate number of guests. All these things may mean last minute arrangements, which should not be.

And now the bride's parents have an extra expense because the people whom they would like to entertain are too wrapped up in their own lives to take time to say, "we accept with pleasure . . . "

We, the American people, should be ashamed that our lack of consideration has brought this about.

The Cookie Recipe

At a formal tea recently I ate a most unusual cookie. The women Extension workers of West Virginia had entertained the girls of state camp with a formal tea, partly to give the girls new experience and partly to let them know that there is glamour as well as pressure cookers in the profession.

One home demonstration agent had made 1600 cookies and some of us with more curiosity than a sweet tooth did a bit of nibbling behind closed doors.

One cookie we agreed was distinctive. So I set about to get the recipe. Helen Waters of Monongahela Power, said she knew its source—It was in a cook book called "The best in cooking in Fairmont." She would try to look it up for me.

This week she sent the book and I dropped everything while I leafed through the pages until I came to Apricot bars. Was I ever surprised—Betty Talbott Treacy (Mrs. Maurice), formerly of Oakland, had donated the recipe.

I Predict

My study is not as extensive as a Gallup poll, and I'm no authority—just observing attitudes in classes I've had this summer. But I predict the family will have fewer children when this group of middle-teens start having families. I sensed a new feeling this year that I have not seen in ten years.

Could these girls be observing the pull their older sisters are having in spite of their superior sportsmanship?

Boy Lands Whopper

Billy Diehl, 12, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Diehl, Frostburg, landed a five pound, one ounce largemouth bass out of Deep Creek Lake August 11. Using a small crawfish for bait, Billy hooked the fish while the lake was covered with a thick fog.

Telephone Company Seeks Increases In Rate; Wider Service

A proposal for a new wider-range telephone service, with an increase in the basic monthly telephone rates, has been presented to the Public Service Commission by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company of Maryland.

W. G. Morrel, vice-president, said the plan provided for greatly extended free calling privileges. The company proposes to spend something over five million dollars in immediate construction and additional funds later to furnish the expanded service.

Morrel pointed out that while basic monthly telephone rates will be increased that many customers' bills would be less due to the lowering and elimination of numerous mileage charges and elimination of many toll charges between adjacent communities.

In the Oakland area the company proposes to add to the free calling area the exchanges of Accident, Bittinger, Friendsville and Kitzmiller. Under this plan people at Oakland will be able to call all Garmania, Accident, Bittinger, Friendsville, Kitzmiller and Oakland telephones with no toll charges and people can talk as often and as long as they wish. Businessmen also can receive calls from all over this expanded area without toll charges to their customers.

Proposed basic monthly rates for Oakland, 1-party residence, $5.65; 2-party residence, $4.80; 4-party residence, $4.20; rural residence, $4.45; residence extension, $1.10; 1-party business, $9.20; 2-party business, $7.70, rural business, $6.45; business extension, $1.50. The rates are exclusive of taxes collected for the government.

It was noted that rates above for 1, 2, and 4-party service would not apply to customers in the Thayerville locality. At present 1, 2, and 4-party customers in this locality are paying mileage charges but under the new plan these mileage charges would be eliminated. Thayerville customers would be included in a new rate area at rates slightly higher than those in the Oakland base rate area, but the rates would be lower than if mileage charges remained in effect.

The company proposes to make the new wider-range calling plan effective beginning September 16. The company has offered to post bond so that the public will be protected pending final determination by the Public Service Commission.

Morrel said the company's construction expenditures in 1956 totaled $53 million dollars and are continuing at the rate of about one million dollars each week. Wage payments reached a new high of almost $50 million dollars last year. The utility's taxes were one million dollars higher.

Iva Lena Schroyer
6509 Lexington Avenue
c o Mrs. Sherman Kidd
Cleveland, Ohio
No. 4770 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states:

That on the 5th day of November, 1921, he was married to the defendant, Iva Lena Schroyer, near Selbysport, Garrett County, Maryland, by Rev. Calvin R. Wolfe, a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 1st day of September, 1944, at which time the said Iva Lena Schroyer deserted the said plaintiff, while they were residing in Garrett County, Maryland; that although the conduct of the plaintiff towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Iva Lena Schroyer, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that twelve children were born of said marriage, nine of whom are now living, and one of whom is not married and under the age of twenty-one years, namely: Lavanne Schroyer, age seventeen years; that the plaintiff is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in this County and State for more than two years prior to filing of this bill of complaint, while the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her address is: 6909 Lexington Avenue, c o Mrs. Sherman Kidd, Cleveland, Ohio.

It is thereupon this 21st day of August, 1957, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 13th day of September, 1957, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 28th day of September, 1957, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde • 6th District, Maryland

The so-called "hardship" immigration bill meets most of the grievous criticism of the way the McCarran-Walter Act operates. The bill is humanitarian and realistic. The Administration has proposed a number of additional changes in the immigration nationality laws. Many of these are highly controversial and to include them now might jeopardize passage and make it impossible to relieve hardship cases. Extensive hearings on the Administration's proposals will be held early next year.

The problem of the Hungarian refugee is to be taken care of by other means. Those refugees now in Austrian and Yugoslavian camps can be handled administratively. Some question as to whether this can be done and are urging special legislation. I think that we should, either administratively or by means of legislation, take our fair share of the remaining Hungarian refugees in the camps of Europe.

Some highlights of the bill are: (1) Alien orphans under the age of 14 could be admitted for adoption without charge to a nation's quota. (2) Permanent residence is given to immigrants, mostly Russians, who falsified their birthplace through fear they might be forced to return to Communist dominated countries. (3) It also grants permanent residence to some 400 specialists. I have a bill pending which would admit on a nonquota basis technical and scientific specialists urgently needed in this country.

The bill also provides for the admission of some 28,000 relatives of persons who entered this country under the Refugee Relief Act. It would also help small countries by restoring their quotas as they existed before the Displaced Persons Acts were passed in 1948 and 1950.

I proposed an amendment in the Judiciary Committee which was accepted and made a part of the bill. My amendment would do away with fingerprinting of non-immigrant visitors to this country, if their country does not require fingerprinting Americans.

Drought Brings More Interest in Farm Pond

Late spring and summer drought conditions have caused many Maryland farmers to seek help from the State Soil Conservation Service in farm pond construction in order to have water for irrigation and livestock.

Edward M. Davis, state conservationist, in his report for the fiscal year ending June 30, says the urgency for increased water supply is particularly acute in the vegetable area of the Eastern Shore and the tobacco section of Southern Maryland. He notes that in many cases an available water supply can make a difference between a full crop and no crop at all.

Also, many requests are coming in from communities and other non-farm groups for help in building small ponds. In cooperation with the Soil Conservation Districts, more than 2,000 ponds have already been built in the State under Soil Conservation Service supervision.

"If this accelerated trend keeps up," Davis says in his report, "there will probably be 5,000 ponds built during the next 10 to 15 years. This will save a great deal of over-flow water that now runs off carrying silt and other undesirable matter into the Potomac, Baltimore Harbor, and the water reservoirs of Baltimore, suburban Washington and other cities. With this program the farmers and small communities will get more water and the big cities will get at least an equal amount with less silt and other contamination.

How Safe? . . . .

Seeing an article in a newspaper magazine Sunday brought a related subject to mind. The article in question asked "How safe are our crowded air lanes?" It told of the necessity of stringent regulations that are necessary if we are to overcome the great danger of loss of life from accidents in the skies as a result of the tremendous increase in the use of airplanes.

Our thoughts turned to Deep Creek Lake and the similarity in conditions about crowding, but without the extreme danger. And yet there is great danger and apparently there is not much effort made to reduce the possibility of accident.

Game wardens say there are 2,000 licensed motor boats on the lake. In very recent years there have been arrests for reckless driving in a motor boat, but that is the only regulation in effect on the lake in regard to the negligence of people. There is no age specification as to the driver of a motor boat. It probably takes as much skill to drive a motor boat with safety as an automobile, yet a ten-year-old can get in a boat and drive without restriction.

Enthusiasm for water skiing has increased tremendously. Skiers sometimes see how close they can come to a dock or another boat, and endanger lives of other people constantly, as well as themselves. Drivers many times get a great kick out of seeing how close they can speed along the shoreline, creating waves that could swamp a little child.

Swimmers are constantly in danger from motor boats, with and without their skiers.

Just how safe are our crowded water lanes on Deep Creek Lake? Should there be more regulations? Would an educational program be sufficient? We don't presume to know the answers. So we'll just ask the questions this week. Perhaps other people may have a solution.

Frostburg Man Is Drowned In Lake

Eugene Jeffries Lost Life When Motorboat Sinks At Deep Creek

A motorboat ride on Deep Creek Lake ended in tragedy Sunday morning when a 21-year-old Frostburg man was drowned.

The body of Eugene Clement Jeffries was recovered from the water of the lake about 4:30 p. m. by Carlton Hinebaugh, member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire company. Dr. James Feaster, Jr., of Oakland, acting medical examiner, said death was due to drowning.

Authorities said the accident occurred about 10:30 a. m., as the victim was riding in a motor boat with Lewis Airhart, 22, and Paul McKenzie, 21, both of Frostburg.

Two Others Rescued

The metal boat developed a leak and filled with water and sank. The other two passengers in the boat were rescued by an unidentified man in another boat.

Jeffries, father of a six months old child, was pulled from a depth of 40 or more feet of water, approximately 60 yards from the shoreline. Mr. Hinebaugh pulled the victim's body to the surface with a grappling hook which caught on Jeffries' T-shirt.

Sheriff James E. Frantz, Deputy Sheriff Raymond Thomas, and Trooper first class Robert Henline, of the State Police were called to the scene as were the volunteer firemen from Oakland. About 30 to 40 boats took part in the search for the victim's body.

The drowning occurred along the lake front in the area of the Thousand Acres section, on the Green Glade inlet.

Jeffries was employed as a truck driver and worked with his father, who operates a coal mine in the Frostburg area. He was a son of Clement and Margaret McKenzie Jeffries, route 2, Frostburg.

Surviving besides his parents and daughter are his wife, Mrs. Irene Hileman Jeffries; seven sisters, Carolyn, Janice, Doris, Wanda, Judy, Linda and Susan Jeffries, and two brothers, Russell and Richard Jeffries, all at home.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the restilence of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Steele, Lonaconing, parents-in-law of the victim. Rev. Carl Price, pastor, of Lonaconing Methodist church, officiated. Interment was in Frostburg Memorial Park

Scouts To Launch Drive For Funds

The Deep Creek Boy Scout district is launching its annual drive for funds on September 1, it was announced by Maurice Brookhart, finance chairman. An attempt will be made to raise $900 for its share in the support of the Potomac Scout council.

Brookhart said he was asking some twenty interested adult scouters to make a personal solicitation throughout the area. The Deep Creek district includes Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, Deer Park, Crellin and McHenry. He said he hoped to complete the drive within two weeks.

There are approximately 250 Garrett county boys in scouting at present. There are 227 registered in the Deep Creek district plus troops at Grantsville and Swanton which are registered with other districts.

The Potomac council is an association of citizens, organized in 1937 to provide Cubbing, Scouting and Exploring for boys in Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland, and Grant, Hardy, Hampshire and Mineral counties in West Virginia.

Willis V. Smith, scout executive, said the council plan makes possible a year around scouting program which no town would undertake alone. The program and objectives of the council are supervised and directed by the elected officers and members of the executive board, representing all areas of the council territory. Over 700 adults are on the job in the Potomac Council in positions of Volunteer leadership. The 1957 budget was $21,088 for the entire council. Local members of the executive board are John Forman, Paul B. Naylor and Mr. Brookhart.

Farm Markets To Remain Open In September

Farm Markets are to remain open during September, it was decided by the managers.

Mrs. Lester Martin, manager for the market at Red House, plans to have it open on Saturdays, 11 a. m. to 8 p. m., through the entire month of September.

Mrs. Gerald Glotfelty, manager at McHenry, said the market there would be open on two Saturdays during the month.

Since the market is still on a trial basis, the managers said they would continue the project and evaluate the results.

WHICH END'S UP?—The driver of this car was probably all shook up but apparently otherwise uninjured when the vehicle did a flip early Sunday morning while approaching the bridge at Kitzmiller on Route 38. He was identified as W. E. Oppenheim, of Pennsylvania.

Rally Tomorrow To End Lutheran Mission Services

Some fifteen hundred persons from the Mountain Top area are expected to gather at Southern High school on Friday evening at 8 o'clock for the concluding service of the Lutheran Evangelism Mission which has been in progress in fourteen Lutheran churches since Sunday morning.

Speaker at the rally will be the Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's lutheran church in Cumberland.

A native of Bedford, Pa., Mr. Sammel was born in 1915, received his A. B. degree form Penn State in 1937, and his B. D. degree from Gettysburg Seminary in 1941. He was ordained in the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran church in 1942. He is married and has five children, a son and four daughters.

He has served parishes at McConnellsburg, Pa., and Shippensburg, Pa., and from 1941 to 1946 served in the U. S. Naval Chaplain's corps. His present pastorate began in February of this year.

His topic will be "God's Spiritual Dimensions."

A choir composed of members of most of the fourteen churches, some fifty or sixty strong, directed by Rev. Charles W. Carlson, will sing three special numbers, "Praise Ye, the Lord of Hosts," God So Loved the World," and the "Nunc Dimittis."

A report on the mission will be given by the Rev. George C. Weirick, area director and president of the West Virginia Synod; and the Rev. Francis B. Myers, Baltimore, director of region two.

A compilation of statistics shows that there is a confirmed membership in the fourteen participating churches of 1862 and attendance at the Sunday morning services was 1307, Sunday evening 1136, Monday evening, 1053, Tuesday evening 1340 with 352 at the leadership rally at Red House on Sunday afternoon.

Of this number many have indicated a desire to enroll in a pastor's class for church instruction. Each evening during the week prior to services, groups of members have gone out on evangelism calls, in an endeavor to interest people in Christ and the Church.

Pastors are stressing the fact that Friday will not conclude the evangelism program of the church but that it will be a continuing program for each congregation.

Ministers of the area have met each morning in St. Mark's church in Oakland, going over details of the mission, while they also meet with lay leaders after each service to discuss the problems of their groups and to offer solutions.

Similar programs are being carried on throughout the entire United States and Canada.

Lake Is "Angling Heaven"

Deep Creek Lake as an "angling heaven" was pictured in the Great Outdoors section of the Washington Post Sunday July 28.

Accompanying the story which was written by Will Allen, was a picture of Muddy Creek Falls which he declared was a misnomer "for the beauty of the clear, sparkling water which tumbles down this 51-foot ledge."

Allen told of finding fish in Deep Creek Lake, Herrington Manor lake, New Germany lake, Bear Creek, Muddy Creek and Savage river. His article also included a short item on how Deep Creek Lake originated and one on the new state park, now in the process of construction.

Catches Large Fish

Milton Edgar, of the Cherry Creek road along Deep Creek Lake, succeeded in hauling a 4½-pound big mouth bass, measuring 20 inches long one evening last week. He used a live water lizard for bait.

Will Compete In Tractor Contest

George Glotfelty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glotfelty, Star Route, Oakland, will represent Garrett County 4-H clubs in the State 4-H Tractor Drivers' contest at Timonium.

George won the honor of representing Garrett county at the Garrett County Fair by competing with eight other boys in the 4-H-F.F.A. tractor contest.

George is 15 years old and attends Southern High school. He will drive an Allis Chalmers D-14 in the State Contest on Saturday, August 31.

George will be accompanied to the State Fair on Friday, August 30, by James A. McHenry, associate county agent.

Major Remodeling Program Approved By Garrett Bank

A major remodeling program is being undertaken by the Garrett National Bank in Oakland, with the work getting under right away.

There is to be a modern front with an entrance in the center of the building which will eliminate the present stairway to the second floor, and a new stairway will be constructed on the north side of the building.

In the interior there will be new counters, new floor, new lighting, new equipment and new furniture. The space for the counters will extend over the entire front using the room now occupied by the Music Shop.

Contractors are the Modern Stationery company, Baltimore; the Display Center of Baltimore, and the Oakland Lumber company.

The remodeling program was authorized by the Board of Directors about a month ago. Members of the Board of Directors would make no comment on the cost of the project, but is was generally understood the cost would be considerable.

Music Shop Changes Hands

The Music Shop, now occupying a portion of the Bank building, will be moved to the Nally building on Second street, near the B. and O. railroad crossing.

The Music Shop will be under new management, having been purchased last week from Asa Nethken by E. Paul Stockman. Mr. Stockman, a previous owner, had sold to Earl Roth in January, 1955, which was later sold to Mr. Nethken. Mr. Stockman now resumes ownership of the business, effective immediately.

The store will move to its new location in the next few weeks.

Council Discusses Group Insurance

The possibility of procuring group insurance for employes of the city of Oakland was discussed at a meeting of the Mayor and Town Council Tuesday evening, but no official action was taken.

The employes, at the last regular meeting of council, had made a request for a raise in salary, vacation pay and group insurance.

A representative of the Maryland Municipal League outlined the group insurance benefits and its cost. The cost would be $3.30 per month per employe and would provide life insurance of $1,000; accidental death and dismemberment benefit of $1,000; daily hospital benefit of $7.50, surgical fee benefit of from $10 to $200; miscellaneous fee of $150; emergency first aid of $25 and polio benefit of $2,000.

At present there are ten salaried employes, eight hourly employes, the mayor and six councilmen, for a total of 25, and it was pointed out that if the group insurance plan was accepted it would cost the town $990 per year.

There was no discussion of the vacation pay or the salary raise.

The council also awarded the bid for rebuilding the spring house to Kitzmiller and Edgar for $2,253. The Beachy Lumber company had presented a bid of $2,450. Council also agreed to purchase 1,650 feet of 8 inch trausite pipe from the Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply for $2.23 per foot. This will be used for a water line from the pumphouse to the springhouse.

Reports On Mental Health

Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, campaign chairman in the drive for funds for the Mental Health program, announced this week that contributions to date had amounted to $758.89.

German Pastors Observing Evangelism Mission Here

Two German Pastors, presently travelling in the States, are observing the activities of the Lutheran Evangelism Mission in the Mountaintop Area this week. They are Rev. Walter Reuer, native of Stuttgart in Western Germany, and Rev. Helmut Fritz of Griefswald in East Germany.

Both pastors arrived in the country in early August to attend the sessions of the Lutheran World Federation in Minneapolis. The Federation meeting included delegates, observers and invited guests from Lutheran church bodies in 56 countries of the world. The assembly closed its meeting Aug. 25th with a rally of more than 100,000 Lutherans.

Pastor Reuer is the secretary for Church Educational activities including Evangelism and Stewardship for the district of Wurtemberg. His district includes over 1300 congregations with more than a million and a half members. Incidentally, he celebrates the 25th anniversary of his Ordination to the Christian ministry next Sunday. He will preach in the congregations of the Bittinger parish on that day.

Pastor Fritz is presently serving as Hospital Chaplain in the Griefswald Area and cares for the spiritual welfare of over 2000 patients in 10 hospitals. Also he is the Bishop's appointed representative to develop Stewardship among over 300 congregations of the district of Pomerania. Following his visit in the Mountain top Area he will visit congregations in Atlanta, Washington, and Philadelphia, before returning to Germany in mid-September. Pastor Reuer will go to Louisville following his stay here.

When asked for their impressions of the Mountaintop area both stated they were impressed by the great material prosperity of America, and expressed thanks for the huge shipments of relief, medicine and clothing sent to post war Germany and distributed by the churches there. Comment also was made on the strong nature of American church life, and especially the fact that congregations unite so readily and strongly in co-operative ventures.

American Legion Wins League Crown

The American Legion Little League team won the championship for the first time in the four years of competition. It defeated the Lions club team 5 to 1 last Friday evening.

Bobby Lohr was the winning pitcher and gave up five hits and six walks, but was effective in the pinches. Cerne, losing pitcher, gave up five hits. Thayer of the Legion led the batting with a triple and double. Frank Finch also got a double and single in three times at bat. Both teams played errorless ball.

It is planned by the league officers to present the trophy to the winners on Wednesday, September 4. Also at that time there will be a graduation of all twelve-year-olds. A softball game has been arranged between the mothers of the auxiliary and managers and officers of the league, after which a wiener roast will be held for all Little Leaguers.

Members of the winning team were Frank Finch, William Finch, Bobby Finch, Bill Mattingly, Richard Mattingly, Jack Alverez, Joe Alverez, Bobby Lohr, Jimmy Thayer, Neil Henline, Bobby Sweitzer, Clifton Biser, William Roy, C. Ray Dintaman and Eddie Rathbun. Managers were Bill Finch and Robert W. Lohr.

All boys scheduled to graduate are requested to wear their uniforms. Other Little Leaguers attending the wiener roast will bring their uniforms with them to be turned in to their managers.

Gets Larger Melon

H. B. Buckley, Kitzmiller, has produced a record cantaloupe for this part of the county, it is believed.

Last week he had one weighing six pounds and three ounces. This week he exhibited one weighing seven and one-fourth pounds.

To Address Rotary

Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the Maryland Department of Information, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Oakland Rotary club on Friday evening, at the William-James hotel.

Deer Park Fireman Injured Enroute to Fire Last Week

Paxton G. Arnold, veteran member and organizer of the Deer Park fire department was injured last Thursday afternoon while enroute to a brush fire that threatened the barn of Elwood George in the North Glade section.

According to Capt. Dale L. Simpson, Arnold suffered a broken ankle when he lost his footing after the truck struck a hole in the road. Arnold was taken to Garrett County Memorial hospital and released later that evening. He will probably remain on crutches for about six weeks.

Arnold has been credited with organizing the Deer Park fire department after two fires, one of which wiped out two store buildings, two homes and a barn in the town in 1949, and another in which Edward Thrasher burned to death.

The Deer Park firemen also were called later that evening and on Sunday, August 18 to extinguish brush fires along state route 135 where the Hazelwood Construction company is relocating the road. Last Sunday they were called to aid the Oakland department and other volunteers in search for the body of Eugene Jeffries who was drowned while boating on Deep Creek Lake.

William Clatterbuck, in charge of the drive for funds by the department, said progress was being made and that persons who had not already donated were urged to send contributions at once in order that some much needed equipment might be purchased.

Grantsville to Get Better Gas Service

A new 16 mile natural gas pipeline will assure better service to customers in Grantsville and will extend service to the refractory plant at Jennings, it was reported this week.

Construction and Allegheny Gas Company officials contracted a six-inch line from a long distance gas supply connection of the Maryland-Pennsylvania Power to Jennings.

Construction was undertaken to improve domestic service for Grantsville customers and to furnish the Harbison-Walker Refractories company plant at Jennings. C. C. Robins, manager for the C. and A. at Cumberland, said the improvements cost approximately $194,000. About 130 consumers in the Grantsville area will benefit. The refractory plant employs about 110 at its Jennings plant, and burns coal, super and high-duty firebrick and principally in blast furnaces, open hearths and large furnaces.

The new line also will better supply the Yoder Locker company and about 600 feet of two inch line was laid to the plant. Another 900 feet of three inch line was installed from the new six inch line into Grantsville directly.

The new line replaces about 5,000 feet of two and three inch pipeline previously used to service Grantsville from the gate line supply connection. About 6,400 feet of line under it will be converted as part of Grantsville's distribution system.

The refractories plant will be supplied with 250,000,000 cubic feet of gas yearly by 1960.

State Coal Output Is Best Since 1949

Garrett county's coal production showed a marked increase during 1956 and helped to make the production of coal in Maryland during that year the highest since 1949.

The state's tonnage of 647,409 was aided by that of Garrett county which had 475,846 tons from both deep and strip mines. Allegany had 171,563 tons.

Last year tonnage in the two counties hit 623,905, of which 324,804 was from Garrett county and 199,102 from Allegany county.

The report shows that the mining of fire clay in the two counties was up, 62,389 for 1956, and 57,434 in 1955.

However, employment in the two counties showed slight decreases in the mining industry. Garrett county's total dropped from 452 in 1955 to 441 in 1956. Allegany's went from 297 to 293. Nearly half of Garrett county's production of 224,771 tons was from strip mines.

Machine mined coal totaled 168,429 tons in this county. Pick-mined coal amounted to 78,646.

There were no fatal accidents in Maryland coal mines in 1956, for the third year in a row.

Lantz Ridge Has Unique Experiences For Mission Week

Despite the breakdown of the organ and the intrusion of a dog at one service, the Lutheran Evangelism Mission at Mount Olivet Church on Lantz Ridge, Preston county, proceeded effectively this week. The work of personal visitation was done almost exclusively by teen-agers of the congregation who dropped off visitation teams in a make-shift shuttle using whatever vehicular conveyance possible. Arrangements were made to bring non-members to the services through a pooling of several automobiles coming along the single-lane dirt road which runs along the mountain ridge.

The usual telephone committee which functions in each congregation during a Lutheran Evangelism Mission was not organized at Mount Olivet church. There are no telephones in the homes of the members.

It is significant to note that the roadway leading beyond the church is so precipitous that the school bus does not go beyond that point. In preparation for the mission, callers from the church visited in all homes and during the week of services a family of four walked some four miles to the services. They were returned to their home by members of the congregation.

The dog in question came to the Sunday service without invitation and was followed on Monday night by his owners. The old reed organ, powered by a vacuum cleaner, failed to respond on Tuesday and the congregation did its hymn-singing a capella.

These numerous physical handicaps did not deter the spirit of the people. At one point in the week the attendance was twice the baptized membership of the congregation and quadrupled the communing, or active membership. The missioner for the week of services was the Rev. Donald R. Gallion, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Lancaster, Pa., and the host pastor is the Rev. George C. Weirick of the four-church Aurora-Davis parish.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Hundreds of letters are streaming into our office concerning several matters of great importance to our Free State, and therefore I would like to take this opportunity to report on the status of each case at the time of this writing.

BAINBRIDGE NAVAL TRAINING CENTER—After learning that the Navy was planning to end the male recruit training program at Bainbridge, I wrote to Secretary of the Navy Gates pointing out that it was less than three months ago that I was assured by his Department that operations at the training center would be continued.

Furthermore, the Navy had given me various reasons why the program at Bainbridge is important.

I reminded Secretary Gates of those reasons and expressed strong doubt that they could have changed so drastically since May that they now be ignored.

A meeting at which I shall discuss the situation with him in person has been arranged.

Assistance for Farmers

DROUGHT SITUATION Secretary of Agriculture Benson has received a telegram from me urging him to make available all aid possible through his office to Maryland's drought-stricken farmers.

Such assistance, which would include the extending of emergency credit loans in areas where credit is not obtainable through established sources, can be granted by the Department of Agriculture itself without reference to the recent unsuccessful requests we made to the White House to have sections of our State designated as major disaster areas.

BALTIMORE OFFICE OF SUPERVISOR OF SHIPBUILDING AND ASSISTANT INDUSTRIAL MANAGER—As the Department of the Navy went ahead with plans to close this office, it was brought to my attention that various employees with long records of faithful service were to be discharged from their jobs without much hope of obtaining similar Government work.

The situation arose because of the Defense Department's policy against filling vacant jobs with replacements, so I wrote to the proper authorities asking them to study the situation and take appropriate action.

As I stated, the Government has a strong moral obligation to the many employees who have served loyally for several decades and who will lose their seniority and retirement benefits if they are forced to turn to private industry for employment.

Indian Head

NAVAL POWDER FACTORY, INDIAN HEAD—At my invitation an officer from the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance came to my office to discuss proposed personnel layoffs at Indian Head with a group of Charles Countians, Congressman Lankford, a representative from Senator Butler's staff, and myself.

The meeting brought forth a promise from the Navy that a full-scale study will be made to see whether the section of the Indian Head plant which is to be affected can be used efficiently and economically for some other program of the Defense Department.

I shall discuss the Indian Head matter, as well as similar situations at the Naval Ordnance Laboratory at White Oak, the Patuxent River Naval Air Training Center, and the Washington Naval Gun Factory, when I meet with Secretary Gates.

PLANS FOR "MOTHBALLING" AT SOLOMONS—For reason of economy the Navy has decided that it must use present "reserve fleet areas" to berth the 60 ships it intends to inactivate instead of anchoring them at Solomons, as we proposed.

However, I have been informed by the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations that our suggestion "has merit and will bear further investigation for possible future requirements."

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have talked of arranging a disarmament agreement with Soviet Russia. Here are a few statements from the basic textbooks of Communism, supplied by the Division of Research for USSR and Eastern Europe, Office of Intelligence Research, Department of State:

From THESES AND RESOLUTIONS, 6th World Congress of the Communist International—Vol. VIII, No. 84, pp. 1596-7: "The disarmament policy of the Soviet government must be utilized for purposes of agitation...(1) for recruiting sympathizers for the Soviet Union—the champion of peace and Socialism; (2) for utilizing the results of the Soviet disarmament policy...to eradicate all pacifists illusions and to carry on propaganda among the masses in support of the only way toward disarmament and abolition of war, viz., arming of the proletariat, overthrowing the bourgeoisie and establishing the proletarian dictatorship."

This clearly says that Soviet "disarmament" talks and agreements must be used merely as maneuvers to help reach the main objective—overthrow of the capitalist nations and establishment of Communist world dictatorship.

STALIN: "We cannot forget the saying of Lenin to the effect that a great deal in the matter of our construction depends on whether we succeed in delaying war with the capitalist countries, which is inevitable but which may be delayed either until proletarian revolution ripens in Europe or until colonial revolutions come fully to a head, or finally, until the capitalists fight among themselves. Therefore, the maintenance of peaceful relations with capitalist countries (Ed.: until the time is ripe) is an obligatory task for us. The basis of our relations with the capitalist countries consists in admitting the co-existence of two opposed systems."

(This says clearly that the strategy is to delay the inevitable war until all the advantages are on the side of the Communists.)

LENIN: "Every 'peace program' is a deception of the people and a piece of hypocrisy unless its principal object is to explain to the masses the need for a revolution, and to support, aid and develop the revolutionary struggle of the masses."

Our government should enter into no agreements on disarmament with the Soviet Communist government until its leaders one by one have announced to the world a renunciation of Leninism and have shown concrete evidence of their truthfulness.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Greatest Blessing
By GEORGE PECK

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is President of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

A reader has written me inquiring as to just what do we mean by "The American Way," which banner is carried at the top of my weekly column and the columns of my associates, Willis E. Stone, John T. Flynn, Maurice R. Franks, Dr. Alfred P. Haake and M. V. Eggleston, and at the top of the cartoons drawn by Tom Kay.

It's a good question—one that each of us has attempted to answer from time to time over the years that our columns have been released to newspapers throughout the United States. But, perhaps the best answer was given by the late DeWitt Emery (deceased 1955), who for many years before his death, wrote a column under the heading "The American Way."

DeWitt Emery was president of the National Small Business Men's Association, which organization he founded, until his untimely passing in August of 1955. He was nationally recognized as the voice of small business in its struggle for existence during the depression years of the 1930's and during World War II. For the benefit of Canadians who may read this column, the word "Canadian" can well be substituted for the word "American," in Emery's short, simple but lucid essay on the American Way of Life, which was carried in his column release of September 19, 1945, and which read as follows:

"Our American Way of Life is made up of many things—bath tubs and automobiles; big cities and small towns; farms and victory gardens; mammoth steel mills and village machine shops; colossal educational institutions and the little red school house beside the road; churches and hospitals; railroads and air lines; chewing gum and ice cream; department stores and crossroad general stores; specialty shops and beauty parlors; pool rooms and race tracks; Hollywood, Broadway and the high school play; laughter and sorrow; eagerness and despair; and people—millions of all kinds of people—gathered together from all four corners of the earth, drawn by the magnet of Freedom, Opportunity and Justice.

"Our American Way of Life provides each individual an opportunity to go as far and climb as high as his willingness to work, his skill, ingenuity and integrity will carry him.

"Our American Way of Life recognizes that the individual has the right to work when and where he wishes, the right to worship as he pleases, to speak his mind on any subject, to meet with his fellow men for any peaceful purpose, to be secure in his possessions and to have his day in a free court. It recognizes that the individual is superior to the State, that our public officials are servants of the people and that they derive their just powers from the consent of the people.

"These things taken together created the atmosphere of freedom and an economic climate which made possible in the United States the greatest production of wealth in the history of the world and the establishment of a standard of living which is the envy of all other nations in the world.

"In short, the American Way of Life is the greatest blessing ever bestowed on mankind any place on the face of the earth."

At the time DeWitt Emery gave this description of "The American Way," as he viewed it, he was greatly disturbed at the trend in the U.S.A. away from the basic principles that had made this country a standout among the world's family of nations. He was concerned about the ever-increasing discouragement to individual thrift, initiative and enterprise and the ever-growing doctrine emanating from Washington that Americans no longer are capable of doing things for themselves and that paternalistic government must, therefore do those things for them.

With all the vigor he could command, and he was endowed with plenty of it, on the public platform, over the radio and in his writings, he warned his fellow Americans that unless the tide to Socialism was stemmed, the time was not far hence, when they could no longer point with pride to the American Way of Life and "the greatest blessing ever bestowed on mankind any place on the face of the earth."

When death stilled his voice, "The American Way" lost one of its greatest champions. We, his former associates, determined to increase our efforts toward salvaging what remains of "The American Way," and toward recapturing what already had been lost; to the end that "The Greatest Blessing" shall once again be the comfort and joy of every one of our American people.

"Want to try again—or shall I have the repairman in the Want Ads put up our antenna?"

Wrestling Show Is Next Lions Club Benefit Performance

Ricki Starr the ballet dancer-wrestler from St. Louis, will feature a wrestling show for the benefit of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club at Southern High school gymnasium, Oakland, on Wednesday evening, September 11.

Starr, who was voted the No. 1 wrestler of 1957, has been matched with Oyama Kato, national champion of Japan, in a two out of three falls, 60-minute time limit battle.

Four matches are scheduled. Dr. Jerry Graham, known as the "honey-haired ruffian" from Atlanta, Ga., will meet the Indian Chief Big Heart in the semi-finals, while the rest of the program lists Prof. Roy Shire vs. Arnold Skoland, and Bobby Wallace vs. Angelo Savoldi.

The first bout is set for 8:30 p. m.

Press releases indicate that Starr has become a great attraction in wrestling as a result of his unusual style which combines ballet and wrestling. Ricki will be accompanied to Oakland by his personal manager, Bobby Davis, known as "The Elvis Presley of Wrestling," who now has his hair tinted to what he calls "passionate purple."

Kato, the Japanese wrestler, wears the "black belt," the highest wrestling honor awarded by his country. His favorite hold is the "sleeper." He also is an expert on Judo.

The Lions club will use the net proceeds of the event to help defray the expenses of the improvements at the Oakland Boy Scout camp. Reserved seats are $2.50 with general admission being $1.50. Tickets will be available at Glotfelty's Restaurant, Oakland Pharmacy and Hinebaugh's Restaurant. Lions club members also will have on Saturdays, it was announced, a booth in front of the West Maryland Power company office.

History of Football

By DICK TRAVIS

Editor's Note: Dick Travis, football coach at Southern, has agreed to write a series of articles explaining the game of football to the public and fans, in an effort to acquaint them with some of the details, some of the thrills and some of the benefits of the sport.

His first article will concern a brief history of the game.

In Autumn when the days become crisp and the leaves start turning to gold, football reigns supreme. It holds sway from the close of the baseball season until basketball begins thrilling millions of Americans every week-end.

No game demands more skills, strengh, courage, alertness and teamwork, and few have a more interesting history.

Football is an ancient sport, having been played long before the birth of Christ. The Spartans as early as 500 B. C. played a game in which a mass of players passed, kicked, or carried a ball across an opponent's goal line.

The Romans had a game like ours, but their rules permitted the ball to be propelled by the hand or arm but did not permit kicking the ball.

The Italians, in medieval days had a game in which they used 27 players on a team lined up in line and backfield formations similar to the modern team.

Football in England became so popular between the tenth and twelfth centuries that it was banned by royal edicts because it was keeping the people from the practice of archery.

The ball was kicked, but not carried in England until 1823. In a game between two class teams at Rugby the score was tied and it was growing dark. Suddenly a player without regard for rules, took the ball in his hands and ran across the goal line. The score was not allowed, but a new game, Rugby had been invented.

Football was probably brought to America by the settlers at Jamestown. An inflated pig's bladder served as a ball in early colonial games.

The first college game was played between Princeton and Rutgers in 1869. This game was played according to English rules which did not permit carrying the ball.

In 1875 McGill University played Harvard in a game in which the first half was played under soccer rules but the last half was played under Rugby rules which permitted carrying the ball . . . mass plays and wedge formations made the game so rough that President Teddy Roosevelt called football experts to a White House conference in 1905 to see what could be done to reduce injuries. At that conference mass plays were banned, the forward pass legalized, and football as we enjoy it today was born.

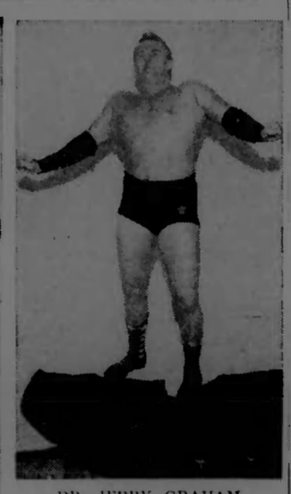
Next week's article, "From Kick-off to Touchdown."

Senate passed the Hells canyon bill giving Democratic public power advocates a victory over Eisenhower administration. It now goes to House.

Wrestling Show Is Next Lions Club Event

CHIEF BIG HEART

ARNOLD SKOLAND



DR. JERRY GRAHAM

Chief Big Heart, left, Arnold "Golden Boy" Skoland, center, and Dr. Jerry Graham, right, are three of eight persons who will wrestle for the benefit of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club on Wednesday night, September 11, in the Southern High school gymnasium.

The star attraction, Ricki Starr, will be pictured next week. Four bouts are scheduled with the first bout beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Starr has been matched with Oyama Kato, national champion of Japan. Dr. Graham will meet Chief Big Heart, while Skoland will meet Prof. Roy Shire.

Proceeds will be used to pay for Youngstown college, Youngstown, Oakland Boy Scout camp.

Southern Gridders Practicing Daily

Southern High gridders are engaged in daily practices in an attempt to reach the peak of condition before the opening of the football season with Petersburg on Friday, September 6, on the local gridiron.

Southern hopes to reverse a 34-0 defeat administered by the Petersburg Vikings last year.

Southern will present a "pony" backfield this year, according to Coach Dick Travis. Average weight of the players is less than 140 but he hopes that hustle and condition will make up for the lack of size.

He has been without the services of backs Lester Bittinger who has been in camp with the National Guard, and Wayne Callis, who is attending a student council workshop this week.

Both coaches, Travis and Carl Schoonover expressed concern over boys who are working and unable to attend practice sessions regularly. Two new players joined the squad this week, Marland Coker, who has had backfield experience at Follansbee, W. Va., and Douglas Bittinger who played in the line last year for Southern Junior High. Ken Pangh has joined the team as a manager.

Last Friday the squad went to Camp Paradise to observe practice drills of Meyersdale High school and yesterday held a practice scrimmage session with the Pennsylvania team. Travis said afterward that he was fairly well satisfied with the development of his players but that they still had a lot of work to do before meeting Petersburg.

$3,500 Damage Suit Removed to Allegany

A $3,500 property damage suit originally filed in this county in the Circuit court, has been removed to Allegany county as the defendants feel they will not have a fair and impartial trial here.

Ralph Pritts, trading as Ralph Pritts garage, Oakland, is suing Orville Eberly, Mt. Lake Park, and Aubra O. Goehringer, of Accident. The suit was filed September 3, 1955, when the Garrett County Circuit court was in recess.

On April 30, 1955, according to the declaration, the plaintiff was the owner of three cars parked on private property lying adjacent to U. S. route 219 about a mile north of Oakland.

The defendant, Aubra Gochringer, agent of Eberly, was operating a pick-up truck south of route 219 when it went out of control, swerved onto the property causing a collision involving the three cars and truck.

One car was a total loss.

China Reds welcomed 41 U. S. young Americans who were visiting there.

Letter On Accident Is Read Over Radio

To The Editor,
The Republican
Gentlemen:

As subscribers to The Republican since 1901, we wish to send you this letter written to Ben Hunter which was read over KFI broadcasting station on their Night Owl program which includes a portion called "My Home Town."

Portions of the letter follow:

Dear Ben,

Enclosed please find "My Home Town" which I send in appreciation for the many enjoyable hours listening to the Owl program.

We, (Bertha Kight and daughter, Helen Drake Hartgraves) migrated from the westernmost part of the beautiful pan-handle love nest of Accident in 1908, going to Decatur, Georgia, and then flying to California in 1929.

People always look up when we tell them where we are from, as if to say, "You aren't kidding, are you?" So when we went back on a visit during July, 1946, we wrote several letters in order to get an authentic canceled postoffice stamp, to assure those who might be in doubt that such a place exists.

Accident was given the name when a parcel of land was omitted by a surveyor by accident.

The people have natural resources to supply their needs abundantly from the spacious rolling fields of wheat, buckwheat, corn; orchards of pears, plums, apples, cherries and maple sugar trees, which also provide neighborhood syrup making camps. And with the Mason-Dixon line so near; only nine miles away, even in the worst weather, they have no trouble hanging their clothes out to dry.

Accident is located only a few miles south of the National Pike which goes from Baltimore to Wheeling, West Virginia, and in order to get reader's contact I should mention and I quote from the January, 1932, issue of the Geographical magazine, page 23.

"It was in this region that George Washington was so desperately ill during his march with Braddock. And early in the morning the whole group made the first crossing a little below the mouth of the Youghiogheny and then proceeded in perfect order to the second crossing of what is now known as Little Crossing."

Washington was 33 when my grandfather came from Germany and settled in Hagerstown and soon moved to Accident.

It was only four years after Stephen Foster died at the Bellvue hospital that Dr. Edwin H. Glotfelty left there as an interne to become one of the first doctors who lived and practiced medicine in Accident (1870) and I (Bertha) was the oldest of his four children. Often in the winter, he would fill the satchel with medicine from his supply, as there were no drug stores, hitch up the Irongrey horse to the sleigh or go on horse back through blizzards, rain and slush to attend the sick.

He later went to the House of Representatives to Annapolis.

In all histories of early Western Maryland, Emma McMillan Speicher, is mentioned as a teacher of schools. She was my mother's sister and her brother, Edwin E. McMillan, a retired physician of Pasadena, California, father of Edwin M. McMillan, co-discoverer of plutonium, who won the Nobel prize in 1955.

Edwin M. McMillan also taught school at Berkeley, California, as a physicist, now of Washington, D. C.

(This is Helen writing now). Bertha Kight was so happy that her eyes seemed to glisten, even under the thick bone-rimmed glasses which a silver haired woman of 82 would wear. Her face became alive as she handed the check for the groceries to the checker. "I won this as the first prize on my oil painting "The Covered Bridge" at Olivewood Woman's Club today."

Bertha has not only been an artist with brush and paint, she is also an artist in the art of living. Everyone loves her and tells her. She adds a stroke of color, and a touch of variety to all with whom she brushes elbows. And the Covered Bridge, which she painted crosses the Casselman at Listonburg, Pa., only 14 miles from Accident.

Since having the above letter read on KFI broadcasting station in Los Angeles and or Hollywood, California, we have received a letter from Dr. Webster Glotfelty, who has been a dentist for 50 years in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He is the oldest son of the mentioned Dr. Edwin H. Glotfelty who was a doctor in Accident around 1875.

Dr. Webster Glotfelty plans to make a tour, leaving Pittsburgh, Pa., the last week of December, taking in the Rose Tournament Parade in Pasadena, California, and then plans to stay with us several months in Paradise Hills (National City) California.

Dr. Glotfelty's brother Lloyd and Rae Glotfelty will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on this September 8th, at the home of their daughter, Janice, in Monrovia, California.

Thank you for our home town news in The Republican during these past 50 years. You sent it for many years to Decatur, Georgia, and since 1929 to us in California at various addresses.

Bertha Glotfelty Kight
and daughter,
Helen Hartgraves

Dulles sent Loy Henderson to Turkey to consult with friendly Middle East leaders on Syrian crisis.

Little girls seem to be "natural-born" little women, right from the start.

Laura washes for her dollies just as seriously as if she were tending a "real-life" family. She likes to bake tiny cakes and cookies too, and she has her own way of enforcing discipline when her dollies are "naughty."

Sometimes I'm amazed by her, even if I am her mother. And I am awed at the way God fashioned little girls, so that from the beginning they seem to sense that one day they will be mothers themselves.

When I take Laura to Church with me, she's such a little lady, demure and yet amazingly intent for one her age. I look at her. I see one of God's miracles, and I marvel anew. Watching a child grow is a perpetual lesson in Faith.

Sometimes after Church Laura lines her dolls up on a bench. She tells me that "the dollies are in church,"—and I don't feel in the least like chuckling at her childish antics. Rather, I am grateful.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: II Kings 22:1—23:30; II Chronicles 34—35.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 119:57-64.

In Capitols

Lesson for September 1, 1957

PEOPLE in capitols have tremendous power. A President, a senator, a parliament, a cabinet member . . . whether it is the county court house or the world-renowned capitol building of a mighty nation, the people who work under the dome, just because they work there, have a leverage for moving public opinion, for getting things done on an immense scale, a power far greater than any one of them has by himself. The man there in his office, or in his seat in the legislative chamber, may be, and usually is, a man of parts, a man above the average in personality and ability. But however able the man under the dome may be personally, his office gives him even greater power. The voice of the man who was elected carries more weight than the voice of the man he defeated.

Dr. Foreman

November Is Coming

The ancient Hebrews were a democratic people in some ways, but in others they were most unlike us. At the time of King Josiah the kingship was by no means an elective office. "And his son reigned in his stead" is the regular formula. So the Hebrews had at that time nothing to say about who should be their kings. They took whatever son the royal harem produced first. For good ones (there were some) they thanked God, and for the bad ones they were thankful they were no worse. King Josiah, whose story may be read in the Background Scripture, was one of the outstanding good kings. But it was custom and tradition that made him king, not the people. With us it is different. The people have to decide who shall occupy our places of great power. November is coming; many will be elected, many more defeated, in our American elections. It is not too soon to ask ourselves seriously, what kind of men do we want under our capitol dome? Sometimes the choice offered us makes us discouraged so that we stay at home and don't vote. But even if all we have is a choice between two third-raters, a good third-rater is better than a poor one. If we have good men in our capitols, it is our responsibility to see that they get there.

Little Capitols

It's a peculiar thing, but often true, that although candidates for local offices can be better known than those for state or national office, rascals and ne'er-do-wells are more often elected to the small offices than to the large ones. For some reasons, local government gets less attention from the voters than it should. The mayor of a single large city, today controls more power over more people than King Josiah ever did. It is in the "little capitol" if you like, the county court houses for example, that public affairs sometimes take the wrong turn. Where there is a public program well conceived and organized, it can look good as a public law, it can look good as it comes to the states . . . but when it goes through the local courthouses it can turn into some pretty rotten trickery. In a certain state not long ago federal funds for a very good purpose had to be cut off from a dozen or more countries because the officials there had been lining their pockets with easy money. It's a poor voter, one with a small sense of responsibility, who takes pains to elect good senators and presidents, but who when it comes to voting the local ticket, just says, Oh well . . . and votes straight because it's easiest.

Capitols Can't Do It All

The sad truth is, King Josiah's reforms didn't stick. They didn't, because they were reforms from the top. Even an absolute monarch can make his country no better than his people want it to be. It is true, we ought to have the best officials, from town to county to state to nation, that we can elect; but even if they were all praying, intelligent, devoted Christians, they cannot make this a better country merely by passing laws. Like Josiah, our men in government can make this a better country. Only if we the people want to have it so.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

An Extra Session?

By the time this newsletter—my last until January—is published, the gavels may have fallen ending the first session of the 85th Congress. But those same gavels may not long be silent. President Eisenhower and many legislators saw the threat of an extra session inherent in the Civil Rights controversy or the foreign aid proposal.

Actually, a more ominous possibility of resuming the Congress in the fall stems from the state of the national debt. A statutory debt ceiling of $275 billion exists. This ceiling cannot be exceeded without specific Congressional authority. As of today, the debt approaches $272 billion. Current Treasury borrowing, of $1.7 billion will bring it above the $273 billion mark. Spending by the Defense Department in the next two months is estimated at $2 billion. Thus, it would appear an extra session of the Congress is highly probable.

Budget Director Brundage has already expressed concern about the national debt. Obviously he sees the need for an increase beyond the $275 billion limit. Secretary of the Treasury Rohert Anderson seems more hopeful. He foresees the chance of ending the year with abont $200 million shy of the debt ceiling. Even if this goal is achieved the normal cash balance of from $5 to $6 billion will be reduced dangerously — to approximately $2 billion.

The present fiscal weather is indicative of high spending and a period of increasing inflation. If we are to preserve our economic health it is of vital importance that spending be drastically reduced in non-defense Federal agencies. To deal with creeping inflation it is mandatory that we re-evalnate our fiscal policies to determine their adequacy to meet the situation.

President Eisenhower has directed officers of the Federal establishment to cut spending below appropriations in every instance where it is possible to do so without impairing essential government services. Regrettably his appeal to labor and business leaders to assume joint responsibility in holding the price line fell on deaf ears. Indeed, in the national interest, another appeal couched in stronger language would seem to be appropriate.

The time has come for America to tighten its economic belt. In recent weeks, appropriations were reduced by approximately $5 billion. But many of these savings are counterfeit and misleading. They are merely paper savings that might be obliterated in future supplemental appropriation measures, unless short-range and long-range economies are instituted immediately at the administrative level.

Army announced reduction in size of its armed forces.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and helpfulness during the Illness and following the death of our husband and father, the late Joseph S. Teets.

We also want to thank all who gave flowers and contributed the use of their automohiles for the funeral service.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

It seems to me that if there has been a major failure in our Mutual Security program it has been in the area of public understanding of the purposes behind foreign Military and economic aid. Mditary secrecy has frequently made it impossible to divulge details, but there need be no secrecy about the purpose of these programs.

The Mutual Security program is part and parcel of the overall national defense structure—it is designed to protect the interests of the United States. To put it bluntly, I think we make a mistake in proclaiming foreign aid as a device to "win friends and influence people." Its ultimate success, I think, depends on our recognizing and supporting it for what it is—an instrument in the continuing war against the spread of communism.

Its effectiveness in winning friends and in combatting the evils of communist ideology is really a by-product and comes as a reflection of American ideals and sincerity of purpose. Helping others is a basic American trait but, in our zeal to help other nations with material things, we have neglected to tell the story of the principles that have made America great. In stressing the economic and material aspects of our growth we may have unwittingly played into the hands of the communists. They have always accused us of being materialists, and they make their approach through the ideology of a "better world."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

The Available Johnson

It is necessary, of course, to allow for a good many things that may happen in the next three years. But if one had to bet now most close observers of the national political scene would pick Senator Lyndon Johnson, of Texas, as the Democratic nominee for President in 1960. Easily this notion may turn out to be baseless. However, that is the way it looks at present—and few will dispute it.

This is not because he is the best qualified man in his party—for he is not. Of course, he is better than his colleagues, Senator Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota; Senator Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, and one or two others who have been mentioned from time to time. But he is by no means as able a man as Senator Byrd, of Virginia, or Senator Kennedy, of Massachusetts. The first, to be sure, is eliminated by his age—now 70—and the latter is politically handicapped (though he should not be) by being a Catholic. They are both men of character and courage. The long career of Senator Byrd is filled with striking and inspiring proof of his possession of these qualites. Senator Kennedy, though many years younger, gives promise of being the same consistent type.

Though in some ways both of these men are better qualified for the presidency than Senator Johnson, neither is a match for him in availability. And that is what counts. The reasons for Mr. Johnson's superior availability are clear and convincing. For example: (1) He is from Texas, which not only had 56 votes in the last Democratic National Convention but has 24 votes in the Electoral College. (2) In the last two presidential elections Texas went for Eisenhower, the Republican candidate. So did three other Southern states in 1952 and four in 1956. There will be no Eisenhower on the Republican ticket next time and no one doubts that Mr. Johnson could carry his own State and resolidify the "Solid South" for the Democrats. (3) Senator Johnson is his party's leader in the Senate and as such will be (with Mr. Stevenson, a twice badly defeated candidate, out of the running) the outstanding party figure in the country.

4. Senator Johnson has the best press of any "available" in either party. The fact that he has no known convictions and that no one seems to know exactly for what he stands in either domestic or foreign affairs is more or less admitted. Politically, of course, that is an advantage. Certainly it enables him to avoid making enemies and helps him to hold his friends. He does not have the passionate friends of Harry Byrd, but neither does he have the vindictive opponents—such as certain widely advertised labor bosses. In brief, for many reasons he is "available" and gives every reason for remaining so.

5. When it is said that Senator Johnson has a "good press" that is by no means telling the full story. Practically every columnist in Washington (and there are scores of them) is his friend. As has been previously pointed out in this place they have formed a habit of referring to him as a "brilliant" strategist and a "masterly leader." And perhaps this is fully justified. Certainly he is a first-class politician and knows how to "handle" newspaper men. Anyone who does not think that is a tremendous asset for a presidential aspirant—and a President—knows little of politics. That it was the basic asset of the late President Roosevelt is so obvious that no student of his period can avoid agreeing.

At any rate, that is the sort of press Senator Johnson now has—and there is reason to think that that is the sort of press he will continue to have for the next three years. A master politician, he isn't a man of strong convictions, high character or great mentality. But neither was the late Mr Roosevelt. That statement naturally will irritate the Roosevelt worshipers, of whom there are still many, but is is none the less true. The sort of press a presidential candidate has is much more important than most people think in state and national politics. Often it has been the instrument that elected the less qualified man over the candidate who was better qualified.

Think, for example, of the late Calvin Coolidge, following the late Warren G. Harding, beating the late John W. Davis in 1924. It is true, instances can be cited when even solid press support has been unavailing but the bulk of the evidence is the other way—particularly when there has been given a chance for a long "buildup." Unfortunately, in politics it is not always character that counts.

Clarence Earle Schroyer
Plaintiff
Friendsville, Maryland
vs.
6909 Lexington Avenue
c/o Mrs. Sherman Kidd
Cleveland, Ohio
No. 4770 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo marrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states:

That on the 5th day of November, 1921, he was married to the defendant, Iva Lena Schroyer, near Selbysport, Garrett County, Maryland, by Rev. Calvin R. Wolfe, a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 1st day of September, 1941, at which time the said Iva Lena Schroyer deserted the said plaintiff, while they were residing in Garrett County, Maryland; that although the conduct of the plaintiff towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Iva Lena Schroyer, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that twelve children were born of said marriage, nine of whom are now living, and one of whom is not married and under the age of twenty-one years, namely: Lavanne Schroyer, age seventeen years; that the plaintiff is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in this County and State for more than two years prior to filing of this bill of complaint, while the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her address is: 6909 Lexington Avenue, c/o Mrs. Sherman Kidd, Cleveland, Ohio.

It is thereupon this 21st day of August, 1957, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 13th day of September, 1957, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 28th day of September, 1957, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

With Laying Flocks An Old Practice Is Still Good

Skillful use of antibiotics, strict sanitation, ventilated houses and automatic lighting systems—these are the type of thing often stressed in efficient poultry flock management. Without minimizing these practices, Professor George Quigley of the University of Maryland poultry department says there is an old management trick that may be the most profitable of all.

"Give those layers plenty of feeder and waterer space," he says. "This is especially important for pullets going into the laying house. Remember that when pullets are transferred from range to house, they must go through a whole series of social adjustment. The fighting which often breaks out is a symptom of this adjustment. The more aggressive ones do all right, but the birds which are low in peck order find it necessary to turn away from the feed or water, and simply fail to lay as well or as long as they should."

Things are tough enough for pullets going into strange surroundings without the additional stress of having to fight for something to eat or drink. So Professor Quigley suggests that poultry producers provide at least 40 linear feet of feeding space per 100 layers, and a waterer for each 100 birds.

In addition, some poultrymen have found that it pays to slip a small feed hopper on the roost for the convenience of the more backward sisters.

Amid all the complicated techniques of laying flock management, here is a simple precaution that pays off in a higher beginning rate of lay, and better sustained production.

Freedom Not Free . . .

We have heard much comment this week on the short article which appeared Sunday in This Week magazine under the title, "Freedom Is Not Free."

Written by Wellington J. Griffith, Jr., he told of picking up a newspaper recently and reading a survey of the political and social opinions of American teen-agers which gave him a shock.

The study showed that half of the high school students polled in a Purdue University opinion panel felt that most people are incapable of deciding what's best for them. They favored legalized wire-tapping and the "third degree." They thought that censorship of books, movies, radio and television was a job for the police.

Forty-one percent believed we should cancel freedom of the press. Thirty-four percent favored denying free speech to certain people. Twenty-six percent would allow search and seizure without a warrant.

Mr. Griffith felt these figures pointed to a frightening failure on the part of adults. Said he: "We have forgotten to pass on the lesson that the men and women who founded our nation knew so well: Freedom, our most valuable possession, must be jealously protected and strengthened by each generation. Always freedom is but one generation from extinction."

He proposed that as 40 million boys and girls streamed back to school, that every parent and every teacher do his best to help reverse the present trend. "We have seen the tragic faces of people fighting for freedom in East Berlin, in Poland and Budapest. Let us all, then, make a fresh start at teaching our youth the most important lesson of all—that freedom is not free. We have to love it, live it, work for it, even fight for it—or we lose it." These are words to ponder seriously—and then do something about the problem.

Local Guard Unit Is Honor Company: Takes Ten Firsts

Almost a dozen honors were accorded Company C, 121st Engineer battalion, Maryland National Guard, at the conclusion of the summer encampment at Indiantown Gap military reservation last Saturday, the most notable being the honor guard company award.

Feeling somewhat depressed when the unit left Oakland over two weeks ago, because it was under strength, the members apparently worked doubly hard at all phases of the training, and ended up with ten firsts for their efforts.

It was the fifth time in ten years that the company had won the coveted honor award and inasmuch as the Maryland engineer battalion was rated the outstanding unit of the entire 29th division, the Oakland company has the honor of being the outstanding unit of the entire camp. There were units from Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

In addition to honor company, Company C had the best engineer soldier, the engineer squad proficiency award, the best drilled squad, the best drilled individual, the best booby trap squad, the best compass squad, the best mess steward, the best supply sergeant, and the best mess for the year.

C company won its award with a total of 3008 points, with the next high company having 2,999 points. The award winner is determined in two areas, camp and armory. Company C had the best at camp with 1477 points. Items which help accumulate winning points are attendance, administration, training and supply, command inspection, motor section and police, federal inspections, participation in community affairs and enrollment in extension courses. At summer camp, communications and mess, squad problems, squad and platoon drill, along with the battalion parade and the field meet, all provide points toward the award. Honor company award is an all-around contest and a test of effectiveness and coordination of a unit.

Arthur Calhoun, commanding officer, said that in the ten years of the company's existence, it was in last place the first year, but either second or first for the other nine years, with five out of the ten being in top place.

Other Winners Listed

Sfc. Dovie E. Biser, of Oakland, was judged the best engineer soldier and the best drilled individual of the battalion.

Engineer squad proficiency award went to Sfc. Robert S. Brown, of Kitzmiller, who headed the unit; best drilled squad was the one headed by Sfc. Biser; best booby trap squad was headed by Sfc. Brown; best compass squad, headed by Sfc. Brown; best mess steward was Sgt. Harrison B. Stewart; best Rollyson, a previous offender, was accused of breaking and entering the home of Harry R. King on the Gorman road and also receiving stolen goods, taken from the Deep Creek summer home of C. Melvin Kight, of Oakland.

Rollyson had a record of prison terms in Maryland, West Virginia and other states. Second Newspaper Planned in Oakland

The State Tax Commission has approved articles of incorporation for Garrett Publications, Inc., a corporation formed by four Garrett county men.

They are State Senator Clifford Friend, Accident; Harry Ward Hinebaugh, Cheston H. Browning, Sr., and William J. Ritchey, Oakland.

According to Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport, attorney for the group, the company intends to publish a weekly newspaper in the county with offices in Oakland. Whitworth said the newspaper would be non-partisan.

The firm has been incorporated for $20,000 with 200 shares of stock with a par value of $100 per share.

Just when the first publication would appear was not announced. It is understood the newspaper will be printed in Uniontown, Pa.

The Republican is the county's only newspaper at present, having been the only publication since the Mountain Democrat News suspended December 17, 1953, after having been in business for seventy-five years. The Republican was established in 1877 and observed its seventy-fifth anniversary in 1952.

Forests and Parks Group Seeks News On Historic Sites

The Department of Forests and Parks is seeking information from the Garrett County Historical society concerning sites or areas of historic importance within the county.

William A. Parr, superintendent of state parks has written to John W. Holman, Friendsville, president of the historical society, stating the department was revising its master plan for state parks and recreation areas.

Parr said that in the original study little attention was paid to sites or areas of historic importance in the state, but since it is the department's duty to "promote, administer all state owned or leased . . . historic monuments . . . ," it is desired that all such areas be included in the revised plan.

Mr. Parr was asking for suggestions from the historical society for sites which should be considered in the planning. He asked that Mr. Holman send his recommendations by October 15.

Mr. Holman said this week he would appreciate it if many individuals would send him information on any such sites, so that they could be included in his recommendations.

Mr. Parr said his department probably would not be able to include all areas that may be recommended but it did want to consider all proposals, with the aid of the Maryland Historical society, and plan for preservation of the most important areas not already preserved by some group.

There was rain on Friday morning and a light rainfall Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. Otherwise the conditions have been drought-like with just sprinkles here and there.

Today was clear and cool.

Youth Is Shot In Chest; Father Held

Allen G. Weir, 18, Garrett county youth, was hospitalized yesterday as a result of a shooting which stemmed from a family argument, police reported.

Weir was reported in "fair" condition at Miners hospital in Frostburg. Police said the youth was shot in the left chest by his father, William James Weir, 54, with a .32 calibre pistol.

The shooting occurred about 5:45 p. m. in the living room of the Weir farmhouse located about half a mile across the Garrett county line from Lonaconing.

Cpl. Harry S. Bosley, Maryland State Police, said the father was held in the Allegany county jail overnight on an open charge and would be taken to Garrett county jail today.

The police officer indicated the father probably would be charged with assault with intent to kill, depending upon the outcome of the son's injuries.

Police said the bullet entered the victim's left chest just under his heart and came out on the left side of his back.

After the shooting young Weir drove about three miles to the home of Cpl. Bosley, who was eating supper. Cpl. Bosley said he heard a horn blowing continuously outside the house and when he investigated he found young Weir slumped over the steering wheel of the car.

Bosley summoned an ambulance and as the victim was being taken from the car to the ambulance he lapsed into unconsciousness.

The argument was reported to have started earlier in the afternoon over the use of the family car. Allen, who was graduated from high school in June, is employed as a rural mail carrier out of Lonaconing.

Grantsville Bank To Increase Interest Rate to 3 Percent

Effective October 1, all savings deposits in The First State Bank of Grantsville, will earn interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum, payable semi-annually.

Announcement to this effect was sent to all savings depositors and stockholders of the bank by Joseph F. Fahey, cashier.

In a letter to these depositors and stockholders Mr. Fahey said as a result of a study of the bank's costs during 1956 some economies had been effected; each department had been placed by proper charges for services rendered, on a self sustaining basis, and this combined with the higher returns from U. S. Government bonds had enabled the bank to offer this increase.

Boards of Directors of both the First National Bank and Garrett National Bank in Oakland were meeting today to discuss the interest question. At present both Oakland banks pay 2 percent interest on savings accounts.

4,585 Enroll In Public Schools On Opening Day

Public schools of the county opened Tuesday with an enrollment of 4,585 students, about the same as last year, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, superintendent of schools.

Every classroom in the county had a teacher for the opening day, and activity followed the usual pattern, with classes remaining in session the entire day.

At Southern High school there were 1,111, and at Northern High school there were 793. Registration at other schools was as follows: Swanton 45, Friendsville 271, Grantsville 422, Yoder 63, Bloomington 79, Accident 245, Swan Meadow 44, Deer Park 49, Red House 132, Johnson 56, Finzel 26, Bittinger 37, Kitzmiller 260, Center street, Oakland, 374; annex Oakland, 342; Crellin 102, and Loch Lynn 134.

One hundred three pupils are enrolled at the Parochial school in Oakland, making a total for the entire county of 4,688.

In pointing out that there were only seventeen vacancies in the teaching staff in the entire county to be filled, Mr. Hawkins pointed out that this was in spite of the fact that the county still had the lowest teacher salary scale in the state, with most counties having salaries ranging from $3,600 to $6,000, compared to $3,100 to $4,900 here. Mr. Hawkins said some systems in the state opened school without all vacancies being filled.

He said that in spite of the differential in salaries the turnover in this county was one of the smallest in many years, and he felt it might be due somewhat to the greatly improved working conditions for teachers and pupils, the relatively few serious disciplinary problems, and the freedom from overcrowded conditions.

A breakdown showing reasons why teachers left the system give 2 for higher salaries in Montgomery county, 1 for higher salaried position with state rehabilitation department, 1 each for higher salaried position in Ohio, Allegany county, college teaching, and industry, 1 to take over his father's business, 1 to get her master's degree, 3 to get married, 1 because of pregnancy, 1 for a year's leave of absence due to illness, 1 for a year's leave of absence to teach in a foreign country, and 2 for other causes.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband and our father, Josiah J. Sines, who passed away five years ago, July 22

I cannot say and I will not say
That he is dead—he is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand.
He has wandered into an unknown land.
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you, oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the all-time stay and the glad return—
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead—he is just away.

By DICK TRAVIS

From Kickoff To Touchdown

A football team is composed of a total of eleven players, seven linemen and four backs. Opposing teams wear contrasting colors. Three to five officials, dressed in striped shirts supervise the game and see that it is played fairly and safely.

Before the start of a game the captains of each team meet with the officials in the center of the field and toss a coin. The winner of the toss may elect to kickoff, receive, or to defend a particular goal.

The team kicking off (team A) kicks the ball to their opponent's (team B) from team A's 15 yard line. Team B may run the ball as far as possible toward their opponent's goal line. When a ball carrier's knee touches the ground, or he runs out of bounds, or his forward progress is stopped the play ends.

The ball is put in play from the point to which it was carried. Team B then has four plays or "downs" to gain ten yards. If it is successful in gaining the necessary yardage a new series of plays or "downs" begins. This continues until it crosses team A's goal line, scoring a touchdown for a total of six points or is forced to surrender the ball to the defending team.

After a touchdown a try for one extra point is made. This is done by passing, running, or kicking from the two yard line. The ball may be advanced by either running or passing. Usually, unless it is near the defending team's goal line a team will surrender the ball on the fourth down in kicking the ball as far as possible toward their opponent's goal.

A scoring maneuver frequently used by professional teams and sometimes used in high school games is the field goal. This play scores 3 points and is made by kicking the ball over a crossbar and between the goal post from a point at least ten yards away from the defenders goal line. Two points may be scored by stopping the opponent's ball carrier behind his goal line.

There are ten basic rules governing the game of football. Each of these are sub-divided many times. These rules were designed primarily for the safety of the players, and when enforced by alert officials, make football one of the cleanest team sports in our high schools and colleges.

There are limitations on the use of the hands, tripping, blocking from behind, unnecessary roughness, foul language, and any unsafe or unsportsmanlike conduct.

As has been pointed out these rules were made to keep the game clean and safe, but each violation is a means of advancing the ball from 5 to 15 yards toward the offender's goal lines.

Perhaps the most exciting moments in a game are caused by fumbles. When the ball eludes the intended ball carrier and bounces crazily about, both teams scramble to gain possession of it. This is usually done by a player falling on it and keeping it under him until an official stops the play, but a defensive player may pick up the ball and run toward the opponents goal line.

In this article I have tried to discuss briefly some of the physical aspects of football that may be seen in the game with Petersburg on Friday.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Reminding me that I am pledged to work for economy in Government, several constituents have asked me how I can justify my attempts to prevent the proposed termination of the male recruit training program at the Bainbridge Naval Training Center.

My answer, in brief is this:

1.) The Navy has an undeniable moral obligation to respect its past promises to maintain at least a part of its recruit training program at Bainbridge.

2.) Considering the national and local financial situations as a whole rather than the Navy's budget in particular, it appears that it would be economically inadvisable to shift the Bainbridge "boot camp" to the Great Lakes area of the west coast.

Navy's Assurances

I have spent hours discussing these points by telephone and in person with the Honorable Sherman Adams, the Assistant to the President, and Secretary of the Navy Gates, and I would now like to summarize my arguments to show the various issues involved.

In the first place, the Navy has consistently assured and reassured local authorities in the Bainbridge region that substantial amount of its necessary training program would be conducted at our Maryland installation.

Consequently, having been convinced by Federal officials that a sizeable force would be kept at Bainbridge, county authorities have incurred heavy debts for school and road construction and businessmen have borrowed large sums to expand services required to support the training center's personnel.

Size of Permanent Force

An idea of how the Navy stressed the permanency of its Bainbridge operations during recent years can be gained from reading just a few excerpts from the documents I have sent to the White House to back up my stand.

For instance, on September 21, 1951, Captain Robert Hall Smith, Center Commander wrote the following to the Superintendent of the Cecil County Board of Education:

". . . it is anticipated that Bainbridge will have a total permanent force in excess of 7,000 people in addition to 21,000 recruits and students." (Emphasis added.)

Then, while almost $19,000,000 was being spent to renovate the base itself, additional millions were being spent to construct more than 1,250 units of Wherry housing.

Plans for Center

On May 3, 1954, another important communication was sent to the Commanding Officer at Bainbridge by the Chief of Naval Personnel.

Entitled "Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md.-future plans for," the message included this information:

". . . The Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, will be one of three major concentrations of training (particularly of enlisted men, but not limited thereto) sponsored and administered by the Chief of Naval Personnel. . . .

"Within the capacity of these locations a major portion of recruit training will be conducted at San Diego and Bainbridge, except that a relatively small nucleus will ordinarily be retained at Great Lakes, which will be expanded as necessary during periods of comparatively heavy recruiting." (Emphasis added.)

Reconstruction Program

In addition to such positive statements over the past years, the Department of the Navy wrote to me as follows just three months ago:

". . . The present plans are to continue operation of training facilities located at Bainbridge, Maryland."

"In view of the importance of retention of Bainbridge, the Navy has made plans to commence a phased reconstruction program designed to replace the present temporary structures with permanent buildings."

Representative James P. S. Devereux also received a letter at about the same time concerning the planned new buildings, and here is what he was told by the Executive Assistant to the Chief of Civil Engineers:

". . the construction of these barracks of Naval Personnel that a situation wherein the barracks would not be used to house recruits is not anticipated. . ."

"Economy"

So much for the Navy's promises, even though those are merely a few examples.

Now let's look at the so-called "economy" which would result from moving the Bainbridge "boot camp" to Great Lakes and San Diego.

The Federal Government already has an enormous investment in the school system around Bainbridge and it also holds guarantees on many housing units.

In addition, it must be remembered that the Navy pays 6 cents per mile for men who have completed their training to travel to their assigned ships or duty stations, and about 90 per cent of the recruits trained at Bainbridge have been going to East Coast ports.

It is obvious what would happen to the transportation expenditures if the thousands of trainees were paid for trips from the Great Lakes or San Diego centers.

Unemployment Situation

In conclusion, I feel I should mention that it is the policy of the Government to place contracts and facilities in areas of substantial unemployment whenever possible.

To eliminate the entire recruit training program at Bainbridge would be not only to ignore the unemployment situation in the region but also to increase it to critical proportions.

For these reasons and others, I have advocated that whatever cuts must be made for reasons of economy should be distributed among all three of the Navy's training centers.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The Negro Vote

As this first session of the Eighty-fifth Congress closes, several things become more and more clear. One is that in the 1958 campaign the civil-rights issue will not only remain alive but will plague both parties—and a great many individual candidates—for one thing or another. It is, of course, a compromise act and as such is not wholly satisfactory to anybody.

In addition, this racial issue is one that can never be solved completely by Supreme Court decree or congressional action. It is the deepest and widest gulf in the world and it can never be really bridged except by the passage of time—and a great deal of time at that. Leaving entirely aside the merits and demerits of this, the greatest controversial question of our time, and regardless of the deep feeling it has engendered and the strong convictions on both sides that it has created, the thing that is outstanding now is the political effect it will have in the forthcoming elections of 1958 and 1960.

From the close of the Civil War to 1936—nearly 80 years—the Negro vote in the northern and western states was solidly and unshakably Republican. In the South very few Negroes voted at all. In 1936, a clever, cold-blooded and carefully calculated coup, engineered by the then National Democratic chairman, James Farley and his friend, Joseph Guffey, then Senator from Pennsylvania, enthusiastically supported by the late President Roosevelt, the late Harry Hopkins, then head of the Works Progress Administration, succeeded in transferring this basic Republican asset almost wholly to the Democratic party, thus making every Negro vote count two.

The details of this plot—because that is exactly what is was—have been given in this space before. It is not necessary to repeat them now, except to say that they largely accounted for the size of the Democratic victories not only in 1936 but in 1940, 1944 and 1948. Any analysis of the figures will prove this. Since 1936 the Republicans have been zealously striving to recapture the Negro vote so vital to them in so many vital states. The Democrats have been equally zealous in their effort to hold it. It is amazing how clearly the figures show the completeness with which Democratic claims of being the majority party in the country rest on the Negro vote—and how easy it is to demonstrate that every Democratic victory since 1936 has hinged upon that vote.

Every informed politician is fully aware of this pregnant fact. This is why there is now so intense a propaganda campaign, on both sides, to claim credit for the new law and to deny that the opposition had anything to do with it. While it is true that both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman were very realistic about the Negro vote, neither fathered a civil rights bill in Congress during his administration. It remained for Eisenhower to do that. However questionable his wisdom in that action, no one questions his sincerity. And, of course, as he is not a candidate for any office—and cannot be because of the legal bar and his age—he has no conceivable personal interest in whether credit is given him or not.

All of this makes it seem that in 1958 and 1960 the struggle between the two parties for the Negro vote will be intense and bitter. The evidence, so far as credit is concerned, seems to favor the Republicans. Not only is the Eisenhower sincerity unquestioned but both Vice President Nixon and Senator Knowland (one of whom is likely to be the Republican presidential nominee) valiantly fought for the bill. At any rate, the real opposition came from the Deep South, without whose support the Democrats can hardly elect a President. The lamentable fact seems to be that if the Negroes unite they can decide any national election. It is bad for the country to be at the mercy of any minority group, whether Negro, or labor, or business. Concerning the present issue some of the Negro leaders understand the facts and know who are their friends. Others are completely muddle-headed and have no grasp on the facts at all. But that is true of a good many whites also.

In New York, New Jersey, California, Illinois and Ohio the Negro vote is sufficiently large to hold the balance of power—if solidified. It is inconceivable that any President could be elected without the support of some of these states. There is significance, too, in the fact that Negroes are registering in larger proportion than whites. For example, in Maryland, since April in Baltimore 4,330 Negroes have registered compared with 1,476 whites although whites outnumber the Negroes by 3 to 1 in the city.

Letter to the Editor

Editor of The Republican:

In your last issue of The Republican your editorial touched upon a vital subject and I am glad someone has started the ball rolling. We should be proud of our beautiful lake and our mountain scenery that God has given all of us to enjoy. But I am sorry to say that so many are coming here, not to enjoy the beauty, but to misuse the privileges that they have. The big majority misuse our highways. They fail to recognize the signs that are placed everywhere to protect our lives and their own. I will say that route 219, between the Lake and Oakland is practically a race track, not a public highway. It is not safe for the natives of Garrett county and others who use it. We love to see new faces and meet new people but we do not appreciate being imposed on by a lot of people who own a little property in our county. So many who come here in plain words just "show off." On our lake it is becoming a serious problem as many boat owners are becoming more careless and endangering life and property. I have seen this problem growing for a number of years. Boats are surely a lot of enjoyment and pleasure and are not something in which to show off. Fishermen along the shores have no pleasure any more. Many boat operators seem to enjoy running close enough to cut lines that have been cast from the shore. It has developed to the point that it is beyond the ability of one patrol boat to cope with these gangsters of the roads and waters.

Now, we are not hitting at the good people who come to our community for we have many very fine people who come here each year, but we are hitting at the gangster type who create this feeling. As for myself I ask for more law enforcement. Put back the teeth in the law so that it hurts when the bite comes. Let's keep this moving until we see results.

Following a brief homeroom period on opening day students reported to the gymnasium for a special assembly, in charge of Artie Ashby, president of the Student Council. Following scripture and a salute to the flag by Wayne Callis, Student Council vice president, Carl Everly, vice-principal, introduced the five new members of the staff.

Kley-Lucas Nuptials Solemnized

An apartment at 2980 South Columbus avenue, Arlington, Va., is the new home of George Ellis Kley and his bride, the former Victoria Ann Lucas, of Red House, Oakland. The young couple pledged vows in St. Peter's Catholic church, Oakland, on Saturday, August 24, at 1 p. m., in a double ring ceremony at a nuptial mass performed by the Rev. Fr. Michael K. Carney.

After an informal reception for the immediate families at the home of the bride and an evening wedding dinner and party at Silver Lake Lodge, they left on a honeymoon trip to Tide's Inn, Irvington, Va.

The bride is a daughter of Mr and Mrs. William Lucas, Red House, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Frank Kley, Baltimore formerly of Oakland, and the late Mr. Kley.

Miss Marcella Kerins presided at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Russell Brown who sang "Ave Maria," and "Mother at Your Feet Is Kneeling,' as the bride placed a bouquet at the altar of the Virgin Mary. White gladioli and white tapers formed the altar decor.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a full-length gown of chantilly type lace fashioned with basque bodice, long tapering sleeves and scoop neckline edged in tiny florets of self-lace centered with pearls. The billowing skirt was slipper satin and bridal hoops terminating in a chapel sweep. Her pillbox of lace dewlit with iridescent sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a white cateleya orchid encircled with white sweetheart roses and ruta, the traditional Lithuanian wedding plant, on a cascade of satin streamers over her rosary. Her only jewelry was a single strand of tiny cultured pearls, a gift of the groom.

In the bridal procession were Miss Regina Evans, Greenville, Pa., niece of the bride, maid of honor; Miss Relda Evans, Greenville; Miss Carol Adams, Baltimore; and Miss Nancy Kemp, Bethesda, bridesmaids. The four maids were frocked in romance blue nylon chiffon ballerinas. The full skirts over taffeta were worn over hoops, and bodices featured short cap sleeves and shirring. Crowns of matching shade were trimmed with twists of pearls and short circular veils. Their bouquets were cascade arrangements of white and pink sweetheart roses among fern and ruta.

Two nieces of the bride, Miss Linda Oursler, Oakland, and Miss Janet Lucas, Barberton, O., served as flower girls. Their gowns were of white face and net ballerinas sashed in romance blue net. Their matching blue bonnets featured back bows and streamers and each carried a basket of white and pink sweetheart roses and blue delphinium.

Frank Kley, Springfield, Va., served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Richard Welton, Fort Belvoir, Va.; John Zane, Hariwood, Md.; and Powell Wrightsmen, Bethesda.

A jacket ensemble of aqua blue lace with white accessories was Mrs. Lucas' choice of attire for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Kley chose a dusty rose lace sheath over satin with matching accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Relatives and close friends of the bridal couple gathered at an informal reception at the bride's home following the marriage rites. Beginning at 7 o'clock a wedding dinner and party were held at Silver Lake lodge for about 100 guests. The dinner was prepared and served by the Lions club members of Aurora, W. Va., and their wives.

The "Midnighters" of Thomas, W. Va., provided music for dinner entertainment and dancing. Stanley Lucas, Barberton, brother of the bride, served as master of ceremonies. The tables were decorated with assorted garden flowers and table favors were tiny lace and ruta bouquets made by the ushers and bridesmaids. The bride and groom aided by their bridal party, cut and served the four-tiered wedding cake, as the climax of the celebration.

The new Mrs. Kley was graduated from the University of Maryland in June with a Bachelor of Science degree in physical education. She has assumed a teaching position at the Francis Hammond High school, Alexandria, Va. Mr. Kley was graduated in 1956 from the University of Marytand with a Bachelor of Science degree and is presently employed as a safety and fire protection engineer for the Atomic Energy commission in Washington.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hood, Clarksburg, W. Va.; Ellis Vest, Morgantown, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gibbs, Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. Margaret Vest, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hornick and daughter Margaret May, Johnstown, Pa.; Mrs. Grace Koberly, Alexandria, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Kopfle and son John, Mrs. Frank Kley, Springfield, Va.; Mrs. Vivian Courtney, College Park, Mr. and Mrs. James Schnazi, New Jersey, Edward Brent, Baltimore; Mrs. and Mrs. William Schunk, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Patrick Janickas, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Gaudet and daughter Connie, Akron, O.; Miss Helen Hale, Bethesda; Miss Harriett Compe, Falls Church, Va.; William Rolt, Miss Ann Cook, Hyattsville; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shay, Kingwood, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. John Kazlo and daughter Helen, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moran, Westernport; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bartkus, Mrs. Willis Evans and daughter Duwilla, Thomas, W. Va.; Joseph Vestunas, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Milkint, Silver Lake, W. Va.; Mrs. Arnold Evans and sons Richard and Roger, Greenville, Pa.; Stanley Lucas and son Michael, Barberton, O.

Bookout-Beachy Wedding Held

Miss Alice May Beachy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Beachy, of Oakland, became the bride of Gary Dean Bookout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armid Bookout, of Tremont, Ill., on Monday, August 5. The candlelight service was held at 8 p. m., in the Baptist church of Tremont.

The Rev. Marvin H. Kemp, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and candelabra. The nuptial organ music was played by Mrs. Arthur Heileman. Mrs. Don Gillan sang "Through the Years," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white floor length gown of embroidered tulle styled with a sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt was designed with an overskirt flounce of the embroidered pattern.

The headdress was a tri-corn tulle and pearl open crown teal headpiece with an attached fingertip veil of illusion net. The bride carried a white Bible and a cascade arrangement of white snow drift mums and blue stephanotis. Her only piece of jewelry was a silver cross which is an heirloom in the groom's family.

Attending the bride was Miss Gleah Bookout, sister of the groom. She was attired in a taffeta ballerina length gown of delft blue with an empire bodice of lace and a panel front with side fullness extending to the back. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink asters.

Westyn Braun, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man with Norman Strawbridge, Green Valley, Illinois, acting as usher.

The bride's mother wore a dress of pink lace and rayon with beige accessories and a corsage of garnet roses. The mother of the groom wore a light blue dress with white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the groom for members of the immediate families. Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip through the Ozark mountains.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High school, class of 1952, and is now a senior student in the Alderson-Broaddus college school of nursing at Philippi, W. Va. She will be graduated in January of 1958. She is a member of Alpha Beta Nu sorority of nurses and the National Student Nurses' association.

Mr. Bookout is a graduate of Tremont High school, class of 1953, and attended the University of Illinois. He is now serving in the United States Navy and is stationed in Hutchinson, Kansas.

TOGETHER

Every experience means more when it is shared. When father, mother and children go to church together they are sharing a beautiful experience. When they sing the songs of the gospel, read the Scripture, listen to the sermon, unite in prayer, they are adding to the joy of being together. When they open their hearts to God and pledge allegiance to Him, family life is strengthened. The "togetherness" reaches out to include fellowship with others.

Young people who grow up in the Church, who have a truly Christian home, are blessed with a tremendous advantage. They have learned to work and live with other people for the glory of God and the advancement of His cause. There is strength in the very thought of uniting in work and worship.

Together—what a difference it makes! Does your family go to Church together?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Jeremiah 36.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 19:7-14

The Staff

Lesson for September 8, 1957

THERE is a lot of paper work in the Kingdom of God. No doubt when the Kingdom comes in its final glory, paper work will not be needed any more. But right now there are mountains of it. Next time you are in the city where your denominational headquarters are, or your Board of Missions, or the place where they put out your Sunday school literature, just go in and introduce yourself and look around. You may be amazed at the number of typewriters it takes to operate one denomination.

Dr. Foreman

When famed missionary Schweitzer visited New York after the war, he went to the headquarters of the church that had kept behind him while he was "orphaned" by the war, and he spoke especially to the office workers. He wanted them to know that the missionary on the field could not stay there without these anonymous humble helpers back of him.

Besides the Minister

In larger congregations there is a staff of people besides the minister. No one man all by himself could possibly do anything but buzz around like a bee in a bus station, in a church where the membership runs up near or over the thousand mark. There may be assistant ministers, each one perhaps with a particular specialty; secretaries, receptionists, a hostess, a secretary of men's work, one for women's work, a minister of music, a director of Christian education,—all of these regular salaried people paid by the church.

There is a good Bible precedent for all this. The prophet Jeremiah had a scribe named Baruch, who wrote out Jeremiah's sermons and helped him revise them after the original copy had been destroyed. Baruch was not a prophet himself. He would probably never have been heard from, if he had not been Jeremiah's secretary. On the other hand, some of Jeremiah's most striking sermons would have perished if it had not been for Baruch's faithful work putting them into written shape. We know too that Paul's letter to the Romans was not actually penned by Paul but by a secretary named Tertius (Rom. 16:22). When Paul made a list of various kinds of "gifts" and gifted people in the church, he names "helpers" right along with healers and administrators (I Cor. 12:28). So from the beginning till now, the "staff" has been as much needed as the preacher.

Church Vocations

Young people in high school who are Christians ought to know what the usual vocational counselor will not tell them (because not knowing): namely that there are many vocations open, wide open, where Christians are needed to serve God and man through the Church, vocations which are not the ministry-of-preaching but are ministeries in their own right. Especially is this true on the mission field. Right now there are mission boards calling for teachers, nurses, doctors, agricultural specialists, dentists, industrial workers, all over the world. Here at home—to name only one of these vocations—the "Director of Christian Education" is a kind of job for which there are not nearly as many trained workers as the church needs.

Volunteers

Most churches, however, are small. They cannot afford a staff, they have trouble even in scraping up money for a janitor. In many such little churches the minister is beating his head out trying to do all the chores himself besides preaching. This is where the volunteer worker comes in. We are used to the idea of volunteer Sunday school teachers and choir singers; why not a volunteer staff? In most small churches you could find some one who could take dictation and run a typewriter or mimeograph machine, some one to volunteer to dust the church early Sunday morning (a needed chore often forgotten); some one to answer the minister's phone and give him time for needed study or visiting. Almost any church can have a good staff to help the preacher,—they have the ability, all they need is the volunteers.

CONSERVE WATER

We are able through the splendid cooperation of most citizens to have sufficient water for essential purposes, without waste, but the opening of our schools has placed an additional demand on our supply which we are striving to meet.

Please, again, NO CAR WASHING, LAWN SPRINKLING or non-essential use of water and a SPECIAL WARNING to those who are not complying with this very reasonable request.

Our thanks to all who are helping in this emergency.

Clarence Earle Schroyer, Plaintiff, Friendsville, Maryland
vs.
Iva Lena Schroyer, 6909 Lexington Avenue, c-o Mrs. Sherman Kidd, Cleveland, Ohio
No. 4770 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant

The bill states:

That on the 5th day of November, 1921, he was married to the defendant, Iva Lena Schroyer, near Selbysport Garrett County, Maryland, by Rev. Calvin R. Wolfe, a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 1st day of September, 1944, at which time the said Iva Lena Schroyer deserted the said plaintiff, while they were residing in Garrett County, Maryland; that although the conduct of the plaintiff towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Iva Lena Schroyer, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that twelve children were born of said marriage, nine of whom are now living, and one of whom is not married and under the age of twenty-one years, namely: Lavanne Schroyer, age seventeen years; that the plaintiff is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in this County and State for more than two years prior to filing of this bill of complaint, while the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and her address is: 6909 Lexington Avenue, c-o Mrs. Sherman Kidd, Cleveland, Ohio.

It is thereupon this 21st day of August, 1957, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 13th day of September, 1957, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 28th day of September, 1957, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde • 6th District, Maryland

I am certain that when final judgment on the first session of the 85th Congress is passed it will list reduction in the Federal Budget as our greatest achievement. The Congress responded to the people's demand that cuts be made with a thoroughness that exceeded our loudest hopes. I believe that the urge to reduce the cost of Government is not temporary and that it will be continued until lowered costs are reflected in lower taxes.

One important result of the struggle with the budget is the renewed interest in revising congressional appropriation methods. Now pending are a number of resolutions and bills calling for revised budgetary procedure and for special committees to study fiscal reform.

Altogether over 10,500 bills and resolutions were introduced in the House during the first session. Only a handful of these were acted upon, but all the remaining carry over to next year. Some of the major accomplishments of the first session were: The Middle East Doctrine, membership in the International Atomic Energy Agency; extension of the Small Business Administration with increased lending authority; extension of Federal Housing Law; increasing Federal participation in payments of old-age assistance; aid to the blind, dependent children, and totally disabled. During the first session successful in having enacted law, a House Concurrent R tion which provides for a st the problems created by the expansion of the Washingto ropolitan area; a bill transf to Allegany County the own of Bailey Bridge at Corrigale a District of Columbia bill which modernizes the law with respect to the descent of real property where a person dies without leaving a will; two private claim bills, an immigration bill; and two immigration bills that became law as a part of Joint Resolutions.

We do not have a special men's day or evening at our club, but on the past two Wednesday evenings, Charlie Jackson has been the organizer of some nice outings. The men chip in for food and drinks, play golf, and then socially enjoy themselves in the clubhouse. These have been so successful that the group will try another this Sunday, September 8 at 10 a. m. This is not a closed group, and any member or friend is welcome to join in the activities.

On the following Sunday, September 15, we play the Frostburg men at their Maplehurst Club. The list is up at the club house, so if you can make it please sign up.

Bob Kreyenhuhl eagled our No. 5 hole in the beginning of the week, and just to prove it wasn't luck he did it again later in the week.

Bud Kelley hadn't seen his name in this column for some time, so he took his putter and pared our No. 4 hole from the back tee, using only that putter. His putter tee shot hit on the green, and then he two putted for a par 3.

Our ladies' group entertained about 25 Frostburg ladies last Wednesday with a golf match and luncheon. Our ladies' group won 19½ to 9½.

Prize winners were:

For low gross: Betty Ann Hanna, Maplehurst, 94; Hilda Pritts, Oakland, 83.

Low net: Lo Devers, Maplehurst, 63; Evelyn Ault, Oakland, 61.

Low putts: Tie, Ruth Wood and Marie Mellor, Maplehurst, and Dot Glotfelty and Ellen Seefeld, Oakland.

Arnold Weese missed a hole in one on No. 8 by 1½ inches. Some observers say Arnold fainted and was carried to the club house, but he denied this when I interviewed him.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 81. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., SEPTE Pratt Library PER COPY, 8c NUMBER 28.

Red for Courtesy . . .

Every landowner who has ever had his crops trampled by hunters, his live stock shot, or lost by straying through gates left open; his fences damaged or his timber leveled by fire has seen red. Hundreds in the county have been so affected.

The Izaak Walton League of America has launched a state-wide educational program to dramatize to the hunters of Maryland the basic rules of hunting courtesy. In the hope that this program will be effective Governor McKeldin has proclaimed September as "Red Cap" month.

League chapters are conducting programs in their communities and they are asking people in other communities to pledge themselves to the objectives of the month.

Everyone who has a stake in the great and green outdoors is being asked to pledge "to help perpetuate hunting as a national sport for ourselves and future generations; to help prevent forest fires; to help foster safety in the use of firearms; to help promote respect for the rights of property owners by hunters; and to call attention to the legal and moral laws of hunting conservation."

Widespread disregard for the rights of landowners has caused more and more land each year in Garrett county to be posted, and rightly so.

The attempt to correct the errors of these uninformed, indifferent, and unappreciative hunters is an ambitious and worthwhile program that deserves widespread support. If through the program the tremendous loss of life in hunting accidents, the tragic loss of cattle mistaken for game, and the unnecessary waste through forest fires can be reduced, it will indeed be effort well spent.

Landowners would be cooperative if they were assured that the hunters would be the same.

Recommendations on Bus Shelters Are Listed By Board

Recommendations concerning the matter of school bus shelters were approved by the Board of Education at its regular meeting Tuesday in the Court House.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the board would not be responsible for going over the county and setting up shelters that have been pushed over or blown over by the wind, feeling this was a responsibility of parents of children using the shelters. Neither will the board make minor repairs to the shelters that should be made by parents of children using them.

It also announced it would not continue to replace the shelters in areas where they are constantly vandalized.

Bus shelters now on hand are being distributed to points where the need is considered the greatest.

Other Matters Considered

Other matters were considered by the board.

It approved the transfer of bus formerly owned by Paul Fisher to Playford Ryan, approved request of Jonas Beachy to negotiate for purchase of bus now owned by Ira Gilpin, approved transfer of Mrs. Dorothy Filsinger from Bittinger to North Glade school and transfer of Mrs. Lenora Buckel from North Glade to Bittinger. The board tentatively approved a move to consolidate these two schools after this year or reduce them to one-room schools.

It approved Cecil Kellison to transport by automobile children living on dirt road beyond Bittinger school; approved Leo Tichinel to transport children in old Wilson school area, to main road; approved Homer Reichenbecker, John Rice and Ward Livengood as substitute bus drivers; approved sale of Finzel, Johnson, Mt. Lake schools and playground area of

Committee For Land Week Is Selected

Foster Yost, of Accident, has been named chairman of the Garrett County Land Week committee. It was announced by John E. Clark, of Bel Air, chairman of the Maryland State Land Week committee.

Serving with Mr. Yost will be R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., Harold Harman, Marvin Callis, Robert Rodeheaver and H. Robert DeWitt.

Land Week, by proclamation of Governor McKeldin, will be from October 6 to 12. Objectives of Land Week are to encourage the use of soil and water conservation practices by those who till the land, to impress all citizens of the state with their dependence upon the soil and acquaint them with the effects of erosion, improper drainage, and soil deficiencies upon their health and welfare; to create a better understanding of the interdependence of soil, forests, water and wildlife and the need for their wise use and development for their aesthetic and economic values.

The committee is expected to encourage participation and coordinate the efforts of various county school, civic, service, homemaker, women's, garden, youth, sportsmen, farm and church organizations and all others interested in beautification and protection and preservation of the natural resources.

Approximately 700 At Wrestling Show

Around 700 people attended the wrestling show sponsored by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club at the Southern High school gymnasium last night.

In the feature bout Ricki Starr won over Oyama Kato in a one-match contest. Dr. Jerry Graham and Indian Chief Big Heart ended in a no-contest match with each wrestler having one fall.

Danny McShane won over Arnold Skoland while Angelo Savoldi won over Bobby Wallace in the preliminary bouts.

The club was holding the benefit performance to raise funds to pay for expenses incurred in improving the Oakland Boy Scout camp. The club did little more than break even on the evening's entertainment.

Eisenhower said he would invoke his full powers under Eisenhower doctrine if international communists push Syria into any acts of aggression against her neighbors.

Pair Sentenced To Ten Years In Safecracking

Two of the men who participated in the safecracking at the Fox hardware store in Friendsville on July 29 were tried last Friday in the Garrett County Circuit court and sentenced to ten years each in the Maryland penitentiary by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

They are Elwood Kissner, 26, formerly of Friendsville, who had been residing in Baltimore and Oliver Rockett, 53, also of Baltimore.

A total of $37,510 was taken from the store safe with $25,000 of the total in non-negotiable U. S. Savings bonds.

When brought before Judge Fraley the two men entered pleas of gullty to grand larceny and breaking and entering through their attorneys, E. Ray Jones for Kissner and William Treacy for Rockett.

Kissner, who had no previous criminal record, told the court that he was not so much interested in the money but "just wanted to see a safe cracked." He also admitted he "fingered" the hardware store for Rockett and the third man who is still at large. Kissner said he did not realize at the time that the safe would contain such a large sum.

Judge Fraley told the men that it was a serious crime and the amount of money involved was the largest sum ever stolen in the county as far as he could recollect. He ordered the money recovered to be returned to the owner.

Rockett had a criminal record and admitted that he had burned the $25,000 worth of bonds in the back yard of his Baltimore home.

The two men were arrested a few days after the crime in Baltimore by police in that city who acted on a "tip from a reliable source." About $1,100 was recovered from a rock pile near Friendsville. Another $1,865 was located at the home of relatives of one of the men in Richmond, Va. About $785 was recovered from the men, making a total of $7,050 to be recovered.

The third man, identified as Earl Franklin, is believed to have escaped with between $5,000 and $6,000 of the loot. He was described as a professional safe cracker.

The two men were scheduled to be taken to the penitentiary this week to begin their sentences.

In order to be brought into the Circuit court for trial last week, the men waived their right to indictment by the grand jury and asked for an immediate trial.

Grantsville Legion Fined

In other cases heard before Judge Fraley last Friday were six cases involving liquor law violations.

In two cases involving the sale of alcoholic beverages and permitting the sale of alcoholic beverages without a proper license or permit, the Grantsville American Legion was fined $500 and costs in each case.

Four other cases were dismissed, one against the Legion for unlawfully permitting the sale of an alcoholic beverage, and three against the Legion bartender, Ivan Miller for unlawfully selling alcohol and selling alcohol without a permit.

Farmers' Federal Gas Tax Refund

On April 2, 1956 a law was enacted to refund Federal Excise tax on gasoline used on a farm for farming operations.

Any person using gasoline for farming operation is qualified to a refund of Federal Gasoline tax at 3 cents per gallon on the gasoline used from July 1, 1956 through June 30, 1957.

All claims for refund must be made on form 2240 1957 and filed with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore 2, Maryland, not later than September 30. Forms 2240 for making application for refund are available at the County Agent's office, Oakland. These will be mailed to anyone requesting.

No claims will be honored after September 30, 1957.

"Fence Outs" Being Built in Forests

Plots one tenth of an acre in size in large wooded areas are being enclosed by a fence to exclude deer in eleven different parts of Western Maryland and Eastern Shore, it was announced by the Maryland Department of Research and Education. These are a joint project of the research department and the Game and Inland Fish commission.

Each fence will be eight feet high and is part of an experiment to determine the amount of destruction to trees and shrubs cause by the deer population of these areas.

Deer feed on nearly all plants in the forest, the researchers say, and when the number of deer increase in an area, their browsing can prove very serious to forest resources.

These enclosed plots and surrounding unprotected areas will be regularly inspected for a period of five to ten years to find out what the deer consume and the extent of damage done.

Primary result of these "fence-out" studies will demonstrate to hunters and the general public the effects of deer on the forest. A secondary result will be the gathering of information on the feeding habits of deer in general, it was pointed out.

Hunters and other are being encouraged to protect these areas and to see that they are kept in good condition.

Official Welcome For New Industry Set for September 21

Garrett County will have an opportunity to officially welcome its newest industry—the Sterling Processing Corporation—on Saturday, September 21.

The occasion will be an open house to be held by the company at its plant in Oakland. The hours will be from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., and guests will be shown through the plant, considered one of the most modern in the world. The plant will be in full operation during the open house and citizens of the county will be shown every phase of the process.

There will be refreshments and favors for guests and parents are being urged to bring their children.

The Sterling company began operations April 1. The plant employs over 100 persons from the surrounding area.

The open house will be in charge of Earl Wise, plant manager, who moved his wife and two children to Oakland recently from Arkansas.

John Hardesty will be on hand to talk to local farmers interested in growing turkeys and broilers for the plant. Mr. Hardesty said the company gives first preference to locally grown broilers and turkeys. A. D. Summers, Russell Thomas and other officials of the company will conduct the guests through the plant and discuss poultry raising and marketing problems. Also scheduled to be here are J. W. Ruby, head of Sterling Enterprises, of Morgantown, and his wife. Mr. Ruby has issued an invitation to all to attend the open house.

Fire Damages Home

Fire damaged the home of Philip Ferguson in Loch Lynn Heights on Monday afternoon to the extent of about $100.

Oakland firemen, answering the alarm, said that some coveralls, near an oil stove used for canning, had caught fire.

The blaze was extinguished quickly.

Plans Being Made For Autumn Glory

Plans for the annual observance of Autumn Glory Time in this county have been made by local organizations and the B. and O. railroad company.

Purpose of the program is to give residents of Maryland and nearby states an opportuntiy to see Mother Nature's fall setting in the forest and recreation areas of the county.

Cooperating in the project besides the railroad company are the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, and the Garrett County Turkey Growers.

The plans call for a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad excursion to leave Baltimore on the morning of Sunday, October 6, and Sunday, October 13, and travel to Oakland.

From there the excursionists will travel by bus to Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls, Deep Creek Lake and to the new State Park now in the course of construction on the Meadow Mountain inlet. At the Falls there will be booths of the Turkeys Growers and the Promotion council, with boxed sandwiches, other food, and novelties. At the State Park there will be a booth set up where soft drinks, coffee, candy and other packaged food will be available.

The tour of the county will begin about 1 p. m., and conclude about 5:30 p. m., the local organizations have been informed. The tourists will be divided into two groups to alleviate congestion of traffic as some 20 buses will be used to transport them to the two areas. Some seven hundred people will be expected each Sunday, it was announced.

The Chamber of Commerce worked out details of the event at a meeting of the Board of Directors on Monday evening. It was planned to ask the junior and senior bands of Southern High school to play for the occasion.

Oakland Council To Drill Extra Well

Decision to drill another well to augment the town's present water supply, was made by the Mayor and Town Council at its meeting Monday night.

The additional well was one of the recommendations made by the Chester Engineers of Pittsburgh, following a study of the town's water supply made last month. C. K. Stroh, one of the company's engineers, who had made a previous survey of the town in 1948, was here one day last month going over the situation.

The new 8-inch well will be dug in the vicinity of the Bruce Lohr farm, and not far from the present spring house.

The Chester Engineers also presented a long range program for the town which would provide the following:

Construction of a low rolled earth-fill dam in the Upper Bradley Run valley, some 400 feet above the Sang Run road, that would impound six months supply of raw water.

Explore the feasability of diverting water from Miller's Run by construction of a small dam across the run, with a pump to raise the water over the divide.

Installation of a small filtration plant to treat impounded surface water.

The advisability of constructing an additional pipe line to the existing covered reservoirs.

To make a study of the amount of storage capacity needed and the advisability of constructing additional ones in other sections of town.

An investigation of existing pressure and fire flows and the advisability of constructing reinforcing mains to better the flow conditions.

W. W. Nace, district soil conservationist, offered assistance if the town decided to construct the earthen dam.

Held on Violation Of Liquor Statutes

Clyde B. Yaist, of near Grantsville, was placed under arrest Sunday on charges of unlawful sale of alcoholic beverages without proper license. Two separate charges were placed against the man by Sheriff James Frantz.

At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend on Monday he was placed under $500 bond for his appearance at the September Term of court.

Plan For Taming North Branch Of Potomac Aired

Officials of the Army Corps of Engineers on Monday outlined before area officials a comprehensive plan for taming and developing the North Branch of the Potomac river but said they need to "know who is going to pay for what" before more progress can be made.

Col. George B. Sumner, district engineer for the Washington District of the Corps of Engineers, briefed members of the Potomac River basin subcommittee of the Legislative Council on the plan at a meeting in Cumberland. This followed an inspection tour at Kitzmiller on Monday morning.

He presented details of a plan designed to meet the needs of the North Branch area for flood protection, pollution abatement, water supply, recreation and other water resources.

The program, through flood protection, would make available for new industrial development several thousands of acres of bottom lands.

But, Col. Sumner explained federal participation is restricted to flood control and hydro-electric features, and that before further progress can be made the Corps of Engineers must know what states and other local interests will contribute toward the project. Under study, he said, are a series of reservoirs and local flood protection works.

Dam sites would be located on the North Branch near Bloomington, on Stony River, below the U. S. route 50 bridge, and on Savage river above the Savage River Dam. Areas being studied for local flood protection include Bayard, Kitzmiller, Luke and Westernport in Maryland, Piedmont and Keyser in West Virginia.

The one proposed dam above Luke would be capable of boosting the flow of the North Branch at Luke to a dependable flow of 185 million gallons a day and would provide a high degree of protection for the down-stream area.

The Stony River reservoir could boost the river flow 55 million gallons a day but would provide only a small amount of flood control. The Savage river reservoir could be operated for water supply and some flood control. Total flood control benefits of the dams were estimated at about $220,000 a year. The greatest additional benefit, Col. Sumner said, would be the economic development of the entire region.

"The additional increased flow," he said, "would make the area, with its good transportation system, labor supply, raw material and nearness to markets, particularly attractive to additional new industries."

The corps, he said, is preparing design memoranda under the Small Flood control act for project for Kitzmiller, Keyser and Bayard. Col. Sumner recommended that committees be organized to develop plans for financing the non-federal share of the project.

At the Kitzmiller session on Monday a tour was made of the river to check flood control needs in Shallmar and Kitzmiller, and was followed by a luncheon with town officials, sponsored by the Lions club there.

Delegate Harry Edwards, of Grantsville, a member of the legislative council sub committee, observed that a great deal of emphasis was being placed on high dams and other river development downstate, while the Kitzmiller area has been flooded time and time again. He felt preservation of the water in the upper regions of the stream would benefit everyone all the way down to the bay.

Decrease In Polio

The County Health department released figures this week showing the great decrease in the number of polio cases in Maryland.

Up to September 1 of this year eight cases of paralytic polio had been reported to the health department. This compares with 44 cases for the same period in 1956, 101 in 1955, 51 in 1954, 159 in 1953 and 100 in 1952.

One Man Enlists

Harold E. Harvey, 26, son of Mr and Mrs. Isaac G. Harvey, Route 1, Oakland, has enlisted in the regular army, it was announced by M Sgt. Joseph E. Sherren, recruiting sergeant for this area. Harvey enlisted for three years in the armor corps. He had previously served in Europe in an armored battalion, being discharged in 1955.

Sterling's Payroll In Silver Dollars

In an effort to determine the impact that the company's payroll has on the economy of the county, the Sterling Processing company plans to distribute its payroll on Friday, September 20, in silver dollars.

The payroll will amount to about $10,000 for a two weeks' period and will be distributed to some one hundred employes.

This is the second time that the silver dollar idea has been used here in the past year or two. The National Guard unit paid off in silver dollars some months ago.

Charges Are Filed Against Area Man

William James Weir, 51, was lodged in the county jail at Oakland last Thursday on a charge of assault with intent to kill his 18-year-old son, Allen G. Weir last Wednesday afternoon at their home in this county, just across the county line from Lonaconing.

The victim, a patient in Miners hospital in Frostburg, was reported improving. Police said the boy was shot in the left chest just under the heart with a .32 calibre pistol.

No date was set for a hearing before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend. Mr. Weir gave a statement in the sheriff's office at Oakland before State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt, Corporal Harry S. Bosley, who made the investigation; Sheriff James E. Frantz, and Deputy Sheriff Raymond Thomas.

The shooting, police said, stemmed from a family argument and occurred at the Weir farmhouse. After the shooting the victim got into the family car and drove to the Lonaconing home of Cpl. Bosley who called an ambulance to take the boy to the hospital.

In the meantime the father was said to have called the LaVale State police barracks and confessed to the shooting, asking if he should turn himself in. The elder Weir was told to remain at his home where he was picked up by Cpl. Bosley who took him to the Allegany County jail on an open charge. Thursday morning he was taken to the county jail in Oakland.

The September Grand Jury returned an indictment for assault with intent to kill. He was released under bond yesterday and will be tried at the September term of court.

Fair Is Considered Financial Success

Although no definite figures are available as yet, since all bills have not yet been turned in, the Board of Directors of the Garrett County Agricultural Fair consider the recent fair a financial success.

H. G. Gortner, president, announced yesterday that receipts at the fair were more than $6,000. Expenses were particularly heavy also this year, but permanent buildings have been constructed, and permanent lighting necessities installed, that are valued at several thousand dollars.

Premiums paid amounted to $2,029.50. There were 244 exhibitors and there were 995 exhibits.

Fair dates for next year already have been set. The fair will be held August 11 to 16, the second full week of that month.

Mr. Gortner said that department superintendents would be called to attend a meeting in the near future to revise the premium list and plan improvements for next year's fair.

A complete financial report will be given in the near future.

7 Indictments Are Returned By Grand Jury

The Garrett County Grand Jury, concluding its deliberations Tuesday afternoon, shortly after 12 o'clock, returned seven indictments after examining twelve indictments. The jurors had been in session since Monday morning.

Two concerned assaults with intent to kill, one concerned burglary, one concerned larceny and receiving stolen goods, while there were indictments for rape, carnal knowledge and abduction. All but two traversers are either already in jail or under bond for their appearance in court on September 23.

Two indictments remain to be served, and are not as yet on the open docket, one for assault with intent to kill and one for burglary and receiving stolen goods.

The indictments:

Dale Swauger, rape.

Charles Stemple, Arlie Stemple, burglary.

Raymond Kelley, carnal knowledge and abduction.

State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt, also filed information concerning a bastardy charge against Harold Mason which will be set for trial this court term.

The grand jurors reported they had found the Garrett County Memorial hospital and the new county roads garage to be in excellent condition. They recommended all monies received into the County Commissioners' office be turned over to the treasurer at the end of each week, and also recommended that salaries of employees be paid on the 10th of each month following the close of the business month, instead of paying twenty days in advance as is done at present.

The complete report of the jurors follows:

To The Honorable,
The Judges of the Circuit Court
For Garrett County, Maryland.

Property Owners Named to Board

Approximately 200 persons were present at the fall meeting of the Property Owners association of Deep Creek Lake held in the Arden Boat barn on August 31.

Thomas Johnston and Earl Zepp were elected as new members of the Board of Directors while Mrs. Gomer Gibson, Miss Patricia Locke and W. S. Wysong were re-elected as board members. The board numbers fifteen, of which five are named each year. George W. Meyer is president, Mrs. Gibson, secretary, and J. E. Beck is president-elect.

Harold Elser of the department of research for the Fish and Game commission, showed a film on the rotenoning program in the lake last year and spoke to the group. Reports of various committees were heard.

Almost Half Inch of Rain Falls In Area

Almost one-half inch of rainfall fell on Garrett County during the week. Most of this fell on Tuesday, although there was a slight drizzle also on Monday.

For the balance of the week the nights were cool and the days warm, with yesterday being the warmest of the entire week.

The rainfall was not enough to raise the streams or end the drought-like conditions prevailing on the mountain top.

Church Women Meet

The Jennings United Lutheran Church Women met at the church on September 4 with ten members and one visitor present.

Mrs. Joe Resh, president, was in charge. Mrs. Kenneth Buckel was leader of the topic "We Look at Ourselves" which concerned the progress of the local group in the past year. Chairmen of each committee gave reports.

Mrs. Stewart Stahl will be leader of the October topic "Great Words of Our Faith."

present Annex zoned at public auction around April 1 1958 and to use proceeds to convert front portion of Annex building into modern offices for Board of Education and staff and formally approved naming two new elementary schools. Dennett Road Elementary school for the one in Oakland-Mt. Lake area, and one in Long Stretch area as "Route 40 School."

Discuss Transportation Cost

The increase in school bus transportation costs was discussed. The cost was $272,000 in 1955-56 and would cost an estimated $320,000 in 1957-58 Mr. Hawkins said this was due largely to increased pay for services rendered and was for increased cost of providing bus extension and better services.

During this time there has been no appreciable increase in number of pupils transported.

The board accepted the low bid of Nationwide Insurance agency for school bus insurance for this year and recommended to bus contractors that they individually be responsible for medical care insurance for their buses.

Due to enrollment increase, an additional teacher was authorized for Friendsville school. Paul Bailey, Grantsville teacher, being drafted into the army, Mrs. Betty Kolb was named as replacement.

Mr. Hawkins announced the planned paved areas for elementary schools was being held up since no one could be secured to do the work. He planned to go to Baltimore to purchase stage curtains for the two new elementary schools. He said the offer of $2,000 for land adjacent to the Bloomington school, had not been accepted by the owner.

The superintendent and board members plan to meet with Farm Bureau directors Wednesday, September 25.

Following adjournment the board inspected the old Annex building, the new elementary school on Dennett Road, visited the Swan Meadow school, now a two-teacher school for the first time, and went to Red House for a lunch in the school cafeteria.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"Phonus Bolognus"

While there was a considerable—and inevitable—saturation of presidential politics in the session of Congress just ended, it is perfectly clear that in the next session, which will convene in January—just four months off—this saturation will be greatly intensified. Hardly anyone in either party expects anything else, though it still will be more than two years before candidates for President and Vice President can be nominated.

For this intensification there are three outstanding reasons. One, of course, is that in November of 1958 there will be an intervening national election, in which the whole House membership and 32, or one third, of the Senate will be chosen. Though there will be no President then elected, the outcome, whatever it may be, is sure to have an effect upon the presidential election in 1960. It will settle which party controls Congress.

Also, it is almost sure to show what the politicians call a "trend." A second reason is that if the Republicans regain control it will help make their record and redeem them from the charge of futility. On the other hand, if the Democrats hold or increase their House and Senate majorities, it will enable them to frustrate the Administration and promote their prospects two years hence. The third "intensification" reason naturally is the presence in the Senate of more presidential aspirants than have been seen in a long time.

To mention a few, there are Vice President Nixon and Senator Knowland, who is retiring from the Senate to run for Governor of California as his first step toward the presidency on the Republican side. Among the Democrats there are Senator Kennedy, of, Massachusetts; Senator Johnson, of Texas, and others. There also are, as usual, several Democratic governors who, more or less secretly, cherish presidential aspirations. All of these in the next session will be keenly alive to the "trend" and naturally eager to take advantage of it—if it is in their direction.

In the meantime, perhaps the best indication of the quality and character of the Democratic strategy can be gathered from the Democratic Digest, sponsored by National Chairman Paul Butler, whose closest political friend is the embittered Mr. Adlai Stevenson. In his last campaign speech, it will be recalled, Mr. Stevenson in hushed and portentous tones, forecast the early death of his opponent. The mere thought of Mr. Nixon as President, he said, caused him to shudder. At the time this was considered a new low in campaigning, and certainly it did Mr. Stevenson no good either personally or politically.

It is interesting to note that while the ghoulish character of references to the President's health have ceased, now that he concededly is barred by constitutional amendment from running again, the personal abuse of him from the official committee source seems to have increased. For example, the Digest in its most recent issue and in a quite vicious article touching on his golf playing declared that Mr. Eisenhower was "a tragic figure of a man who would rather break 80 than be President." This of course, is a downright lie, not only in what it says but in its ugly implication. It is the sort of thing a President cannot dignity by denying—nor in competing. Yet this is the sort of thing sponsored by the $25,000 chairman of the Democratic party. The fact that Mr. Eisenhower is not, and cannot be, a candidate to succeed himself makes those responsible seem the more contemptible in that the only conceivable motive is to destroy the reputation and pull down the prestige of a decent man.

In another supporting publication a week or so ago, there were vehement attacks upon former Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey and former Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson, both of whom recently left Washington after distinguished service in the Eisenhower Cabinet, at great personal sacrifice. Obviously the whole idea behind this campaign of abuse is to lessen the value of the Eisenhower indorsement of candidates in 1958 and 1960. Perhaps this is good politics and will profit the Democratic candidates for national office in the forthcoming elections.

Perhaps if the positions of the two parties were reversed the Republican professionals would do the same thing. But the recent record does not show that they have resorted—or will—to quite such low-grade propaganda. Old Mr. Baruch had a name for it — "Phonus Bolognus."

Southern To Play Moorefield High

Local Gridders Lose First Game To Petersburg By 27-7 Score

Southern High gridders will attempt to win their first game of the season tomorrow afternoon on the local field when they meet the Moorefield High eleven at 1:30 o'clock.

Last year Moorefield lost only to Keyser, West Virginia state champions, has another strong team and is looking forward to another successful season.

Southern lost its first game of the season 27 to 7 against the Petersburg Vikings last Friday afternoon at Oakland.

Petersburg scored every period. Southern received the opening kick-off and drew penalties which placed the team on the 10 yard line. Two end runs of 20 and 50 yards by Terry Colaw and Don Mason put the ball on the Petersburg 15.

A pass interception by Bill Reynolds, who ran from his own 15 to Southern's 42 set up the first score. After two first downs they scored and ran the extra point.

Late in the second period Reynolds intercepted a pass on the 40 and covered that distance to the goal line for the second score. His pass to Harman for the point was good. Reynolds passed 20 yards to Fry for the third TD in the third period but Taylor missed the try for placement.

In the second period Wayne Callis received the ball on kickoff and lateraled to Mason who scampered for 50 yards and another Southern opportunity, but with the ball on the four yard line Mason injured his ankle and Southern lost the ball on downs.

In the final stanza Petersburg recovered a fumble on the Southern 21. A series of ground plays advanced the ball to the 4 from where Al Evans scored. Taylor's kick for the point was good.

Late in the game Douglas Bittinger recovered a fumble on Petersburg's 42-yard line. The Highlanders then began a drive featured by runs of 10 and 12 yards by Callis and a pass of 12 yards from Lester Bittinger to Don DeWitt, to the 5 yard line. Callis carried the ball the remaining distance. Callis ran the extra point for Southern.

Playing for Southern were D. DeWitt and Paugh at ends, McRobie and Murphy, tackles, Kelly and D. Friend at guards, Keplinger at center, Croker, D. Mason, T. Colaw and W. Callis in the backfield. Substitutes included Butler, Cerne, Troy, Michaels, D. Bittinger, L. Bittinger, C. Rhodes, A. DeWitt, Duling, C. Moreland, Bray, L. Martin and E. White.

By DICK TRAVIS

I pointed out in the first of this series of articles that until the White House Conference in 1905, the game of football depended mainly on power. Although power is still a great asset, the days of all back and no brains is a thing of the past. It is true that college coaches today look for powerful boys when recruiting players for their team, but they are little interested in a boy who cannot maintain an acceptable scholastic rating.

To be of much value to a team a boy must be intelligent enough to memorize and recall in a split second many things that are not apparent to the spectators.

He must also be able to make instant decisions to meet changing circumstances.

To illustrate this I will outline one of twenty-five plays used by an average high school team. Each play has a code number. The "play caller" has twenty seconds to select a play he thinks might gain against a certain defense, inform his teammates of the code number he selects, and put the ball in play. From this number every player must know his particular assignment.

Let's go with the boys into the huddle. The "play caller" will say, "Single wing right 31 on 1." As the team runs to the line of scrimmage each player is recalling exactly what he must do. He knows that the fullback is going to run the ball through a certain point or hole in the line. He remembers that he is shifted to the strong side and that the ball will be snapped on the count of 1.

He is also taught to realize that the execution of his assignment must not be a fraction of a second too fast or too slow if it is to be effective. He must also think about which foot to start on, which shoulder to use in blocking and other details make the difference between good players and an ordinary one.

On this particular play the assignment of each man is as follows: the right end blocks the linebacker to his right, the right tackle blocks the defensive guard by hitting him low while the left tackle blocks him high. The right guard and center take out the defensive right guard in the same manner. The center must also snap the ball to the fullback on the proper signal thus performing a double duty. The left guard will take one step back, cut to his right and block the left tackle who is coming through. The left end blocks the linebacker to his left. The right half will go through the line to block down field. The quarterback goes through the hole that is opened to run interfence for the fullback who follows and carries the ball. The left halfback will fake to his right then pivot left to block the incoming right end.

All of the above must be executed in a specified number of steps by each player, with exact timing, and with intelligent concentration on the exact spot contact with an opponent must be made.

The play described above was designed to be used against a 6-2-2-1 defense but if an opponent elects to change his defense to a 5-4-1-2 or some other pattern, the offensive assignments will be altered to meet the new situation.

I have given one play in detail to try to point out how complicated a single play is against one pattern of defense. Then if we consider the various types of defense and multiply the results by twenty-five or thirty different offensive plays we can begin to appreciate the fact that no one can be of much value to a team unless he at least has average intelligence.

Space will not permit me to develop this idea further, but I am sure you fans can recall many situations which quick thinking or the lack of it on the part of some player was the difference between a victory or a defeat and I believe that you will agree that "It Takes More Than Brawn."

Next week I will define some of the terms commonly used in football.

County 4-H girls are studying "Packing a Lunch Box" for the September lesson, Miss Johanna Magaha, assistant home demonstration agent, announced.

Making sandwiches using different fillings, wrapping the lunch items, and suggestions for a complete box lunch are a few of the sub-topics covered. Miss Magaha said the 4-Hers have concluded that it is necessary to give thought to the packing of the lunch box in order to include the full daily requirement of the basic 7. Miss Pat Shawley, Bittinger club member, has assisted Miss Magaha with the demonstration.

The North Star club met at the home of Karen Margroff, Accident, with Susan Bowman, president, in charge. The club planned a social event for the end of the month.

The Bittinger club met at the home of Florence and Helen Emory with Judy Buckel, president, in charge. The club discussed the summer activities and made plans for the October meeting.

Changes In Game Laws Proposed By Game Commission

Proposed new regulations for trout streams, ice fishing, fishing hours, and open seasons on game and fresh fish will be discussed at a public hearing, to be held in the Alexander hotel in Hagerstown on Friday evening, October 4, at 7:30 o'clock. The Game and Inland Fish commission will conduct the hearing.

It is proposed that a regulation approved by the Attorney General in 1955 be rescinded and substituted in lieu be the following.

"In conformance with Section 207 of Article 66C the following waters are hereby designated as Trout streams and may be fished only between 5:30 a. m., and 8 p. m. EST, and then only during the regular open season for the taking of trout: in Garrett county, Savage river, Salt block, and Youghiogheny watersheds, Glade run, Casselman river, north and south branches in the county, from its source to their junction and the Casselman river from said junction to a point 25 yards beyond the breast of Stanton's dam; White rock, Bear creek, Mill run, Muddy creek, Puzzley run, Schell Laurel run, Cherry creek (Deep Creek Lake) watersheds, Potomac river from mouth of Kempton Laurel run to West Virginia state line; Red run (code 40), Red run, Deep Creek Lake; Meadow Mountain, Millers, Bull Glade, Murley, Dunkard Lick, Buffalo Hoyes, Laurel, Sand and Piney run watersheds.

It is proposed that a regulation for trout in Deep Creek Lake, approved by the Attorney General be rescinded and substituted in lieu the following: "The hours only for fishing for trout as set forth in Section 207 of Article 66C shall not apply to the impounded fresh waters of Maryland over five acres."

Another proposal is that "it shall be lawful to fish through the ice during the lawful open season with not more than six tip-ups, bobs or hand-lines to each individual licensed fisherman, said tip-ups, bobs or lines to have not more than one hook per line at all times and be under the immediate control of the operator.

Blue Cross protection is basic to your budget planning
MOST parents dream of the day when they will stand with their sons and daughters on a university campus on graduation day. And most of them know, too, that it will take close budgeting and careful saving to make that dream come true. They realize that the unexpected can delay—yes, even cancel—their plans. That's why so many parents protect their planning by prepaying for hospital care by making Blue Cross an essential part of their budget.
The heart of Blue Cross is hospital care. That means flexible benefits to meet your individual hospital needs . . . not fixed dollar allowances. Blue Cross pays the member hospital directly for the services covered by your membership. No claims to fill out . . . no waiting for reimbursement. Simply show your Blue Cross membership card upon admission to any of the 40 Maryland Member Hospitals.
If you move from Maryland, remember, you may transfer your Blue Cross membership to the plan serving your new location. And when you travel, Blue Cross travels with you, providing protection away from home.
How do you join? Most people enroll where they work. Ask your employer, or call the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 12, 1957

Letter to the Editor

Mr. George H. Hanst, Editor
The Republican
Oakland, Maryland
Dear Mr. Hanst:

I was sorry to learn of a drowning in Deep Creek Lake last Sunday. I first heard of the drowning while at church with my family and was interested to read of some of the details in your paper.

Also, I read your editorial on the crowded water lanes on Deep Creek Lake with interest. I doubt if more regulations is the answer. I do not remember any drowning in the nine years we have spent our summer here that was caused by boat speed, young drivers, or enthusiastic skiers.

Courtesy is the remedy to safe boating- as it is with safe driving on our highways—or living in our homes. Courtesy can be taught through education and enforcing regulations now in existence. Safety rules should be taught and observed. Alcohol and water does not mix any better than gasoline and alcohol. Non-swimmers should wear preservers, not simply have one in the boat somewhere.

I do not believe regulations should be permitted to dampen the enjoyment of boating or skiing where other's person or property is not involved.

We have not experienced many of the discourtesies by boaters and skiers listed in your editorial—and our dock is in one of the livelier parts of the lake.

This has been the most pleasant summer we have ever had on the lake.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE McLAUGHLIN

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Some people who can identify the basic elements in the structure of the American economic system still do not understand why it produces three times as much material welfare for its people as the best of the Socialist "Welfare State" systems of Europe produce for their people and five times as much as the best of the Socialist-Communist systems produce for the 900 million people behind the Iron Curtain. They simply don't understand how the elements in our American system work. And yet we cannot protect it against the cunning Socialist and Communist undermining influences unless we do understand what makes the system work so perfectly.

The basic elements in the American economic system are: (1) Private ownership of property; (2) The profit motive; and (3) The competitive market. And the indispensable life-giving factor in each of these is: Freedom. They would be worthless and disappear without freedom. But how does this system, with its dynamo of freedom, bring about such unmatched production? There are five basic factors in the answer to this question.

Here they are: 1. Freedom to dream, to have ideas; (2) Freedom to compete with the dreamers or with other producers; (3) Screened management—screened through the hard school of competition, which demands the very highest managerial and productive efficiency; (4) High investment in tools; (5) Freedom of labor. All of these factors are interrelated, and each must be preserved if the others are to be maintained.

Freedom to dream is the only course through which we could draw upon all the brain power in the nation. And we need to draw on all the brain power we have. Who can pick the individuals who are going to make real contributions? No one can. Who would have picked Henry Ford? Who would have picked Thomas A. Edison? Our country allows and encourages every man to dream his dreams and set about to fulfill them.

Tom Edison did not appear to be a promising lad. When he was in school his teachers thought he was dull. His mother had to help teach him at home. Henry Ford was not thought to be outstanding at all, as a young man or as an employee. But each of these was a great man. Each, being free to dream, made his great contribution. There have been enough of these unique dreamers to make this a unique nation.

With freedom, the whole thinking and imagination of our more than 100 million adult Americans are channeled into the creative and productive forces that gives us our high living standard. Wherever minds and people are regimented, or the government controls the economic system, only a handful of "planners" create—and the great creative power of millions of people is lost.

Report of Recreation Committee Is Given

A report of limited success of a Recreation Planning committee set up by the town of Oakland in 1955 was made to the Mayor and Town Council at its regular meeting Monday night. The committee has not been active since the spring of 1956.

The report was prepared by Rev. Charles W. Carlson. After outlining the committee's efforts to have supervised play and various forms of recreational activity planned, with only slight success he concluded that more cooperation must be obtained from citizens if such a program is to be carried on successfully.

The report suggested two full time workers in the summer and a part-time yearly employe, and an active committee that could be used as a clearing ground for Pony League, Little League and other programs, if the project was to have any chance of success. The report indicated the members were not at all sure that such a program could be supported in this community.

At the time the committee was named the council appropriated $300 for its use. The report showed a balance on hand of $105.

The Mayor and Council took no action on the report or what would be done with the balance.

Nation-Wide Food Event Being Observed In Oakland Area

Local Grocers Join In Salute ToHomemakers

Food stores in the Oakland-Mt Lake Park area are cooperating this week with over 100,000 grocers who have joined forces to demonstrate dramatically their interest in pleasing American homemakers. Their program, which is named the "Food Store Spectacular," will take the form of gala, storewide promotions, scheduled from September 12-21, special newspaper advertising, and a nation-wide announcement through a special advertising section in the Saturday Evening Post's September 14th issue.

According to surveys, easy to prepare meals, quality food products, and convenient shopping are uppermost in American homemakers' minds. In recent months, another important consideration has been added to this list. Homemakers have become bored with drab, barn-like shopping and have stated that they want more glamorous, interesting shopping.

Combining all these prerequisites into one package to demonstrate their desire to cater to the homemaker is a mammoth undertaking for individual retailers. By joining forces and making the event a truly national undertaking, the grocers have succeeded in making their "Food Store Spectacular" the biggest individual nationwide shopping event for women. While this promotion will be the first promotion for this organization, this pledge of interest to please the homemakers will be renewed on a nation-wide basis each fall.

"Miracle Meals" and "Miracle Marketing" will be the major features of newspaper advertising, store decorations, and products featured in the individual stores.

Pleasing Customers

A national invitation to visit the promotion in your favorite food stores will be the lead page of the special advertising section of the Saturday Evening Post. Following this introduction will be page after page of the quality products featured in food stores. Each page of this section will be identified by a symbol spotlighting the theme of the promotion to set the section apart from other advertisements in the issue.

While it was the retailers themselves who conceived the idea for dramatizing their continual interest in pleasing customers, they have been wholeheartedly joined in their program by their local retail association, wholesalers and suppliers as well as the manufacturers.

Pledge of Cooperation

It is predicted that the "Food Store Spectacular" will be the biggest nationwide sales event ever scheduled by any industry. The plans, which have taken over two years to develop, include the providing of over 200 tons of colorful display materials which will make exciting, interesting shopping in the stores. Each participating food merchant has signified his enthusiasm by signing a pledge of cooperation with the promotion. Manufacturers have volunteered their cooperation through their advertising in the Saturday Evening Post, specially priced merchandise and even specially packaged products which feature the theme.

Special Interest

While homemakers are the special interest of food retailers all during the year, the promotion is designed to express jointly and in a community-wide manner their great interest in pleasing homemakers and providing them with the best at prices the newest in quality, easy to prepare products and the interesting, glamorous shopping they want. The Food Store Spectacular has developed into a genuine salute to American homemakers by an entire industry.

Modern Homemaker Gets The Most Out Of Grocery Dollar

Today's Housewife Buys Wisely, Prepares Carefully and Serves Tempting Miracle Meals Daily

Getting the most out of the money spent in the modern food store has become a challenge to the ingenuity of the American homemaker. The huge assortment of packaged products held at her fingertips tends to complicate, rather than simplify, her food buying. Fortunately for the family exchequer, most homemakers are excellent judges of value and keenly aware of the needs of their homemaking budgets.

Food shopping today is a family affair. The haphazard, dimly-lit grocery store of yesteryear has been replaced by the modern, well-stocked, easy-to-shop food stores which offer products to suit the tastes of every member of the family. The average American family now enjoys a menu variety which would have been impossible a few short years ago, and which surpasses that of any country in the world. And shopping together has become a family habit. During the POST NARGUS "Food Store Spectacular" the attention of families across the country will be focussed on the finest values that your grocer offers you. Let the whole family go shopping together for the "best in eating" from September 12th to 21st.

America Seen Eating Better Than Before

To help keep Americans the best fed and most healthy people in the world, the nation's retail grocers, according to the latest report, are supplying 261 billion pounds of food this year to 170 million people.

The retail food business is the biggest, fastest growing industry in America. In 1929 it had 723,407 employees and an annual sales volume of $10,837,400,000. It now has nearly 2,000,000 employees and a sales volume of over $48,000,000,000.

New Markets

An expected increase in population of 30,000,000 by 1975 will mean a vast demand for new people in the retail food industry to serve them. Over 2,500 markets will be opened in 1957 and thousands more will come into being in the next few years.

America can be proud of its food retailers who are utilizing the blessings of free enterprise to uplift themselves, give employment to their neighbors and fulfill their duty to fellow Americans.

"Individual Service"

Yes, our food retailers have established more than 300,000 privately owned food stores, using their own capital in building, expanding and continually modernizing these stores to meet the demands of a growing population and rising living costs. Their motto: individual service.

Better Meals

The per capita consumption of Americans is around 1,533 pounds of food annually. Although the number of pounds we consume remains quite steady, we've been making some real gains in nutrient value, as proteins, vitamins and minerals where improvement is needed. Within the last two decades per capita protein consumption is up 5 percent, calcium up 12 percent, iron up 19 percent and the B vitamins riboflavin, niacin and thiamine are up 24 to 40 percent.

Well Balanced Meals

Even though these health protective nutrients are consumed in larger quantities now, calorie consumption has not increased. The calories we eat today are richer in essential proteins, vitamins and minerals. The tremendous choice of foods at our neighborhood food stores make it easier for the homemaker to provide a variety of well-balanced meals.

Annually Americans as a nation consume 72 billion pounds of dairy products, 60 billion eggs, 33 billion pounds of meat, poultry and fish, 29 billion pounds of corn products, 7 billion pounds of citrus fruits and 34 billion pounds of fresh vegetables.

Crisp autumn weather cries for after-the-game buffets and backyard barbecues, but no matter the occasion, bite-sized, crunchy salted nuts add that necessary festive touch. And here's one snack-time favorite that needs neither cooking nor preparation. Whether at cocktail or TV time, at bridge parties, receptions or family dinners, open a vacuum-sealed can of "Nut Shelf" salted nuts and watch those crispy cashews, peanuts, almonds and pecans go hand in hand with the lively kind of table-talk that any hostess likes to hear.

Modern Packaging Is Aid to Shopping

Super-convenience in packaging represents one of the most revolutionary developments in the processing and distribution of food and grocery store products.

In addition to creating packages that afford protection against damage in shipping and handling and add glamour to products they'll be their own salespeople in self service stores, food companies are striving to build convenience into their packages as well as into their products.

Progress In Packaging

Progress in packaging is constant, from spray cans for whipped cream and squeeze bottles for mustard and catsup to collapsible metal tubes for jelly and cheese spreads. There are no-drip can pouring spout and sifter package measuring devices in or on packages, and two-portion packages within a package so that while one portion is being used the other portion will keep fresh.

Package sizes vary according to family needs, large economy ones for big families and multi-packs for small families and convenience.

To Catch the Eye

Manufacturers know that consumer purchases are influenced by eye-catching packages with attractive colors and interesting illustrations. They continually redesign their packages to obtain attention-arresting appeal and to provide helpful recipes and menu plans.

For Today's Consumers

The throw-away package is one of the revolutionary developments in packaging convenience. Cardboard milk containers, aluminum foil pie pans and many other kinds of disposable packages serve the convenience of today's consumer.

Keyed to Convenience

On the other hand there is the reusable package, such as the peanut butter jar and the jelly glass which can be used as tumblers, and the cheese dip consumer which becomes a sherbet or dessert dish, to say nothing of the cider jug with instructions for making a lamp.

Packaging today is keyed to the convenience of the homemaker.

City, Farm Wives Cut Kitchen Time

Only a decade ago the farmer's wife generally had hours a day at her stove and a mile was needed three hours to prepare her day's meals. Today the city wife can whistle up three good meals in a jiffy over an hour and a half, and a farm wife takes only 30 minutes longer.

Farmers, food processors, manufacturers and distributors have made this greatly improved, wonderfully convenient food basket possible by using science and inventions to increase efficiency and improve service to consumers.

Extra Time for the Lady

All these extra steps in food processing and preparation give women the extra time needed to respond to community demands to organize PTA groups to sponsor Girl Scout troops and act as "den" mothers for Cub Scouts.

It's been pointed out that the time the modern homemaker saves in her kitchen is not for leisure. She is raising a larger family with little help other than time-saving food products and mechanical equipment.

Simplicity Plus Variety

Women are marrying at a younger age, too, and their knowledge of cooking before marriage is limited. They want the easy and simple and refuse to tackle complicated recipes with a variety of ingredients.

But it isn't only working wives and young married women who demand new, timesaving products. Even those who've been homemaking for many years are changing their habits and adding the latest foods to simplify and vary meal preparation.

PEPPERMINT CHOCOLATE MACAROONS

Make Chocolate Coconut Macaroons as directed on package. Add one-fourth teaspoon peppermint flavoring to batter.

The largest advertising program in history spearheads the appearance of Wilson's B-V meat extract on the shelves of groceries around the country. The merchandising program plays up the many foods in which consumers can use B-V. The multiple-use application means greater variety of sales in meat, flour and other related items. Current advertising themes stress that "B-V adds the Finer Touch" to hamburgers, stews, soups, steaks and chops.

Buying, Cooking Economies Stretch Family Meat Dollars

The average meat department sells from 100 to 150 different meat items offering more variety and a wider price range than any other food. As a service to consumers, the National Association of Retail Grocers offers these economies in buying and cooking meats:

[illegible] the biggest [illegible] the most per pound for the most per serving.

[illegible] necessary, it is false economy to buy a lean steak or roast. If meat is too lean, moisture evaporates in cooking, leaving dry, over-cooked foods to crumble on carving. On the other hand, it isn't necessary to buy meat so fatty that it's wasteful. A muffora, covering or lean flecked somewhat with fat is best. That is necessary. Besides adding quality, fat adds flavor. So the flavor fancy cuts of meat are savory is the fat.

Good Buys

Although lower priced per pound, a piece of brisket is rich in flavor. After all, it's separated from the prime cuts by only a thin membrane in a bone. Even though it contains some bone, the cost per serving is low.

Short ribs of beef are another good buy. They may be cut from [illegible] and [illegible] are also cooked separately. Thick cuts make inexpensive pot roasts, and if they're cut from top quality beef and have a uniform covering of fat, they may be roasted. Steaks at [illegible] o'clock can be used as [illegible] steak.

Variety Meats

Homemakers [illegible] delighted [illegible] and [illegible] Great [illegible] meats [illegible] they [illegible] served in a variety of delicious ways. Liver, for example, may be sliced, broiled, fried or braised with vegetables and seasonings. Kidneys, sweetbreads, spaghetti and noodles [illegible] beef, lamb, veal, pork, kidneys, tongue and tripe [illegible] hearts. These meats are rich in complete proteins, the B vitamins and minerals. Liver is especially rich in iron and Vitamin A.

How To Cut Costs

Cost can be greatly reduced by cooking all meats at low temperatures, regardless of the cooking method used. Low temperatures mean less shrinkage and more servings per pound of meat. Tests show shrinkage is reduced from 20 to 25 per cent with low temperature cooking.

Shopping Tips

Remember a recipe [illegible] a purpose except that the homemaker handles all [illegible] short purchasing power of the budget, as well as [illegible] of the health of the family. Now and then she needs an efficiency expert and [illegible] does fairly well on the [illegible].

Shop Four Corners of The Earth in Your Local Food Store

You Can Find World's Finest Foods Displayed On Your Grocer's Shelf

When today's homemaker plans her menu and orders her food, she never thinks about geography and supply problems. She doesn't have to, because the world's harvest is available at her neighborhood food store. It's a miracle of our times. From the fields, gardens orchards and ranges of the world come the widest variety of nutritional values the bountiful earth can offer.

Everywhere in this country, all year round, the abundant yield of American soil, as well as food from other lands, is always available quickly, easily, immediately. Yet not so long ago the average American's food supply was limited in summer to what could be grown in the family garden and, in winter, to what could be canned in the heat of an August afternoon or stored in the cellar.

Miracle of Marketing

Today the lands of the Nile and the Mediterranean are as close as the food store's shelves. Brazil and all of South America are only a stretch of the arm to the right. Ceylon and the islands of the Orient are only a few steps down the aisle. The countries of Northern Europe are as close as the nearby display case. And, through modern methods of processing, the original goodness of the world's foods is preserved indefinitely.

The local grocer makes this miracle of marketing possible for 162 million Americans. He is the direct contact between us, the best fed people in the world, and the vast, worldwide system of supply and distribution that feeds us.

New and Different

A century ago, less than 100 food items were available in the average food store. In 1945 a good size grocery store stocked around 3,000 items. Now the figure is approaching 6,000 and it is still growing. About one-third of today's grocery department sales are on items which did not exist in 1945 or were there only in token quantities. Adding to this the products which have since been improved, about two-thirds of the present grocery store volume is on items which are new and different from those available a dozen years ago.

More and More Items

As the purchasing agent for a rapidly growing number of food and grocery products, the local retailer is finding his job to be one of the most exacting, demanding and difficult jobs on the American business scene. It's anticipated that the grocery store of 1967 will carry upwards of 10,000 items and that a large number of these will be new.

It's Hawaiian, it's different—quick, easy, different and adaptable to snacks, parties or outdoor cooking. It's an Hawaiian "chunkfurter." All you do is cut franks into inch-long sections, then string the sections on skewers with a Dole pineapple chunk between each section. Then cook over an outdoor barbecue or under the broiler. Entertaining the "Hawaiian way" has caught on around the country.

Cut a lengthwise slit in frankfurters—spread with grated horseradish, fill with narrow strips of Cheddar Cheese. Prepare dough with your favorite packaged roll mix. Let rise, then roll thin. Cut into thin strips, ½ inch wide, 10 inches long. Twist strips of dough around frankfurters as shown forming a "knot" on top. Place in baking pan to rise again at room temperature. Bake at 400°F. until well browned.

Bananas Are Boon

Most of us look upon bananas as just a pleasant fruit, but in certain parts of the tropical world they are a staple food among natives, and a diet consisting solely of this fruit will sustain life for a long period.

There was a time when bananas in this country were largely restricted to the lunch box, fruit bowls, or the breakfast table. But imaginative chefs, intrigued by the banana's delicate flavor, devised new uses, such as banana bread, banana as a vegetable, as an entree and as delicious desserts to delight anyone.

Food Industry Goes All Out To Save Time

Saving time is part of the American way of achieveing progress, and it was inevitable that the homemaker would be given her chance to benefit from the time-saving techniques developed by American ingenuity and inventiveness.

About a dozen years ago, the food industry seriously set to work to eliminate the "start-from-scratch' meal and emancipate the housewife from kitchen drudgery.

'Convenience Foods'

Today nearly 60 percent of the nation's 21 million employed women are married and depend upon "convenience" foods to help them with their meat preparation.

Among the recent "convenience" foods on the market which help the employed woman as well as the busy homemaker are liquid shortening, citrus crystals, a dehydrated product comparable in taste and nutrition to frozen concentrates; and superconcentrates, such as grape juice and apple juice, requiring no freezing.

Designed For Improvement

There are mixes for cream puffs and pizzas, frozen chocolate eclairs, frozen cheeseburgers, dried salad dressing, and nationality dishes—frozen and canned—like Enchiladas, Lasagna, Cantonese Dinner and Blintzes.

Most of the 300 new products that come to market each year offer additional convenience over the product they are designated to replace. Some are improvements of already existing products and others are brand new.

Thanks to the miracle of quick-frozen foods, Mrs. Menu-Maker can get extra meals on the table without spending hours in the kitchen. The week-end hostess might serve Birds Eye frozen chicken pies.

Herb Cookery Puts Spice In A Cook's Life

A wise Irish place said that you can judge the quality of a man's meal by the book she'll, and the quality of a woman's cooking by her spice shelf. The difference in two meals—each prepared with the same facilities—is often just the matter of seasoning.

And you don't have to know dozens to be a tasteful and successful cook. Simple care of your spices is easy to learn. Keep them in tightly covered jars so the "perfumes" of the various plants have less chance to escape. Make sure spice shelf is not near stove or in warm place. Your sense of smell will tell you when flavor is gone. If fragrance is not apparent when jar cap is removed it is time to invest a few cents in a new supply. Check your spice shelf at the start of every season. Here are some common herbs and their uses:

ALLSPICE—Used ground in baking, puddings, relishes and fruit preserves. Try adding a dash to tomato sauce.

BASIL—Important in tomato dishes. Use in cooked peas, squash and string beans. Sprinkle chopped basil leaves over lamb chops before cooking.

CARAWAY—Widely used in baking, especially rye bread. Good in sauerkraut, new cabbage noodles and cheese spreads. Sprinkle over cubed and French fried potatoes, on pork, liver and kidneys before cooking.

CAYENNE—Use small amounts in meats, sauces, fish and egg dishes. Touch of cayenne plus one-fourth teaspoon paprika added to butter makes an excellent sauce for vegetables.

CELERY SEED—Excellent in pickling, for salads fish, salad dressings and vegetables. Add celery seed to potato salad hot or cold.

CHILI POWDER—Basic seasoning for Mexican cooking. Good in shell fish and oyster cocktail sauces, barbecue sauces, scrambled eggs, stews. Try a dash in ground meat or hamburgers.

CORIANDER—Use whole for pickles, cookies, cakes, poultry stuffing and mixed green salads. Rub ground coriander on fresh pork before roasting.

CURRY POWDER—Use in sauce for eggs, vegetables, fish and shrimp, stuffed tomatoes, clam and fish chowders. Add 1 teaspoon to can of tomato soup.

DILL SEED—Used for pickling, in sauerkraut, salads, soups and green apple pie. Sprinkle on potato salad and cooked macaroni.

MACE—Use whole in fish sauces, pickling, preserving. Good in stewed cherries. Ground is essential in fine cakes, adds exotic flavor to all yellow cakes and chocolate dishes. Use 1 teaspoon ground mace to 1 pint of whipped cream to increase delicacy.

NUTMEG—Used ground in baked goods, sauces, puddings. Topping for custards, whipped cream. Sprinkle on cauliflower, spinach, fried bananas. Add a pinch to crust of a meat pie.

OREGANO—Good flavoring for pork dishes. Fine for beef stews, meat sauces, gravies, omelets. Sprinkle into meat sauce for spaghetti.

PAPRIKA—Colorful garnish for pale foods. Aids in browning of meats, chicken and fish. Mix paprika with cream cheese and celery seed as excellent spread for canapes.

ROSEMARY—Use in lamb dishes, in soups and stews. Add a sprig of rosemary to boiled potatoes in the early stages of cooking.

SAGE—Excellent with pork, for stuffings. Ish Season Manhattan Clam Chower with sage.

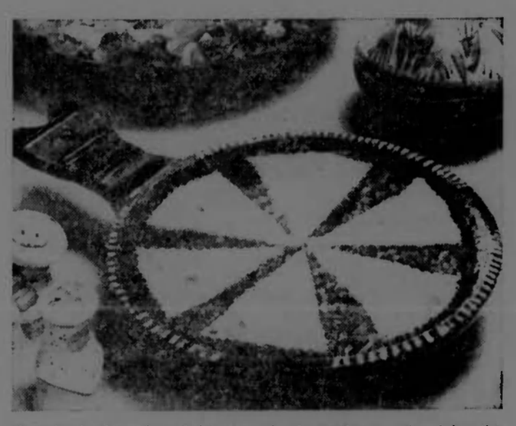
SAFFRON—Adds golden color and delicious flavor to rice. Used widely in rice-chicken dishes in Spain.

SESAME—A rich toasted-nut flavor when baked on rolls, breads and buns. Principal ingredient in Oriental candy.

TARRAGON—Used in sauces, salads, chicken, meats, egg and tomato dishes. Sprinkle on broiled chicken while hot and just before serving.

THYME—Used in cream sauces, on poultry, dressing. Thyme and fresh tomatoes go together well. Sprinkle over sliced tomatoes and serve with French dressing.

Fall is a beautiful time of the year when the countryside is a festival of color. So, take a tip from nature in planning colorful meals. America's favorite Ritz Crackers can help. They are perfectly wonderful with soups, salads, beverages, cheese or fruit. You'll enjoy their rich, delicious flavor and oven-fresh crispness. They'll add the final fillup to all your miracle meals.



If you're in the swing of things on the dance floor, you're doing the "cha-cha-cha"; and if you're in the swing of things in the kitchen, you're baking the "cha-cha-cha." For "cha-cha-ha" is the name of a new bean and meat pie that's certain to be a flavor hit.

Pan fry biscuits? Of course you can. Start with refrigerated biscuits, buttermilk or homestyle. Place biscuits in heated frying pan lightly coated with butter, cover and bake over low heat. Bake for three minutes on one side until golden brown, turn and bake three minutes more. Bring them to the table hot from the skillet, crusty brown on the outside and fluffy light beneath the tasty crust.

Rah! Rah! Sis boom bah! Football season is here again! After a session of cheering at the stadium the crowd is more than ready to accept an invitation to eat. Invite them over to your house and make it a real party by serving Penny Frank Pancakes. Take a package of your favorite pancake mix from the kitchen shelf and shake the ingredients in a shaker or quart glass jar. Just before pouring the batter, cluster four or five frankforter circles on the griddle for the center of each pancake. Stack the pancakes and serve with a tangy barbecue sauce—and presto, Penny Frank Pancakes.

Modern Miss Makes Career Out of Job of Homemaking

Four out of five girls who graduate from high school this year will be married within four years. Today, more than ever before, in the midst of the world's uncertainties a young woman desires the security and satisfaction offered by "a home of my own."

She wants to create the best possible environment for her husband and children. But she cannot do that alone. She needs help. And it is with her biggest homemaking job—keeping the family well-fed and happy by planning and cooking 1,095 meals a year—that she needs the most help.

Tested Recipes

Perhaps this is the best explanation why Betty Crocker's Home Service Department at the General Mills headquarters building at Minneapolis has undergone a transformation during the last 30 years. Early in the 1920's the company hired one young home economist and set aside a small space where she could test recipes for home use. Today there are five modern efficient kitchens and a staff of 45 to carefully test and retest every Betty Crocker recipe and to reply to the hundreds of letters received every day.

Uniform Quality

From 18 mills—north, south, east and west— come samples of flour to be tested. With each sample, loaves of bread and layers of cake are baked, then scored, to be sure of uniform quality. If a sample from any mill is not up to standard, the necessary improvements must be made before any more flour is accepted from that mill.

Product Specialists

All the Betty Crocker mix products, too, are regularly tested for quality. Each product has a specialist—a home economist called a product counselor who works constantly to develop new recipes as well as ideas for easier methods and shortcuts in cooking.

Pictures In Color

Each kitchen in the Home Service Department serves a particular purpose. Behind closed doors in "Experimental Kitchen" hundreds of tests are completed on new foods, new mixes and new recipe methods. In "Kamera Kitchen" foods are prepared to have their picture taken for beautiful color photographs that appear in national magaines. Here, the finishing touches in frosting swirls are added to cakes by true artists in the culinary fields.

Luncheon Scene

A sunny yellow Terrace Kitchen leads into a charming Early American Dining Room—an important room in the Home Service Department. This atmospheric dining area is the scene of luncheons for the General Mills' Board of Directors and many a presentation of a new Betty Crocker mix product. The dark maple panelling and the antique cooking utensils on the spacious stone hearth also find favor with the thousands of guests who visit each month.

"Kitchen Tested"

In addition to the activities of this busy department in Minneapolis, General Mills has thousands of "home testers" across the country. This cross section of housewives bakes and passes on every recipe, product and food idea before it can have the Betty Crocker "kitchen-tested" seal of perfection.

Symbol Of Service

The young bride who is faced with her very first meal, the disappointed homemaker with a "runny" pie filling, even the bachelor who wishes to attempt biscuits "like Mom used to bake"—all find answers to their problems through the research and testing of General Mills Home Service Department which offers Betty Crocker service to thousands upon thousands of homemakers.

Irradiation Helps Keep Foods Fresh

The potato's "sprouting" days are numbered. It won't even be able to shrivel up and turn black. Atomic radiation is making it possible to store potatoes at optimum temperatures for long periods without any feathery green stuff turning the potato bin into a planter.

Potatoes and onions will be among the first irradiated foods on the market. Then later may come irradiated pork, shrimp, salmon, rolls, bread, peas, broccoli, cauliflower, asparagus, beans and peaches. Most of these foods will have to be stored in the refrigerator, but they will keep indefinitely.

Irradiated foods are expected to supplement, not replace, canned, processed and frozen foods.

And that's not all science is up to these days. The wonder drugs that cure diseases are now being used to check spoilage of foods by preventing the growth of bacteria. Among the first perishables that will be treated with aureomycin or another antibiotic so they'll last for days and days are fish, poultry, meat and some fruits and vegetables.

Solving Mystery Of Food Prices

Since 1952, the peak year of food prices, about two-thirds of the drop in raw farm food prices has been passed along to consumers, according to a Department of Agriculture analysis of the market basket of farm foods.

Increased costs of wages, transportation and taxes, which raised the costs of processing and distribution, account for the remaining one-third of the "price spread"—the difference between retail food prices and the prices of raw farm products—with no increase in net profits for processors and distributors after income taxes.

Increasing Food Volume

Actually the food processor's profits have dropped 3 percent below the 1947-49 level, and the same is true of food wholesalers and retailers whose profits on investment have dropped about 7 percent, according to the latest available statistics.

Calculated on the consumer's dollar, the food processor's average net profit return is about 2 cents, the distributor's about 1 cent, which brings their combined average total net profit to approximately 3 cents of the consumer's food dollar—a 50 percent shrinkage since 1939 when their combined profit was 6 cents of the consumers dollar. Marketing firms are depending on increased volume of foods sales to keep profits from further shrinkage.

Provides Employment

The "price spread" has come into being because of many valuable services to be performed between farm and table. It costs about $28 billion to transfer the food products from the farms to the American family's dinner table. Without "spread" all segments of the food industry, including the farmer, would be out of business. Bread would be wheat on a Kansas farm, cheese, and butter would be milk in a pail in Wisconsin, and breakfast juice would be on the trees in a Florida or California orange grove.

In America today, between 80 percent and 85 percent of the food bought by consumers at retail is processed in some form or other.

"Spread" has a positive economic effect since it provides employment directly for at least five million workers in the food and food transportation industries and indirectly to several million more in supplier industries. It also helps build markets.

Charge to Grand Jurors Delivered By Judge Fraley

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley delivered the charge to the September term of grand jurors as they assembled at the Court House in Oakland on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

He gave his usual explanation of the duties of the jurors after which the jurors retired to begin their deliberations and investigation of alleged infractions of the statutes.

Members of the Grand Jury:

You have been chosen in the manner prescribed by law, to serve as Grand Jurors for the September Term, 1957, in the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Perhaps some of you have heretofore served on the Grand Jury and therefore have knowledge of the procedure followed in the performance of your duties. Others of you may be serving for the first time and their service will be a new experience for them.

It is customary and proper for the Court to instruct you briefly as to your duties and responsibilities as such Jurors.

The jury system as it is in effect today was brought here by our forefathers and was patterned after the English system. It has proved to be the best method yet devised in the administration of justice.

A Grand Jury is an investigating body and has very broad power and authority to investigate and inquire into alleged violations of the criminal laws of the State. Most of the cases that will be brought to your attention will be ones that the law enforcement officers of the County have already investigated. The State's Attorney will present these cases to you and you will hear the testimony of the witnesses that the State intends to produce against the accused. It is your duty to decide if the charge is supported by sufficient evidence to warrant the finding of an indictment and that the accused shall stand trial before a petit jury or the Court.

It may seem to you that it should be unnecessary to go through the procedure of hearing testimony, presentment and indictment before the person accused is actually called to trial, but the fact is that over a period of several centuries the common judgment of the people of this State has been that the requirement that the Grand Jury should be convinced of the reasonableness of a charge before anyone shall be brought to trial is a valuable safeguard of the liberty of the citizen. By recent enactments of the Legislature, a person arrested and charged with the commission of a criminal offense, may waive indictment by the Grand Jury and also waive his right to a trial by jury and ask that the charge against him be heard promptly by the Court. In such cases the State's Attorney prepares an information and the accused is brought before the Court and his case disposed of promptly. This procedure has materially reduced the number of cases to be heard by the Grand Jury and also has resulted in considerable savings to the County.

Your function is a double one. It is to indict and thus bring to trial, persons whom you suspect of having committed a criminal offense and on the other hand to refuse to indict where the evidence is so slight and unconvincing that you feel such persons should not be brought to trial. Indeed, the oath which you have just taken requires that you "shall diligently inquire and true presentment make of all such matters which may come before you and that you shall present no person through envy, hatred or malice nor leave anyone unpresented through love, fear, favor or affection, or for any hope or promise of reward."

It is necessary for twelve of your members to vote in favor of finding an indictment. An affirmative vote of a mere majority of your members present will not be sufficient to sustain an indictment. When you vote, nobody except the Grand Jurors may be in the room.

Your proceedings must be absolutely secret. No disclosures of any kind are to be made concerning your deliberations or how individual members of the jury voted with respect to any charge considered by your body, unless you are directed by the Court to make any such disclosures.

While testimony is being produced before you, the only persons allowed in the Grand Jury room besides your own members, are the State's Attorney and the witness testifying before you.

As I have said, the State's Attorney will present most of the cases for your consideration. However, if any individual juror has knowledge of a criminal offense that has not been brought to your attention by the enforcement officers, it is the duty of such juror to disclose such information.

I think every citizen of our County can be justifiably proud of our progress and we all wish it to continue. However, enforcement of the criminal laws is extremely important and it is incumbent upon the enforcement officers to ever be alert in bringing to justice those guilty of vidating our criminal statutes and the Grand Jury plays an important part in maintaining law and order in the community.

It is the responsibility and duty of the County Commissioners of the County to see that the public buildings owned by the County are properly maintained. It is the custom for the Grand Jury to inspect these properties and make such recommendations as seem proper and desirable. You will be furnished with a copy of the March Term Grand Jury report and you should investigate to learn whether or not its recommendations have been carried out.

The State's Attorney, Sheriff and other officers will be available at all times during your sessions to assist you in the performance of your duties. It is, of course, desirable that your work be completed as promptly as possible, but you should not sacrifice thoroughness for the sake of brevity.

The Clerk will now swear the bailiff, who will conduct you to the Grand Jury room.

Ashby and Sollars Wedding Solemnized

Miss Patricia Ann Sollars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sollars, Deer Park, became the bride of Harry Shaler Ashby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashby, Terra Alta, on Saturday, August 10. The Rev. Donald Jackson performed the double ring ceremony in St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland.

A program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Merritt Feather. William McKone, Piedmont, uncle of the bride, was soloist. Yellow gladioli and branched candelabra decorated the altar.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a ballerina length gown of misty nylon tulle and Alencon lace. The skirt had tiered ruffles in the back and front panels of lace matching the fitted bodice. A fingertip veil fell from a seed pearl crown and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid tied with satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Attendants were Mrs. Clyde McNemar, Alliance, O., matron of honor; Miss Dianna Zinger, Cleveland, and Miss Mary Helen Sollars, sister of the bride, as bridesmaids; James White, Terra Alta, best man; William Clatterbuck, Deer Park; Murell Metheny, Terra Alta; and Edward Sollars, Alliance, brother of the bride, ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashby spent a honeymoon in Canada and are residing in Cleveland.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 34:23-31.

The Pastor

Lesson for September 15, 1957

A POPULAR name for the minister of a Protestant church in America is "Preacher." It is an unfortunate title, because it suggests that the minister's job is all talk. People by the thousands think of their minister as only a preacher, and it must be admitted that some "preachers" are that and nothing else. But talking for half an hour a week isn't the main job he has, there is something else that (if he works at it) takes up far more time. It is being a pastor. In churches with a paid ministry, the minister's salary is not payment for services rendered, for if he does render a pastor's service, what he does cannot possibly be measured in money. His salary is a subsidy enabling him to resign all other work and spend all his working days at being a pastor.

Dr. Foreman

What Is a Pastor?

Most people don't realize that the word "pastor" was originally a figure of speech; it comes from the Latin word for shepherd. Like all figures of speech, this one does not tell the whole truth, but it is very useful. The prophet Ezekiel was called a pastor or shepherd, so is Timothy in the New Testament. In one of Jesus' last interviews with Peter, that apostle was commanded: "Feed my sheep." Jesus, in fact, spoke of himself as the Good Shepherd, and in the 23rd Psalm the words are familiar, "The Lord is my Shepherd." Both Roman Catholic and Protestant churches think highly of the pastor and constantly seek better ones. Much time and expense is devoted to their training. Saint Paul (Eph. 4:11) mentions being a pastor as a special divine gift, distinct from that of the evangelist or the teacher,—though indeed some men have more gifts than one.

Leading

There is nothing strange about a minister not having a congregation. For there are various forms of the Christian ministry, including teaching, editorial writing, executive work. But the pastor carries the main responsibility of the church, and a pastor without a congregation is a contradiction in terms; he would be like a store keeper without a store, a pilot who never flies a plane, a father without a child. In the days when the word shepherd was first used of God's servants, as for example of the prophet Ezekiel, it brought definite ideas to people's minds, for shepherds were a common sight in that time and place. These ideas are as true as ever they were. One of them is that the shepherd leads the sheep. There were no neatly fenced pastures in that country; each shepherd led his flock by the creeksides, to places where he knew there would be some water left (for the creeks were often dry) and some green grass. Without the shepherd to lead them, sheep would simply starve. So today a pastor leads his people; a man without leadership capacity is just not made for a pastor. He leads their minds, he leads their hearts. A good pastor is not a dictator, he leads by inspiring his people, not intimidating.

Feeding

The other main service a shepherd would do for his flock was to feed them. So the pastor of a congregation is expected to feed his flock. Not their bodies, not primarily their minds; but their hearts and lives as a whole. That is why we expect a pastor to study the Bible more deeply than we in the pews have time to do; that is why we expect him to read more widely in Christian books and magazines than the rest of us can. That is why we have a right to expect that a pastor shall have a deeper experience, and a greater wisdom on the whole, than the average church members. We want him to interpret God for us. That is why being a good pastor takes all a man's time. The pastor must mingle with his people so as to know what they need; but he must be out in front of his people in order to be able to give them what they need. If Ezekiel the prophet had been no closer to God than the people to whom he was a shepherd, he would have had nothing to give. Without a pastor, many souls will starve.

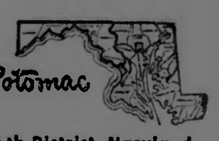
Along The Potomac



Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The purpose of my Concurrent Resolution, adopted on the final day of the first session, is to take a bird's-eye view of the growth and expansion problems of the Nation's Capital as they effect the District of Columbia and the surrounding counties in Maryland and Virginia. Once this view is obtained, it is hoped that the various jurisdictional difficulties can be adjusted so that the balanced needs of the same urban and suburban populations for water and sewers, streets and tranportation, houses, schools, parks and hospitals can be met.

It must be borne in mind that this is just a study. It cannot directly implement its recommendations. And, if it is to be successful, the cooperation of the governing bodies in the several jurisdictions is essential. I have no doubt that this will be forthcoming. The final report should aid in clarifying the problems confronting the Washington metropolitan area and help bring about their solution.

I have introduced a bill which, if enacted, would authorize the use of appropriated funds for the purchase of additional land for the Antietam battlefield. Under present law only donated funds may be used for this purpose.

The Department of Agriculture has informed me that an emergency loan area has been declared which includes Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery Counties. Farmers in these four counties who have had losses due to the drought and are unable to obtain local credit may qualify for these loans. Applications may be made at the local County offices of the Farmers Home Administration.

I know that many in the 6th Maryland District share my disappointment in the failure of Congressional leadership to permit the members to vote on a number of important bills last session. Such bills include the measure which would have given increased annuities to retired Federal and railroad workers and permit the Civil Service Commission to take over the insurance policies of the remaining members of the Federal employee beneficial associations.

Plan Air Raid Drill On September 18th

A state wide air raid drill will be held on Wednesday, September 18, to highlight the observance of Civil Defense week, September 15 to 21. A proclamation by Governor McKeldin has made the week's designation official for the state.

There will be an alert signal at 6:15 p. m., followed by another signal at 6:45 when persons are expected to take cover. The all clear will be given at 6:50.

Fred Tichnell, county civil defense director, said that the county civil defense wardens would assume their stations during the alert, but that there would be no general observance in this end of the state.

Maryland schools are being asked to conduct civil defense drills on Friday, September 20.

State's east section got rainfall of four inches.

Cleveland, Ohio
No. 4770 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states:

That on the 5th day of November, 1921, he was married to the defendant, Iva Lena Schroyer, near Selbysport, Garrett County, Maryland by Rev. Calvin R. Wolfe, a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 1st day of September, 1944, at which time the said Iva Lena Schroyer deserted the said plaintiff while they were residing in Garrett County, Maryland; that although the conduct of the plaintiff towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Iva Lena Schroyer, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that twelve children were born of said marriage, nine of whom are now living, and one of whom is not married and under the age of twenty-one years, namely: Lavanne Schroyer, age seventeen years; that the plaintiff is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in this County and State for more than two years prior to filing of this bill of complaint while the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and her address is: 6909 Lexington Avenue c-o Mrs. Sherman Kidd, Cleveland, Ohio.

It is thereupon this 21st day of August, 1957, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 13th day of September, 1957, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 28th day of September, 1957, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

duty to society in insisting on the enforcement of the Law. In our action in each instance, we have had due regard for the rights of the citizen.

Acting in accordance with the instructions given us by His Honor Judge Neil C. Fraley, we have inspected the sheriff's residence and jail, the court house, the treasurer's office and books, the hospital and the new county roads garage.

In our inspection of the jail and the sheriff's residence we find them to be in excellent condition except the second floor should be painted, in particular the women's quarters. We recommend that a hopper type stoker be installed and also removal of trees near the sheriff's residence.

After our inspection in the court house we recommend the following:

(1) That the partition in the Assessor's office be removed.

(2) That the old toilet facilities in the court house be replaced.

(3) That the record room under the treasurer's office be completed as soon as possible.

We find the Garrett County Memorial hospital to be in excellent condition and desire to commend the personnel.

We find the new county roads garage to be in excellent condition and we recommend that the suggestion of the March Grand Jury, 1957, concerning the ceiling increase on the purchase of the roads machinery and equipment be further pursued.

We recommend that all monies received into the county commissioners office be turned over to the treasurer at the end of each week and if monies are to be held the treasurer to be so instructed.

We recommend that employees' salaries be paid on the 10th of each month following the close of the business month, instead of paying twenty days in advance as is done now.

We desire to express to His Honor Neil C. Fraley, our thanks and appreciation for his courtesy extended us during our term.

We also wish to thank Sheriff James Frantz; Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Court, the State Police and the constables for Garrett County, Maryland, for their cooperation and assistance to us during our deliberations. It is our opinion that the law enforcement officers have performed their duties in a very commendable manner.

And we lastly wish to express our thanks to Mr. Stephen R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney for Garrett County, for his advice and cooperation as an adviser to this Grand Jury and his able manner in conducting his affairs before us is greatly appreciated, and also we wish to thank Lester White, deputy clerk, and Mr. Charles F. Hammond for their able assistance during our deliberations.

Respectfully submitted.

Council Opposes Proposed Increase In Telephone Rate

The Mayor and City Council of Oakland, expressed its disapproval of the proposed increase in the rates of the C. and P. Telephone company at its regular meeting on Monday night.

It requested Lewis R. Jones, city attorney, to write a letter to the Public Service commission, expressing its disapproval.

The proposal for a new wider-range telephone service, with an increase in the basic monthly telephone rates, was presented to the Public Service commission by the company in August. The company proposed to add to the free calling area the exchanges of Accident, Bittinger, Friendsville and Kitzmiller and under the plan people of Oakland also would be able to call Garmania, Accident, Bittinger, Friendsville, Kitzmiller and Oakland telephones with no toll charges.

To Settle Group Insurance

The problem of group insurance for the town's employes is to be decided at a special meeting of three councilmen and three employes, set for Monday evening, September 23. The employes appeared before the council Monday for some decision.

Through The Haze . . .

Through the years we have been grateful and appreciative of the work and efforts of grand juries. During the two times that I was called to serve in that capacity it was apparent that some people who appear before the grand jury to give evidence, did so with no thought of telling the truth or sticking closely to the facts.

But by questioning the witnesses closely it was never too difficult for jurors to discover a person's intentions, and usually when the truth was being stretched the grand jurors seemed to know.

Within past years people have tried to use the grand jury as a political tool. This was not successful and the jurors themselves condemned such an attempt in their written report last year. People are still trying.

But as long as the twenty-three grand jurors carry out their sworn duty to "indict and bring to trial persons suspected of having committed a criminal offense, and on the other hand to refuse to indict where the evidence is slight and unconvincing," then justice surely will be done. The oath which grand jurors take requires that they "shall diligently inquire and true presentment make of all such matters which may come before them and that they shall present no person through envy, hatred or malice nor leave anyone unpresented through love, fear, favor or affection, or for any hope or promise of reward."

With this as their guide grand juries usually can wade through all sorts of fog and haze. We are mighty glad that they can and do.

Plant Employes Fined; Fail To Leave Premises

Had Been Ordered To Leave After Refusal To Work

Fifteen employes of the Sterling Processing company were found guilty by Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend yesterday of remaining upon the company's land after they had been ordered to leave, following a work "sit-down." He assessed fines of $25 and costs against each one but suspended the fines. Warrants had been issued for three others which were unable to be served by Sheriff James E. Frantz.

The women, through their attorney W. Dwight Stover, took an appeal on the case and were released upon their own recognizance for their appearance in the Circuit court when ordered to do so. The case was not expected to come up at this term of court. They all had entered pleas of not guilty.

Warrants were served on Nellie Sell, Betty Severe, Beatrice Butcher Crosco, Anna Matthews, Jean Hartley, Flora Burton, Phyllis Bowser, Margaret Arnold, Eva Sell, Vera Arnold, Janet Reams, Joanne Shahan, Velma Arnold, Virginia Bowman and Madeline Gordon.

The fifteen were specifically charged with on September 14 remaining "upon the land, premises, property and buildings under legal control of the employer after notice to leave had been given by Earl Wise, authorized agent. The purpose and effect of the refusal to leave being to deprive such employer of substantial possession, control and use of such land, premises, property and buildings, such refusal being not under bona fide claim of right of ownership of such land, etc."

Earl Wise, production manager, testified that 21,000 chickens had been received that morning and that eighteen women had refused to go to work because a supervisor had been dismissed. He testified he had ordered them to either go to work or leave and that they did not leave at the time.

He said that as a result of the women not being at their stations after production started that some 300 to 400 chickens passed a particular area where entrails normally were removed without this part of the operation being performed, and that as a result the chickens had to be removed from the assembly line and salvaged later at a loss of some 30 to 35 percent.

Later the women left the plant and came to Oakland to make a telephone call to Marvin Beitzel, who had been removed as a supervisor there and about which the women objected. The women said they liked to work for Mr. Beitzel and that they might not like a new man.

Mrs. Burton said she heard no orders to start to work that morning and did not hear anyone ordered to leave the plant. Mrs. Crosco and Miss Vera Arnold testified in a similar manner. They claimed they did not intend to take control of the plant at any time.

Testimony showed the women again returned to the plant about 8 o'clock and were ready to return to work, but they were refused admittance by Mr. Wise.

Over sixty women are employed at the Processing plant and the balance of the women remained at their work and completed the production work for that day.

Stover Resigns As Attorney To Board

W. Dwight Stover has resigned his appointment as attorney to the Board of County Commissioners, effective September 30, it was announced Monday by H. D. Swartzentruber, president.

Stover, in his letter to the board, said the resignation was due to the press of other business and his lack of time to devote to the office.

Meeting in regular session on Tuesday the Board appointed Lewis R. Jones to succeed Mr. Stover.

Stover had been attorney to the board since the new members took office in December, 1954. Mr. Jones is a native Garrett countian, and after being graduated from the University of Maryland law school in 1939, was admitted to practice law in Maryland courts of that year. He has practiced law in this county since that time with the exception of three years' service with U. S. Coast Guard, 1942 to 1945. He is a past president of the Garrett County Bar association.

Man Is Fined $200 For Manslaughter

Raymond Joseph Wempe, 28, of Cumberland, who pleaded guilty to charges of manslaughter and reckless driving before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend on Monday morning, was fined $200 and costs on the fust charge and $25 and costs on the second.

Mr. Wempe had been hospitalized until recently following a fatal accident on May 18 on U. S. route 40 near Keyser Ridge.

Mrs. Patricia Trenton, 29, of Cumberland, was killed in the wreck and a daughter, Cynthia, 10, sustained a fractured pelvis and head injuries. Wempe sustained chest injuries and was hospitalized in the Meyersdale hospital.

According to Cpl. Samuel Conrad, of the State Police, who assisted in the investigation, Mr. Wempe attempted to negotiate a left turn bnt the vehicle went out of control on the wet highway. It careened across the road and struck two trees.

Magistrate Friend said that all bills incident to the mishap had been paid by the insurance company.

Rain Ends Drought But Water Supply Is Not Improved

The fairly long summer drought was broken last Friday and Saturday with soaking rains but up to the present time there had been no appreciable improvement in the water supply in the Oakland area.

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland are declaring this week that the water situation is still not good, that there is enough for normal consumption but that no additional water has reached the deep wells yet, so that restrictions on lawn sprinkling and car washing are still in effect.

R. E. Weber, official weather observer, south of town, said a total of 1.59 inches of rain fell in the county during the week, and that it was worth thousands of dollars to dairymen whose pastures had just about dried up. He said the topsoil had a good soaking and pastures should rebound nicely if cold weather did not come too soon.

There was some additional rain on Sunday morning but the balance of the week has been hazy with slight clearing at times.

Piano And Organ Concert Scheduled

Peter Lukas, concert pianist, of Cumberland, will present his first piano and organ concert of the season at Southern High school in Oakland on Friday evening, September 27, at 8:30 o'clock.

During the war he was a member of an underground organization against Germany, was captured and spent 13 months in a German concentration camp, being liberated by General Patton's army. His parents died in a concentration camp.

When Communists began taking over Czechoslovakia he left for Paris and in 1948 sailed for New York where he composed music under contract with Columbia pictures. The picture, "A Voice Is Born," has music of Mr. Lukas in the background. He also did piano and organ work on radio. He worked for the Department of Defense as a special counselor in Washington for eighteen months. He speaks eight languages.

He came to Western Maryland with a new industry, married a Frostburg girl and they are the parents of a daughter. Mr. Lukas is employed by Seifert's Furniture and Piano store and teaches piano and organ in the area.

Seventy-four percent of the 1957 taxes of the county, or a total of $167,385.63 has been collected by Joseph H. Welch, county treasurer, up to Monday of this week, he reported yesterday.

This compares favorably with other years.

The discount period for payment of county taxes ended June 30, and since that time the full amount of taxes was collected from all who paid. But Mr. Welch reminded taxpayers that interest will begin October 1 on all unpaid taxes at the rate of one half percent per month. He also reminded the taxpayers that all 1957 taxes must be paid in full by April 1, 1958, to fulfill the present law, or properties upon which taxes are owing will be offered for sale.

Survey of Shelter and Food Made For War Emergency

In case of a war emergency, Garrett county could offer 1,882 basements for temporary shelter for refugees from strategic areas, and would be able to feed people at the rate of 33,620 per hour if sufficient foodstuff was avaliable.

These figures were made known this week following the completion of a survey conducted by the County Assessor office for the western area coordinator of the Maryland Survival project for Civilian Defense.

The survey included most of the dwellings of the county, all the churches, schools, restaurants, fire companies and public buildings.

Population of the county was listed at 21,259, based on the 1950 census.

The assessors reported they tabulated 3,487 dwellings with 1,137 extra units, and that 1,882 of them had basements with a square footage of 1,662,531. The largest group was in Oakland where 565 or 857 homes had basements, Grantsville had 214 basements in 307 houses, Friendsville had 79 in 211, Accident, 142 of 192; Red House, 118 of 176; Deer Park, 82 of 241; Kitzmiller 54 of 101; Mt. Lake Park, 213 of 401.

Seventy-three churches were listed in the county, forty of them having basements. There was no churches in district 11. There were nine in district 2, 12 in district 3, 15 in district 7 and 14 which includes Oakland, 9 in district 8 and 6 in district 16. Of the total number 58 were frame construction, 6 were brick, 3 were stone, 4 were block, while there was one each of log and stucco.

Forty-seven restaurants were listed, capable of feeding 33,620 people per hour, providing there was sufficient food available. Fourteen of the restaurants were in districts 7 and 14, while there were nine in district 3 and 5 in district 8.

There were thirty-three public buildings, 29 schools and 8 fire companies.

This information will be used by civilian defense to determine how efficiently refugees could be taken care of in this area in case of some industrial area being bombed out in case of nuclear war.

September Term Of Court Will Begin On Monday

The September Term of the Garrett County Circuit Court will begin its deliberations on Monday morning, September 23, with Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on the bench.

...it's fun to belong to the wonderful world of music
Children like to do things they enjoy. Making music is one of these things. Ask children who play in the band. Ask their parents.
Today music belongs. And the child who plays music belongs. You owe your youngster a first-hand acquaintance with music—better learned in playing than just in listening. Music, playing in the band makes friends, gives pride in accomplishment. It's healthy exercise, teaches coordination and rhythm. And it's fun.
Music fills idle hours with new meaning. Music brings out the best in a child. Studies show that music students generally get higher marks, are better adjusted, don't get involved in 'delinquency'.
Play with 'the Confidence of Kings'
Your band director can give you more information. Just be sure you give your son or daughter the instrument that will give them more fun out of music. KINGS are preferred by students and professionals because they blow easy, blow accurate.

Wed at Accident June 8

Miss Iva Jane Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Alexander, Accident, became the bride of James Ralph Sisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sisler, also of Accident, on Saturday, June 8, at Accident Bear Creek Church of the Brethren. Rev. Connell T. Chaney performed the double-ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated with candelabra surrounded with ferns, palms, and vases of white lilies and gladiolus.

Mrs. Deane Savage, cousin of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly" at the beginning of the ceremony. As the couple knelt at the altar she sang the "Lord's Prayer." A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Donald Garlock, Alexandria, Va., who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of white nylon net and lace over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, and very full skirt of net. Her waist length veil with lace matching her gown, fell from a crown of pearls. She carried an orchid on a white Bible, with streamers.

The maid of honor, her only attendant, Miss Mary Helen Newman, cousin of the bride, wore a blue waltz length gown with blue hat, shoes and gloves, with pearl earrings and necklace. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

John Sisler, served as his brother's best man. Joe Yommer, and Don Frazee served as ushers. They are cousins of the bride and groom respectively.

Mrs. Alexander, mother of the bride, was attired in a light blue acetate dress. She wore a white hat and accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Sisler, mother of the groom, wore a pink dress with sketches of black. Her accessories were black with a corsage of white rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home. The table was decorated with a five-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom surrounded with ferns and white daisies. Mrs. William Stemmer served the cake and Mrs. Paul Welch, both aunts of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

The bride is a 1954 graduate of Northern High school. She was a member of the National Honor society and Student Council. She attended Catherman's Business school. At present she is employed by the U. S. Army Chemical Corps Research and Development Command, Washington, D. C.

The groom is a 1949 graduate of Accident High school. He served four years in the U. S. Air Force. He is employed by Capital Airlines, Washington, D. C., as an aircraft electrician.

The couple left for a short trip to Skyline Drive and Caverns. The bride chose for her going away outfit a light blue suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Sisler are residing in Alexandria, Va.

Huskies Defeat Meyersdale, 12-6

Coach Denver Mitchell's Northern High Huskies made it two victories in a row at the Cove last Friday by turning back Meyersdale High's eleven 12 to 6, with a pair of first half touchdowns.

Darwin Robeson, Northern's sparkling quarterback, registered both his team's six-pointers, the first coming on a 19-yard end run in the initial period and then breaking a 6-6 deadlock with a 51-yard run around left end for the deciding touchdown in the second quarter.

Meyersdale, which last year handed the Huskies their only defeat 24-0, in Northern's opening game, this year was unable to penetrate past the winner's 18-yard line except for Meyersdale's scoring play.

The vistors swiped a Robeson pass in the second period with Swindell racing 12 yards for the score. The longest run for Meyersdale was a 20-yard spring by Miller.

Outstanding players for Northern were Robeson, Bill Miller and Spear. Others playing were Swauger, Sisler, Baker, Frantz, Gilpin, Lawson, Humberson and Jenkins. Substitutes were Hedrick, K. Durst, Umble, Strauss, Beitzel, Wright, Schroyer, Mickey.

Principals Convene At Yoder School

The first monthly conference of school principals for the school year was held at the Yoder school near Grantsville on Monday evening from 6:30 to 9:30.

Prior to the business session a dinner was served by patrons and pupils of the Yoder school, with special guests being members of the Board of Education. Tables were set in keeping with the "Dutch Art" of a earlier period. Food was prepared in homes of nearby school patrons.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said monthly meetings of all principals and supervisors are being called by him at which time part of the meetings are given over to coordination of routine policies of school administration and part is given over to the study of ways for professional growth and improvement of schools.

Mr. Hawkins said that this year special emphasis would be directed toward the principal's responsibility for the professional growth and evaluation of his school. This includes classroom supervision, curriculum study, effective organization and administration of school, testing and evaluating results, he pointed out. He said the improvement of teaching of arithmetic and mathematics would be singled out for special emphasis during the current school year.

Administrative matters discussed at Monday's meeting were related to the following problems arising at the beginning of the school year: pupil accident insurance, plans for curtailment of fund raising activities in the schools, survey of textbook and furniture needs, the calendar of school activities, the school music program, handling of attendance problems, school board policies for use of school property by outside groups, the free lunch problem and others.

The October meeting is to be held at the Loch Lynn school.

The Business and Professional Womens Club, of Oakland, met last Thursday evening, September 12, at the William-James hotel.

Guest speaker was Mrs. W. W. Grant, who gave an informative address on her tour of Europe, dwelling chiefly on things of interest in England and Scotland.

Daring Daniel

Lesson for September 22, 1957

"DARE to be a Daniel" was the name of a song that used to be sung in Sunady schools all over America. Maybe people read the stories of Daniel then more often than they do now. Any one who thinks the tales about this man are exaggerated and sound more like legend than history, might ask himself this question: What sort of man must Daniel have been, what kind of reputation did he leave behind him, to have such stories attach themselves to his name and memory? No meek little yes-man was he. On the contrary his very name is a symbol of courage against odds.

Dr. Foreman

Two Kinds of Courage

There are two kinds of courage: physical and moral. Physical courage means keeping on doing what you know you ought to do, even when you are being terribly hurt, or about to be hurt. A scoutmaster in a boat with some small boys got into some heavy waves, the boat overturned, and everybody climbed on top of the upside-down craft. Then it became evident that there were too many for the boat in that position. So the scoutmaster, after pulling the last boy out of the water, swam alongside for a while, and when he could swim no longer, quietly sank . . . dying to save a boy's life. That took courage. Then there is also moral courage, which means doing or saying what you believe to be right, in spite of ridicule or powerful contrary opinions.

Against Orders

Courage always is against something,—danger, public opinion, pain. Daniel's courage sometimes was of the rare and risky sort, courage to defy orders from his official superiors. Daniel's salary was paid by the royal court, and like many salaried men, when ordered to do something against his conscience and religion, might have shrugged it off: "Well, I hate to do it, it goes against the grain. But this is my job and who am I to talk back to my employer? I've gotta play ball if I stay on the payroll." Daniel was made of stouter stuff. When he knew that God said one thing and his boss said another, even if the boss was a king with powers of life and death, Daniel saw no choice but to obey God rather than men.

Against Custom

Daniel "bucked" not only an old-fashioned, oriental dictator, all dressed up in crown and gown, but something that is just as tyrannical: public opinion and long-standing customs. If he had had the public on his side, he might not have been reported (for example) in the incident of the prayers at the open window. Back home in Palestine many would have known that he was right; here in Persia almost no one agreed with him. To go against "what everybody does"—usually meaning by "everybody" the more important people of a community—takes nerve. It can be wrong, too, for very often public opinion is just about right. One ought to think very carefully before flying the opposite course to every one else. But when Daniel knew he was right, he knew that fifty thousand Medes and Persians could be wrong; and he acted accordingly.

Against Personal Interests

Many people take the easiest way. All they ask is, "What does this get me? Where does it get me? Will this bring me more prestige, will it end in my promotion, will it help me up the ladder?" If the answer is Yes, then they go ahead. They don't dare do anything contrary to their own interests. But Daniel dared. More than once he had the courage to do something or to say something when it looked as if by doing or saying it he would put an end to his career. But the king always kept him on, though for a while he might turn against him. Men admire courage of all sorts, especially Daniel's kind. The king and everybody else knew that here was a man who could be counted on to say and to do what he was convinced was right, even if it hurt him,—even if it killed him. Here was a man who could not be threatened, could not be bought. Such men were not plentiful then, they are not thick as blackberries now. But they are God's men always.

Alarming Proposal . . .

There is good reason for alarm over the recent recommendation of the Commission on Government Security that would make it a federal crime to publish information which had, by any means, "leaked" past government security arrangements.

All responsible American journalists recognize the need for safeguarding information that would affect the national security or defense. But once a secret escapes through government doors, through some failure of its custodians, federal power to suppress it by fines and prison sentences upon America's citizens and press could be terribly more dangerous than the security "leak" itself.

History makes it tragically clear that punishing the press for publishing facts is fatal to a nation's freedom. Aware of this, the framers of the first ten amendments to the U. S. Constitution provided that "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." And this principle has precedence as the first article of our Bill of Rights—not to favor the press but to perpetuate our people's freedom to be informed.

The violation of this principle proposed by the so-called Wright Commission would reduce our national law to the level of Peron's dictatorship in Argentina, where news reporters and their papers were subject to prosecution for the "crime" of truth.

Dept. Of Health Orders Sanitary Plant For Town

The State Board of Health Monday gave notice to the Town of Oakland that within six months it submit plans for "adequate" treatment of industrial waste and sanitary sewage.

Robert W. Brown, Chief of the Health Department's bureau of environmental hygiene, reported that the town had given permission to the Sterling Processing company to discharge waste into the municipal water system.

He claims this was "just a short circuit" to putting the waste into the Little Youghiegheny river, as the town's waste eventually reaches that stream. He said the waste ended up in the river without treatment.

Mayor Russell L. Smith, of Oakland, was quoted as saying that the town would not go along with a state sewage treatment plant directive but will give full cooperation if an area sanitary district is formed.

He added that Oakland is not interested in a plan which would call for treating sewage in one spot along the river. "It would be no use for us to clean up and have the rest of the river remain dirty," he said.

The poultry processing plant, the Mayor said, is the first industry Oakland has been able to get, and he claimed it was "not hurting the river."

"As soon as we get an industry," he added, "the bureaucrats try to drive it out."

Mayor Smith said the state is making the move because the industry was brought into the town. He charged that the Health Department is "Gauging up on us."

The solution, he added, is to "clean up the river once and for all."

To Acquaint Public With Use Of Voting Machines

The first of a series of meetings to acquaint the public with the use of voting machines, will be sponsored by the Republican Women's club of the county. It will be held at Kitzmiller on Thursday evening, October 3, at the fire hall, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Machines are scheduled to arrive in Oakland this week. Two trained men from Allegany county will instruct the group in their use, William Wilson, former president of the Allegany County board of supervisors of elections; and Ervin Neat, Allegany county registrar.

A bazaar also will be held by the Women's club, featuring small gifts and food products.

Women of Kitzmiller will serve as hostesses and the club's business meeting will be held after the general public demonstration.

Garrett To Receive 1,160,000 Seedlings

State Forester H. C. Buckingham has prepared a tree allotment of 5,773,000 tree seedlings for distribution to Maryland's 23 counties for spring planting next year.

District Forester William H. Johnson said 1,721,000 of the seedlings are for the four Western Maryland counties in his district. The Eastern Shore district will get 2,100,000, the northeast district has been allotted some 1,200,000 and the southern Maryland district is listed for 752,000.

The Western Maryland allotment will be divided so that Garrett county will get 1,600,000 trees, Allegany and Frederick counties 200,000 each and Washington county 161,000.

Varieties available will be white, red, scotch and loblolly pine, Norway and white spruce and black locust. All will come from the state nurseries at Harmans, in Anne Arundel county. They will be shipped in late March and early April.

Owners of idle land who would like to reforest it are requested to notify the District Forester's office in Cumberland so they can share the county's allotment of trees. It takes about 1,000 of the tree seedlings to reforest an acre.

Former Residents Injured In Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Sheehe, of Cumberland, former residents of Oakland, were admitted to a hospital in Johnstown, Pa., Tuesday afternoon with injuries sustained in a three-vehicle collision about 12 miles north of that city.

Mr. Sheehe, 71, is reported in "fairly good" condition. His wife was in "fair" condition with a possible fractured skull. She was thrown from the car when it was struck by a tractor-trailer and was pushed against another tractor-trailer.

Mr. Sheehe was being treated for an injury to his left hip and abrasions about his body. Mrs. Sheehe also suffered lacerations of her scalp, face, chin and left knee, and abrasions of her body. She was treated for shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheehe had visited a daughter, Mrs. Betty Batty, of Indiana, Pa., and were enroute home at the time of the accident. The car was a total wreck.

Southern Student Set To Graduate From 14th School

"I believe the teachers at Southern High school are the best I have ever had."

This statement, coming from a new senior student this year, carries the opinion of an expert. For Thelma Show has attended fourteen schools throughout the North American continent and Europe.

But after extensive traveling during her seventeen years, Miss Show is now living in Mt. Lake Park with her uncle and aunt, Rev. and Mrs. Randall Prince. Her father is a chief engineer for the M. W. Kellogg Construction company, and until now his daughter has followed him from one piece of work to another.

Last year she attended Antwerp High School, in Belgium. Among other places the family has lived are West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Louisiana, California, Colorado, Kentucky, Virginia, Montreal, Canada, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada and finally Maryland. She is a native of Washington, D. C.

Understandably, Miss Show says language difficulties encountered in a foreign school make learning difficult, and thus plus the fact that due to moving her schooling last year amounted to nine weeks, makes it necessary for her to take special courses in English and history. She is enrolled in the academic course.

"Traveling about so much makes it difficult to adjust to the various schools and to learn to know the students," she said. "But living abroad makes you appreciate the good things in America and realize the opportunities here."

Her main interest is music, and last year she was a member of the Glee Club at the Belgium high school.

Miss Show also has scraphooks of the countries in which she has been. She has articles of interest from all the states and countries she has visited.

Major Garey Dies

Enoch Barton Garey, former president of St. John's College in Annapolis, former superintendent of Maryland State police, and former summer resident of Garrett county, died in Los Angeles, Calif., Tuesday. He was 71.

During his military career he served in Mexican campaign, was commandant of cadets at the Citadel, and served in France in 1918, being decorated for heroism by this country and France.

He headed the Garey School for Boys but the school was short-lived.

He served two terms as superintendent of state police. For the past 17 years he had lived in California and held a Veterans administration post until recently.

He is survived by his wife and six children.

Kimble Speaks To Local Lions Club

Operation of the State Department of Employment Security was outlined to members of the Oakland-Mt Lake Park Lions club Monday evening by Robert B. Kimble, executive director.

Kimble explained operation of the system, services offered by local offices to both employers and employes, and told how unemployment funds help stabilize the economy of the area.

He invited employers to visit the Oakland office and learn of the many facilities provided. He stated that hiring through the local office would reduce the amount of money paid in unemployment insurance and eventually bring the employers' taxes down.

It was pointed out that the Oakland office is open Monday through Friday, and operates three itinerant offices, Kitzmiller, Friendsville and Grantsville.

Mr. Kimble stated that if enough interest is shown by employers in the area, he would bring specialists from the Baltimore office to explain the taxes, where they go, and how the employers can save money.

Frost Hits County, Damage Is Slight

A major portion of Garrett county experienced its first real frost of the season early Wednesday morning but the damage appeared to be light.

Oakland had an official low of 31 degrees. At Savage River dam it was 27.

There was some rain on four days during the week. Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, but still not enough to improve the water level in the wells that supply Oakland. Yesterday a number of homes were without water for several hours, and while the pressure built up during the night the situation was still critical today.

There were indications that the Board of Education might have to call off school for the balance of the week, but a call to Southern High school this morning indicated that the supply was sufficient and that the students were watching carefully every bit that was used.

The Sterling Processing company which has its own well and a sufficient amount of water for their needs, pumped a quantity of water into the city mains yesterday evening which helped to build up the reserve in the reservoir.

It was cool again this morning but there was no frost.

Two Cars Collide

Two cars collided yesterday in the vicinity of Deep Creek Lake, but no one was seriously injured.

An automobile owned by J. Paul Riley, Oakland, and driven by Clayton Arnold, was in collision with another automobile driven by Clarence H. Leighton, Oakland. Leighton was a temporary patient in the Garrett County Memorial hospital but was released. Riley's car was badly damaged.

October 4 Final Date For Soil Bank Acreage Program

October 4, is the final date on which wheat growers may enroll their farms in the 1958 Soil Bank Wheat Acreage Reserve program, it was stated by H. Robert DeWitt, Chairman of the County ASC Committee. This program provides for cash payments, which amount to from $20 to $50 per acre in this county, for removing wheat acreage from production. Details may be secured at the County ASC office in Oakland.

Game To Be Broadcast

The Southern High —St. Francis football game is to be broadcast, it was announced this week. It will be played in Morgantown on Friday afternoon, October 4.

The broadcast will come through station WKYR, Keyser. The Mt. City Motor is sponsoring the event.

Conservation Group To Elect Officers Tuesday

Officers of the Garrett County Conservation group will be elected at the regular meeting to be held October 1 at the Oakland Fire hall at 8 p. m., D. S. T. Other important matters will be discussed, it was announced.

The regular meeting of the Game and Inland Fish Commission will be held at Hagerstown on October 4, and if members show enough interest in conservation problems a delegation from the local group will be sent.

Memberships are now being sought for 1958.

ASC Committee Will Be Reorganized

The Maryland State ASC committee and the Garrett County ASC committee have approved a reorganization of the community system used in connection with the election of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Community committeemen, it was announced by H. Robert DeWitt, chairman of the County ASC committee.

The number of ASC communities in the county has been reduced from 16 to 8. Under the old system some Election Districts were divided into separate communities. Under the new plan several Election Districts are combined but none is divided. ASC communities will be as follows:

Community A will be election district 2; Community B, election districts 5 and 6; Community C, election districts 3 and 12; Community D, election districts 9, 11 and 15; Community E, election districts 1 and 4; Community F, election districts 10, 13 and 16; Community G, election districts 7 and 14, Community H, election district 8.

This change was made because it was believed that the number of committeemen elected each year in the county was greater than necessary and that considerable funds could be saved by reducing the number. Only half as many committeemen will be elected in the county under the new system. Three committeemen are elected each year for each of the communities. Election of these committeemen will be carried out by mail during the month of October. The chairman of each committee will serve as a delegate to a county meeting at which an ASC Committee for the county will be elected.

County Has Some Of State's Champion Trees

Several trees in Garrett County are listed in a booklet containing descriptions and locations of "champion" trees in Maryland.

Included is a wild crabapple tree in the State Forest at New Germany; an American mountain ash in the State Forest at Swallow Falls; a sugar maple owned by Milo Wilson at Kitzmiller; a wild plum at Mountain Lake Park; a staghorn sumac in Savage River State Forest; a yellow thorn on the Gephart farm at Grantsville and a white thorn at Swallow Falls State Forest, all national champions.

State champion trees from this area include a smooth alder on the Gephart farm at Grantsville; a yellow birch owned by W. R. Mason at Gortner; an eastern hemlock owned by Wesley Harvey at Gorman; an ironwood hophornbeam owned by Wesley Savage at Sang Run; a striped maple in Swallow Falls State Forest; a red oak owned Oscar T. Sines, Swallow Falls; a serviceberry owned by U. M. Stanton, Grantsville; a red spruce owned by A. G. Culler, Gorman.

The champions were determined by adding together the girth in inches, the crown spread in feet and the height in feet.

Enlist In Navy

Two county men were among those enlisting for service with the Navy.

They are Earl Clinton Kight, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton G. Kight, Route 2, Oakland, and Ernest Dwight Colaw, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ray Colaw, Crellin.

Maps Are Available

A little folder about the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel, along with a map of Baltimore, is now available from the State Roads commission offices in Oakland. The folder emphasizes the time-saving element in using the harbor tunnel, which will be open for traffic on December 1.

Lutheran Pastor To Be Missioner At Grantsville Church

The Rev. David L. Scheidt, pastor of Immanuel church, Philadelphia, Pa., will be the missioner at Christ Evangelical Lutheran church in Grantsville during the Lutheran Evangelism mission week which opens Sunday, September 29 at 11 a. m.

Pastor Scheidt was graduated from Baltimore City college in 1947, and from Gettysburg college in 1951. He received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from the seminary at Gettysburg in 1954.

Proficient in the German language he worked with displaced persons in the Evangelical Lutheran church in Germany. Returning from Germany in 1955 he became pastor of the Philadelphia church, a bi-lingual congregation that is one of the oldest Lutheran congregations in America.

Pastor Scheidt has done graduate work in German language and literature at Middlebury college in Vermont and at present is working for his S.T.M. degree at the School of Theology, Temple university. In addition to pastoral duties he is president of the Lutheran Church School Teachers association of the German conference of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania, is secretary of the Luther Memorial fund and is a member of the Ministerium's committee on foreign missions.

He is married to the former Ruth Ann Dickey of Somerset. They have one daughter.

His mission week sermons center around the general theme of "Reconciliation." He will speak Sunday morning and evening, and Monday through Thursday evenings.

The Grantsville church is a member of the Central Pennsylvania synod and the mission services are similar to the ones conducted last month in the congregations of the Mt. Top area. Rev. C. Edward Noel, of Salisbury, Pa., is pastor of the Grantsville church. He has issued an invitation for all to participate in the mission services.

Board Meets With Farm Bureau Group

For the second consecutive year members of the Board of Education and county superintendent of schools met with directors of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. The meeting was held Wednesday evening at Northern High school, to discuss aspects of the county school program.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, said the Farm Bureau as an organization had consistently gone on record as favoring improvements in educational opportunities offered the children of the county, and that this meeting served as a clearing house for questions which arise from time to time relative to administration and operation of the county's school system.

Items discussed included daylight saving time for schools, teacher salaries as compared to the rest of the state, school bus transportation services, the cost and method of payment; bus shelters and their cost to the county, cost of new school construction and how it will be paid; breakdown of school board budget; how school accounts are audited, how school needs and supplies such as automobiles, paint, coal, insurance, etc., are purchased.

E. F. Garletts, president of the County Farm bureau, presided.

Plenty Of Brownies

Leaders of Brownie Troop 2, Oakland, announced this week that troop membership had reached its full quota and that in accordance with the policy established in previous years, no more registrations would be accepted at this time.

County To Stand Alone In Weather

Some flat landers have always said so, but the Weather Bureau is about to make it official.

H. L. Alkire, meteorologist in charge of the Baltimore office of the bureau, who is in Western Maryland on an inspection tour, said that the bureau is redesignating forecast areas in the state, with Garrett county to be in a class all of it own.

In many instances, Allegany county is paired with Garrett in the western area predictions, but actually only the area in Allegany county west of Clarysville gets the kind of weather being predicted.

East of that community, he said, milder weather in winter and warmer weather in the summer usually prevails.

Weather stations in this county are located at Oakland, Bittinger, New Germany, Sines, Shallmar and Bayard, with a rainfall recorder at Merrill.

Concert Friday To Be In Three Parts

The piano and organ concert of Peter Lukas, concert pianist, of Cumberland, to be presented at Southern High school in Oakland on Friday evening, September 27, at 8:30 o'clock, will be given in three parts.

Part 1 will be four selections on the piano, one of them being "Clair de Lune," with a special arrangement by Mr. Lukas. Part 2 will be three selections on the organ, with a special arrangement of 'The Lord's Prayer," by Mr. Lukas. Part three will be six selections on the organ with "Basin Street Blues," having a special arrangement also by Mr. Lukas.

A native of Vienna, Mr. Lukas is a graduate of Vienna Conservatory of Music, of Charles University in Prague, and studied at the University of Sorbonne in Paris. He came to this country in 1948, moving to Western Maryland a few years later and is now employed in a furniture and piano store in Cumberland. He teaches piano and organ in the area.

Tickets are available in Oakland at the Rexall or Englander pharmacies and also at Southern High school.

Home at Gortner Is Raided, and Obscene Movie Is Confiscated

A home at Gortner was raided last Friday night at midnight, upon complaints that young men were using it for caroosing, and officers walked into the showing of an obscene movie.

S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, said that eight young men were taken into custody and later released upon their own recognizance, pending formal charges against them.

Confiscated were the obscene movie, a projector and portable screen, 46 empty beer bottles, a partially filled fifth of Vodka, two cans German beer upon which there was no tax stamp, empty wine and Vodka bottles.

Involved in the encounter were William Shaffer, Richard Mussard, Carroll Paugh, James Sanders, Bill Deckman, Bill Johnson, James Harvey, and a youth who is not yet eighteen. Ages of the others ranged from 18 to 21.

Assisting in the raid were Oakland police who had been deputized by county authorities. Henry Arnold, police chief, said that Mussard left Saturday morning for a tour of duty in the army, under the National Guard six months program.

Pagenhardt said that the outcome of the raid would be made known when he has completed the September Term of court.

The raid was made after authorities had received a number of complaints that there was carousing and drinking going on in the residence, which had supposedly been vacant in recent months.

Will Be New Teller

Glenn Forman, of Terra Alta, will become a teller in the First National Bank in Oakland beginning October 15, it was announced this week by George Littman, cashier.

Mr. Forman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Forman, of Amboy, W. Va., and has been employed in the Terra Alta bank for the past two years.

Criminal Trials Continue Today

Suspended Jail Sentences And Number of Fines Meted Out

Suspended jail sentences and a number of fines were meted out this week in the Garrett County Circuit court as the September criminal trials got underway.

Listed for trial today was the case of the state versus G. Wells Bray on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The charge was preferred by Dale Ream and was alleged to have happened on June 16, in a local apartment. Officers at that time said Bray fired a shot through a closet door.

Mrs. Cimarosa Fined

A $500 fine was imposed Tuesday upon Marguerite Cimarosa by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on a charge of selling beer to minors. The woman, who operates The Barn at Deep Creek Lake, entered a plea of guilty. Three other cases against Mrs. Cimarosa were dismissed upon order of the State's Attorney, one for allowing minors under 21 to loaf and loiter, permitting persons to drink alcoholic beverage not purchased from the license holder, and selling alcoholic beverages without a permit.

Pair Found Not Guilty

Harley Stemple and Charles Stemple were found not guilty of burglary by a jury which deliberated about one hour. They were accused of breaking into the coal mine of Keith Steyer, between Loch Lynn and Gorman and stealing mine equipment.

Another jury acquitted Albert Tasker, who operates Maple View Inn near Deer Park, on a charge of selling beer on Sunday.

Kenneth Friend, operator of the Bear Creek Tavern near Friendsville was fined $200 and costs after pleading guilty to a gaming device charge. S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, said Friend made cash pay-offs on a pin ball machine.

Dale Upole, Deer Park, was found guilty by a jury on a charge of non-support of his wife and children. Sentence was withheld.

A jury found Lou Cornish, of Deep Creek, guilty of a charge of selling alcoholic beverage on Sunday. Sentencing was withheld.

The judge requested a pre-sentence investigation in the case of Dean Sines, of Loch Lynn, who pleaded guilty to the first count of a larceny and receiving stolen goods indictment. He was accused of taking parts of a sawmill belonging to Thomas J. Johnson, near Swallow Falls.

Dailey Lewis, found guilty by Judge Fraley of non-support, was ordered to get a job within 60 days and begin supporting his family or face a two-year sentence in the Maryland House of Correction.

Other Cases Disposed Of

Henline Attends State Conference

Bill Henline, a senior and a member of the Acorn staff at Southern High school, attended the Governor's Conference on Juvenile Delinquency at College Park, Maryland, on September 10, 1957. At this conference young people gave their ideas on how to prevent juvenile delinquency. These ideas ranged from abolishing curfew laws to building "drag strips."

These young people drew up a report of principles and recommendations. Six of these being statewide implications call for:

1. Organizing local youth commissions in every county of the state.
2. Obtaining and holding adequately trained personnel in jobs dealing with children.
3. Obtaining adequate mental and physical health services.
4. Providing counseling services to families and children who have problems.
5. Establishing special juvenile officers or bureaus in police departments.
6. Developing adequate detention facilities for the state so that children are not held in jails or training schools.

At this conference Dr. Irvin M. Cushner, Baltimore obstetrician, said that it is important to reach the child and the family before the youngster goes wrong. A start can be made even before the youngster is born, Dr. Cushner said, in some clinics where the parents can be counseled in the proper care of the child. As in many cases where the child is unwanted, steps can be taken to help the parents turn their reluctance into love.

The commission has called for a variety of medical services, to prevent maladjustments and to insure the physical and mental health of Maryland's youth.

James Bruce, former U. S. ambassador to Argentina and leader in party councils, announced candidacy for Democratic nomination to U. S. Senate from Maryland.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

To close out our current series on the Epistle of James, we will consider this week the closing verses of this letter:

My brethren, if any one among you wanders from the truth and some one brings him back, let him know that whoever brings back a sinner from the error of his way will save his soul from death and will cover a multitude of sins.

One of the disturbing statistics of church life is the fact that for every two members who are brought into the fellowship of the church one drops out some place along the way. Every church has its long list of "inactive" or "members not in good standing." Attendance throughout the nation on a particular Sunday will run some place around, or in many places below, 50% of the confirmed membership of a congregation. I remember a church in Hagerstown that I surveyed as a part of a college course that had eleven hundred members, and whose attendance on the average was about 325. This, as we said before, is disturbing.

There are many reasons that people fall out of a good relation with their Lord, some have an argument with the minister, some have a grudge against another member, many are the reasons that are given. Actually, however, when a member drops out of a church, the main reason is usually indifference in the first place. And reasons for a member not to attend regularly are usually pretty easy to find.

The problem under particular consideration in this section of James, then, is what to do about these lapsed members. A variety of techniques can be used. Telephone conversations, letters, personal calls, discussions, et al, are ways in which people are led back from the "error of their ways." But the one thing that must absolutely be a part of the contact is the considerate love of the one who is doing the contacting. Never must self-righteous condemnation enter into the picture, no matter how tempting it may be to "look down your nose" at the one who has fallen into sin. The point must be clearly made that this is not just a matter of one man correcting another, but of the challenge of the repentance of the gospel being delivered out of consideration for the salvation of the sinner's soul.

One of the most horrible temptations that befalls church members is for them to act as if they have some sort of a personal patent on salvation, and that they are setting themselves as an example for other people to follow. This Pharisaistic attitude has done more to destroy the effectiveness of the church's witness than almost any other thing, and it must be absolutely erased in our dealings with openly sinful people. The only standard that we can set up for character guidance without making any apologies, is the Person and Work of our Lord, Jesus Christ.

The rewards that come from showing people a way of living that is superior to any other are more than enough to compensate for the many frustrations that come the way of one who tries in sincerity to witness. It may take the patient love of half a dozen pastors, and twice that many lay people before one sinner repents and comes to be a child of God. But it is eternally worth it! So all of us must continue the fight, for the salvation of the world has been put in the hands of all of us who are believers, in the form of Christ's challenge, "Ye shall be witnesses . . . unto the uttermost parts of the world."

Farm Water Systems May Need Checking

A check on the farm water system might prevent the necessity of carrying water in buckets when the weather turns cold this winter. Exposed water lines, valves and drinking fountains in stock barns and poultry houses are the parts of the system most likely to freeze.

One of the best protections for these danger points is low temperature heating cable or plastic heating tape. A. V. Krewatch, University of Maryland Extension agricultural engineer, recommends a heating device controlled by a thermostat set to go on when the temperature drops below 35 degrees, F.

In addition to assuring a free flowing water system for the home and live stock and poultry operations, this type of cable will reduce ice trouhles on doorways, platforms, or even in drain spouts.

A different type of heater is recommended for preventing ice on stock tanks. The engineer notes that there are several types of tank water heaters available. Some of them float, while others may be connected to the edge of the tank. He prefers the floating type, and for the most economical operation recommends that they be used to heat only the upper 2 or 3 inches of water.

He explains that when water approaches the freezing point, the warmer water will go to the bottom and colder water to the top. Surface water therefore reaches the freezing point of 32 degrees first and is the first part of the water body to freeze. With the coldest water on top, Krewatch concludes, it is logical that only the top 2 or 3 inches need to be heated in order to prevent the formation of ice.

Romney Beats Southern 27-6

West Virginia School for the Deaf exploded for three touchdowns in the final period to defeat Southern High in a Potomac Valley Conference game by the score of 27-6, last Friday.

The score was knotted at 6-6 when touchdowns by Vernon Devericks, Robert Moon and William Tader racked up touchdowns to sew up the decision for Coach Donald Bullock's eleven.

Larry Jones gave the Lions a 6-0 lead in the first quarter when he tallied on a 15-yard gain off tackle. Keith Butler converted tackle, playing at the fullback slot, scored in the second period. Bittinger's run for the point was stopped.

Southern played without the services of backs Don Mason, Terry Colaw and Wayne Callis, and tackle Douglas Bittinger.

Southern gained a net yardage of 125 to 92 for Romney and had a total of six first downs to four for Romney. Twenty-four of Southern's players saw action in the contest.

A 30-yard gain on a reverse by Curtis Collins started the Lions rolling early in the forth quarter. Devericks climaxed the drive by plunging over from the one. He also smashed over for the point.

Moon returned a punt 60 yards for the next score and Devericks plunged the point.

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde • 6th District, Maryland

I have again been selected as an official delegate to the meeting of the Intergovernmental committee on European Migration to be held in Geneva next month. The assignment dovetails with my work as a member of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration.

Intergovernmental Committee on European Migration was founded in 1951 to cope with the pressing national migration problems created by the flight of people from oppression, and the tremendous growth in national populations. It is composed of 26 nations of the Free World. ICEM acts as an agent in aiding in the relocation of refugees and immigrants who wish to migate and for whom there is an insufficiency of personal or nation funds to finance their migration. It also provides preemigration training in language, customs, history, and some vocational guidance.

Funds for the organization come from contributions made by the member nations on a basis of the number of migrants leaving or coming into a county. It may interest you to know that the United States furnishes about 15% of the budget. But it is one contribution that we make to an international organization that is paying off in real results. There are no promises with ICEM - it delivers. Its record is so good, particularly in its handling of the recent Hungarian refugee problem, that I think it should be charged with handling all refugee problems that may arise in future emergencies.

My recent trips through the 6th Maryland District have indicated to me a wide interest in legislation to be before the second session of the Congress which meets next January 7. I have prepared for publication while I am away a series on the more important issues we will be debating next session. I hope that these weekly comments will help clarify some of the problems involved.

Among bills passed by the Senate near the end of the first session was Senator Beall's measure providing for the establishment of the C&O Canal National Historical Park. It, and a companion bill of mine, will be considered by the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee after the first of the year. Residents of the 6th Maryland District will have ample opportunity to present their views on the proposed legislation at public hearings.

It is important to bear in mind the things these bills do not do, as well as what they do. First of all, the establishment of a C&O Canal National Historical Park does not give the Federal Government any more police power than it now has in the ownership of the Canal and its administration as a national capital park. Enactment of the Canal bill will not change the right to cross the Canal to the Potomac River. It continues present law which directs the Secretary of the Interior to grant easements and rights-of-way for agricultural, industrial and other purposes.

There is no provision for any superhighway or parkway along the Canal between Great Falls and Cumberland. The only provision in the bill concerning a parkway simply authorizes a 25-mile scenic route from Highway 51 in the vicinity of Paw Paw, W. Virginia, to a point near Woolmont, Maryland.

What the bill does is to transfer the C&O Canal property now held by the Federal Government as a local park to national park status. It also authorizes trading canal property in the Cumberland area for other lands of value to the park, thus releasing some canal lands near Cumberland for highways and business uses. It provides for the acquisition of additional lands for the park but specifies that the total area, including land now owned by the Federal Government, is not to exceed 15,000 acres.

The most important benefits to be derived from the change from a national capital park to full park status are administrative. Larger staff and better administrative procedures would help prevent some past practices in the administration of the Canal area which have given rise to complaints.

Local Young Man Takes Part In Student Survey

A field epidemiological study in relation to tuberculosis control was completed this summer by two medical students from the University of Maryland School of Medicine. The project was sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Health.

Parker, director of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, they conducted a survey to establish the present status of a number of tuberculosis patients who left hospitals against their doctor's recommendations.

Such persons are regarded by medical people as a potential menace to themselves, their families and the community.

Wed September 2nd

Mary Grace Bachtel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Bachtel, of Aberdeen, became the bride of Mr. Joseph J. DePollo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John DePollo, of Thomas, W. Va., on Monday, September 2 at a nuptial mass at the St. Thomas Catholic church. Officiating at the single ring ceremony was the Rev. Fr. Francis A. Spillar, pastor. Also kneeling on the altar during the mass were Rev. Fr. Michael K. Carney, of Oakland, and Father Arnold, a Franciscan priest who was in Thomas conducting a mission at the time. The altars were decorated with white astors and gladioli while the pews were adorned with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon lace over tulle and taffeta with tiny self covered buttons down the back. The gown featured the Sabrina neckline of cut-out lace silhouetted with tiny seed pearls and sequins, long sleeves which came to points at the wrists, a fitted bodice that ended with sedlops in front tended a long torso effect, to which a full lace skirt was attached that concluded with a scalloped lace hemline. The finger tip veil of hand rolled silk illusion was attached to a scalloped edged half hat of white lace and was also silhouetted with tiny seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds, white asters, and blue delphiniums touched with sprinkles of white matricaria. Pastel streamers cascaded down from the bouquet. As the traditional "something borrowed" the bride wore as her only jewelry pearl earrings belonging to her sister.

Mrs. Lonella Ferrnso, of Catonsville and Parsons, W. Va., was her matron of honor. Her attire was a light blue tafteta ballerina length gown overlayed with white lace. The gown feamred a fitted bodice with a draped cowl neckline dropping to a V in the back from which floating twin sashes extended to the hem. A white velvet clip covered with a blue veil was her head dress. She also wore white mitts and carried a colonial bouquet of pink astors and vellow rosebuds touched with splashes of white and blue.

Mrs. Ann Serafin, Philippi, W. Va., sister of the bride, served as her only bridesmaid. Mrs. Serafin's gown was of a shrimp pink nylon chiffon with a shirred bodice. The draped cowl neckline was of light pink chiffon also dropping to a V in the back from which floating twin sashes extended to the hem. A light pink clip hat covered with a pink veil completed her head dress. She wore light pink mitts and carried a colonial bouquet of pink asters, touched with splashes of vellow, blue and white.

Mr. Orlando Ferrnso, of Baltimore and Thomas, cousin of the groom, served him as best man. Ushers were J. Pat Nichols and William Suder. Mrs. Mary Ann Quattro was soloist at the wedding mass and Miss Patricia Santangelo presided at the organ.

Mrs. Bachtel, mother of the bride, was attired in a dark beige faille sheath. She choose black accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations. Mrs. DePollo, mother of the groom, chose a light beige suede lace dress, and used dark brown accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations.

A breakfast was held at Duling's Restaurant, Davis, W. Va., for the bridal party and immediate families at noon. At the same time the out of town relatives were feted with a buffet luncheon in the St. Thomas School. A reception followed from 2 to 4 p. m. in the St. Thomas Gym. The bride's table was arranged in a U shape and was covered with white table cloths. White gladioli and long white tapers completed the scene. A four tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom held the center place on the table. Miss Rachel Seifarth, Frostburg, aunt of the bride, assisted by Miss Ruth Unger, Thomas, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Florence Sanders and Mrs. Cleda Stewart presided at the punch bowls, while Roseann Messer served as an aide. Mrs. Marie Chenoweth and Mrs. William Suder mixed the punch, the latter having helped the bride plan and make arrangements for the reception.

The bride was graduated from Oakland High School with the class of 1952 and since her graduation has been employed in the office of The H-P Stores in Mt. Lake Park.

Mr. DePollo was graduated with the class of 1949 from Thomas High School and is now engaged in the management of a general merchandise store in Thomas.

25th Lutheran Hour To Open Sept. 29

St. John's Ev. Lutheran Church and Zion Lutheran Church of the Cove and Accident, churches of The Lutheran Hour, announce the 25th season of the global Gospel broadcast will begin on Sunday, September 29.

The Lutheran Hour is heard in 53 languages over more than 1,250 NBC, Mutual, and independent stations in 63 countries throughout the world—locally at 10:00 a.m., Sunday over WYSC, 990, Somerset, Pa.

DR. OSWALD HOFFMANN
Lutheran Hour Speaker

The Rev. Oswald Hoffman, D.D., New York City, will speak on the topic "Forget the Past." He will be opening his third season as regular Lutheran Hour speaker.

The program of Bringing Christ to the Nations, is sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League, international affiliate of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The radio mission was inaugurated in 1930.

After the first series of broadcasts, adoption of a network policy against paid religious broadcasting and uncertain financial support combined to take the program off the air temporarily.

Early in 1935, Dr. Maier and The Lutheran Hour returned to the air for a 13-week series over two stations. In October, 1935, The Lutheran Hour began its third season with 26 broadcasts over Mutual stations in nine cities. It has been continuously on the air and growing ever since, both in North America and overseas.

To observe the opening of the 25th season, a Silver Anniversary Lutheran Hour Rally will be held in Milwaukee Auditorimm at 3:00 p. m., on Sunday, September 29.

A large crowd is expected to hear Dr. Hoffman and to watch a giant pageant-tableau commemorating the program's 25th season and also the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Lutheran Laymen's League in Milwaukee.

Proposed Dams Would Increase Area Recreation

Recreational facilities of Western Maryland would be increased if the comprehensive plan being worked out by the Corps of Engineers for the North Branch of the Potomac River was adopted, it was announced by officials.

The plan includes a series of three dams and flood control projects for a number of communities along the river above Cumberland, and is designed to meet the needs of the area for flood protection, pollution abatement, water supply, recreation and other water resource requirements.

The increased stream flow which would be possible from water stored in reservoirs three miles above Luke, a second Savage River dam and the Stony River reservoir, according to Col. George B. Summer, district engineer, would allow water in the North Branch to support some fish life.

Sufficient water would be released from the Stony River Reservoir, he said, to maintain fish life in the stream.

Col. Sumner pointed out that while the Stoney river dam would eliminate a few miles of trout fishing and some of the wildlife producing area, temperatures of water in the reservoirs on Stony and Savage rivers would permit trout fishing to a greater extent than is now possible.

The Corps of Engineers report said that in the North Branch where no fish at present exist, hardier species like bass might be introduced and be expected to survive in the North Branch reservoir.

Recreational developments including swimming, boating, water skiing, camping, hiking and other sports are also possibilities in the vicinity of the reservoirs, Col. Sumner said.

Stony River, the present Savage River and the proposed new Savage River reservoirs, the report said, would be operated with a minimum drawdown during the recreation season, June 1 through September 15, and water needed to boost the flow of the stream would come mainly from the North Branch reservoir. Such a plan, the Corps of Engineers believes, would give the highest recreation value for the area. The report pointed out the development along Deep Creek Lake as an example of the recreational facilities which could be expected if good access roads are provided to the proposed reservoirs.

Follow-Up Report Given On Mission

While the main thrust of the recent Lutheran Evangelism mission was completed with a rally in Southern High school three weeks ago, follow-up work is continuing in the form of visitations on the part of lay workers who were trained during the Evangelism week August 25-30, and in the form of pastors' classes in which the teachings of the church are being explained in each parish.

Rev. George C. Weirick, president of the Synod of West Virginia, U. L. C. A., reported this week that during the Evangelism week fourteen congregations in the Mountain Top area held services. Those fourteen congregations which have an active membership of 1180, averaged 1283 in attendance during the special week. Two hundred and fifty one lay members served as visitors in the area while fourteen visiting pastors from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia delivered the nightly sermons.

As a result of the mission thus far 1,173 persons have been interviewed by the lay visitors, 133 have enrolled in the pastors' classes, 60 have indicated a desire to join the church either through transfer or reaffirmation of faith and 125 additional children have promised to enroll in the church Sunday school.

Rev. Weirick said the final follow-up meeting of the Mountain Top mission will be held on October 25 at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Aurora. At this time final reports will be received and plans will be made for future evangelism efforts in this section.

Teach In Japan

Two Navy journalists are teaching English conversation to Japanese students in Hokosuka, Japan. They teach at the community center in Taura, Kanagawa, a Protestant mission serving Taura and nearby communities.

One of them is Robert Lambert, a son of Mrs. Madelyn Savedge Kemp, of Deer Park, the other is Glenn Briggs, Jr.

They were hired to teach Navy dependents during the day but volunteered to teach Japanese students. There are two classes, one for beginners and one for an advanced group. Beginners use a textbook on the third grade level. Advanced students engage in roundtable discussions where topics are employed to aid them in their English conversation. Students range from 16 to 65, are polite and interested.

30-Acre Farm-Use Wheat Program Is Outlined

Under the recently enacted feed-wheat exemption legislation, farmers whose wheat acreage allotment is less than thirty acres may grow up to 30 acres of wheat for use exclusively on the farm where produced and still not be liable for marketing quota penalties, H. Robert DeWitt, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, stated.

To be eligible to grow up to 30 acres of wheat without penalty, a producer must sign an application showing the intended disposition of the wheat—before October 15, 1957 or before the wheat is planted if this is later than October 15. The application must be approved by the County ASC committee. Applications are available in the County ASC office.

THE WORK BENCHES OF GOD

Christians are not turned out on assembly lines.

The skill and patience of many a human soul, the blueprint of Christ's own example, and the unseen but mighty craftsmanship of the Creator Himself—these over the decades bring forth a noble Christian life.

There must be understanding, guidance, faith. There must be a Christian home with sincere, loving parents. There must be prayer, the Bible, worship, thought, study. And at length practice and persistence must win many a victory over self before the world begins to recognize the hand of God in the life of a man.

Nearby in the church you will choose, there are busy hands at the work benches of God.

And room for more—your child's and your own!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest actor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Patriot in Action

Lesson for September 29, 1957

THERE is no closed season for patriotism. You might think there was, for there is a rash of patriotic speeches and editorials along about the fourth of July, and on Washington's Birthday and similar occasions. This time of year people seem to be thinking more about the hunting season, and school openings, than about our wonderful country. Now, let us admit that patriotic speeches the year around, would be a dreadful bore. Fireworks and oratory every night are not called for. Nevertheless it is true: there is no closed season for patriotism. There is a daily need for patriots.

Dr. Foreman

Counterfeit Patriotism

Patriotism is not noise, not speeches. The patriot is not the man who brags about his country the most. Travelers abroad from America know the nuisance type of tourist who is forever complaining, wherever he is, about nearly everything, loudly telling the world that "We have it better in the States." Such a man is not doing America any good. Hanging out the flag on important days is a good practice, but a man's patriotism is not to be measured by the regularity of his flag-displays. Furthermore, a true patriot is not one who thinks of his own stock as the true Americans, and all others as not quite it. A man like this will think of descendants of earlier immigrants as antiquated, out of touch with life; and the descendants of those immigrants who came later he thinks are "really" Europeans or something, never quite Americans.

Initiative

Many patriots' portraits are to be found in the Bible; Nehemiah is one of these. He was a governor of Jerusalem, under the Persian Empire, more than a hundred years after Jerusalem's freedom had been lost. Jerusalem had had a string of governors before: but not one of them, or all of them together, accomplished for that city and its people what Nehemiah did in his term of office. He was a true patriot, one whose services really benefit his country, one who renders services without asking payment in return; or if he is a man on salary, as Nehemiah seems to have been, he goes beyond what he is paid to do. Nehemiah never had to be pushed or prodded. He was out in front, seeing what had to be done and starting to do it, while other men slept.

Leadership

There have been patriots without much power or gift of leadership; but surely a better type of patriot is a man or woman who can stir other people to serve their country too. This Nehemiah is famous for building a wall; but he may never have laid a brick, personally. He did something far more miraculous than that: for the first time in 140 years, he got the people of Jerusalem hard at work at what they should have been doing long before: getting a wall built around their little city. The people "had a mind to work," but it was their governor who inspired this ambition in them. The great patriots of every nation's history.—David, Scipio, Henry V, George Washington, Syngman Rhee, and all the rest, have been men from whom as from a dynamo electric current flowed to vast numbers of their countrymen. Under their leadership, weak men were brave, discouraged men full of hope.

Religion

Religion, in any nation, is not like an auxiliary water tank, for the use of the fire department,—something that can be tapped in an emergency and then turned off again when the trouble is over. Religion if it is worth anything is more important than patriotism, just as God is more important than any country. Nevertheless, though God refuses to be used as a political ally, as Hitler and others have tried to use him, other things being equal the man with the most vital religion makes the best patriot. For religion is first and last a reliance upon God, as supreme Helper and as final Judge. Nehemiah's religion comes out in many ways, but it is plain that he was no once-a-week believer. His faith in God was woven into all his actions. He never spent long hours in prayer; but there was no corner of his life shut off from it.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 81. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., OCTOBER 3, 1957. XX NUMBER 31.

Good News . . . . .

Announcement that Fike's Dairy, of Uniontown, Pa., is opening a milk receiving station in Oakland should be good news for everyone and particularly dairymen. It may mean as much as one and one-half million dollars to the farm people of this community in yearly income.

Some milk producers had been uncertain of the future since the Imperial Ice Cream plant closed its doors last year, even though most of those who delivered milk to Imperial found other places.

With this new plant in operation there should be an ample market for all the milk that any farmer wants to produce. In this instance, however, all of it must be grade A milk.

It will be possible for dairymen to sell milk to Carnation company, Fike's, Liberty and Queen City dairies, Cumberland; Highland Park dairy in Oakland. Those in the Grantsville area have the Grantsville creamery, a subsidiary of the Hagan Ice Cream company. The latter company has just completed improvements to its plant costing approximately $80,000. Mr. Fike plans an expenditure of $150,000. The Carnation company recently enlarged and improved its receiving station.

It appears to us that dairying is the kind of industry that is worthwhile, just like the poultry processing industry. Both are completely local and depend upon local participation. These are the kind of businesses that don't bog down a community with investments in large plants burdened with mortgages. They are the type that will really raise the economy of the mountain top, and should raise the standards of every industrious farmer in the area.

Garrett county produces a superior grade of milk. Customers say it is the best, and that is what we like to hear.

Power Company Reassures Deep Creek Property Owners

No Change Contemplated On Safety Strip Use

That the Pennsylvania Electric Company has no intention to disturb the relationship between the company and the lot owners and developers of the land adjoining the company's safety strip, was learned this week from a letter to a company employe from R. F. Pruner, secretary - treasurer.

The company during the past year had revoked a portion of the privilege permits of several of the owners and had leased to its own employes a portion of the safety strip land for picnic purposes.

Owners of property around the lake were becoming disturbed lest such action become a permanent practice which they felt would be the downfall of all property values around Deep Creek Lake.

There are some sixteen hundred or seventeen hundred homes around the lake. Some of the properties are bought and sold for $30,000 and $40,000, while some of the unimproved lots are selling for as much as $30 per front foot. This interest in property was created through encouragement of the various companies which have held ownership of the lake, and the company has granted permits from year to year for use of the safety strip of the power company in front of all the lake front lots. The land had been bought with the assurance that the land would continue to have these privilege permit rights to the safety strip in order to have access to the lake for swimming, boating and fishing.

Property owners were beginning to fear the consequences of a major drop in values, should the revoking practice be continued.

The letter this week should make the matter clear that there is no intention on the part of the company to break precedent with the customs of the past thirty years.

The final paragraph of Mr. Pruner's letter stated: "Although we have been sympathetic to the requests of our employes for assistance in vacationing at the lake, the fundamental policy of the company has not changed. There is no intention now on the part of the present management to disturb the relationship between the company and the lot owners and the developers of the land adjoining the company's safety strip."

Excursionists Plan Autumn Glory Jaunt Here October 6-13

Approximately fifteen hundred excursionists are planning to visit Oakland and the nearby area during the next two weeks for the annual Autumn Glory observance.

Excursion trains will run from Baltimore and Washington on two different Sundays, carrying approximately 750 persons each trip. The first excursion will run Sunday, October 6, while the second one is slated for Sunday, October 13.

Busses are being provided to carry the excursionists to Swallow Falls State Park and Deep Creek Lake for a tour of the area. Half of the busses will go to Swallow Falls Park first while the other half will travel to the new state park on Deep Creek Lake, now under construction. There will be brief tours at both spots and refreshments will be available.

At the Swallow Falls area the Garrett County Turkey Growers will have turkey sandwiches and other things to eat, while at the State Park area there will be coffee, soft drinks and packaged candies. The booth at the latter area is being sponsored by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

The Autumn Glory affair is jointly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council and the Turkey Growers. Several turkeys will be given away at the Swallow Falls park.

Excursionists are scheduled to arrive in Oakland around 12:30, and will be met by the Southern High school senior band one week, and the Southern High junior

Regional Warehouse Under Construction

Construction is underway on a regional warehouse for the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange on the outskirts of Oakland.

The building will serve farmers of the southern Garrett county area. The new building, 120 by 10 foot Butler steel building with a 10 by 10 duplex, is being constructed on the extension of Eighth street, adjacent to the town. Actual construction is being handled by the Garrett Building Supply corporation of Loch Lynn Heights. The company expects to have the building completed by December 1. The B. and O. railroad is constructing a siding that will serve the concern.

Eastern States, a northeastern cooperative, with headquarters in West Springfield, Mass., is presently serving its members in the Oakland area out of a small warehouse in Loch Lynn.

Heads Dining Department

Effective October 1, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad has named James B. Martin as manager of the dining car and commissary department headquarters, with offices in Baltimore. He succeeds H. O. McAbee, who is retiring after more than 47 years of service. Mr. Martin has been with the company in the dining car service for more than twenty-five years.

Officers of the Garrett County chapter of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers are stressing interest in a membership drive during October, stressing the importance of parents joining their local Parent-Teacher organizations.

Only requirement for membership is that a person care about children and the world they live in.

Elementary P.-T. A. To Meet

The Oakland Elementary Parent-Teacher association will meet Monday evening at the Annex at 8 o'clock.

Willard Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, will speak briefly. There will also be a discussion about a possible divison of the elementary P.-T.A. since there will be two distinct schools.

Willard Elliott is president of the group this year.

Mayor D'Alesandro To Address Joint Meeting of Clubs

Thomas D'Alesandro, mayor of Baltimore City, will be the speaker at a joint meeting of service clubs at the William-James hotel in Oakland on Friday evening, October 4.

The Oakland Rotary club will be the host club. Rotary clubs of Grantsville and Friendsville and the Lions club of Oakland and Kitzmiller have been invited to participate.

The mayor will speak on "Problems of City Government Administration." In charge of arrangements is Dr. E. Irving Baumgartner, chairman of the Community Service committee of the Oakland club.

Mayor D'Alesandro was born in Baltimore in 1903. He was educated at Calvert Business college and was awarded a degree of Doctor of Science in Business Administration by the University of Maryland in June 1951. He was elected to the House of Delegates in 1926, serving two terms, then becoming deputy collector of internal revenue for two years.

He served on the Baltimore city council, 1935 to 1938, was elected to Congress in 1938, serving five terms. He is chairman of the Standing Committee on legislation of the United States conference of mayors.

Plan Open House For Grantsville Creamery, Oct. 10

Work of renovation and rehabilitation of the plant of the Grantsville Creamery which has been under way for the past several months, is now nearing completion. Some $80,000 was expended.

An open house for the public has been scheduled for next Thursday, October 10 and company officials have extended an invitation to all persons interested in observing first hand the processes involved in the manufacture of cottage cheese and other dairy products. Time of the open house is set for the evening, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Principal function of the plant is to produce cottage cheese which is marketed in Western Maryland, Northern West Virginia and southwestern Pennsylvania. Officials said it meets the high standards for sanitary conditions of the plant and butter fat requirements of the U. S. Public Health administration. Approval is likewise accorded by departments of health of Maryland, Pennsylvania and Allegheny county, Pa.

The plant, in addition, serves as a source of supply for cream utilized in the manufacture of ice cream. The entire output is consumed in making Hagan Ice cream. A huge evaporator for the extraction of water from the milk, is also a part of the equipment at the creamery.

Many dairymen in the vicinity of Grantsville and throughout Garrett and Somerset counties are marketing their milk through the creamery. All dairymen subscribe to rigid health standards.

The Grantsville creamery is a subsidiary of the I. N. Hagan Ice Cream company of Uniontown, and has been in operation in that area for several years.

To Attend Meeting

Miss Judy Minnick, student at Northern High school, and Miss Barbara Jo Rice, student at Southern High school, will attend a meeting Saturday of the Executive council of the Future Homemakers of America, in Baltimore.

Miss Minnick is state president and Miss Rice is state vice-president.

The group will plan the program of work for the year and discuss changes in the constitution.

Flood Control Plan Gets Emphasis At Meeting on Monday

In the midst of drought conditions and scarcity of water in Oakland, there was intense discussion of flood control for this area by city, county officials and conservationists at the City Hall in Oakland Monday night.

The groups were to focus their attention on the necessity of obtaining easements from property owners so that work could proceed on construction of the five dams proposed in the flood control program.

It was indicated that easements for proposed dams one and two should be obtained by January 1, of 1958, which would make it possible for contracts to be awarded by the federal government for construction of these dams by the first of June.

There was some possibility that the work plan would be abandoned entirely by the federal government, should the county group fail to act within the next few months on the procurement of easements.

W. R. Ratledge, assistant state conservationist, who attended Monday night's meeting, said the government had set aside $47,541 for the cost of construction of dams one and two and that it was prepared to proceed next year if the easements were cleared. But he pointed out that the federal government had gone as far as it could, pending further action by the local group.

Mayor Russell Smith said that some twenty-four easements or agreements from landowners were needed.

Possibility of Radio Station Is Advanced

A plan that could lead to the establishment of a radio station in Oakland was outlined Monday night to members of the Board of Directors of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

Presenting the possibility was Tom Butscher, presently employed by a Cumberland radio station, formerly with station WKYR, Keyser. Butscher is presently engaged in inaugurating a radio station at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., and offered the same type program to Oakland.

The first necessity would be procuring $15,000 from citizens of Oakland, which would be used in building the station, providing the necessary engineering services and getting permission to operate the station from the Federal Communications Commission. Those contributing toward the $15,000 would be given preferred stock in the corporation.

After the radio station was constructed, Mr. Butscher and his associates would enter the picture and operate the station with funds obtained from advertisers. Butscher estimated that a station could be operated successfully for about $27,000 annually.

The Chamber of Commerce made no commitment on sponsoring any such program but agreed to talk to business men and give Mr. Butscher their reaction, following the next regular meeting of the Chamber in November.

The board of Directors made final plans about the Autumn Glory excursions prior to adjournment.

Milk Prices Upped

The price of milk went up two cents per quart, effective October 1. Quarts are now obtainable at 25 cents, while gallon containers may be had from 82 to 90 cents.

One supplier said the increase was due to pressure and competition from dairies in eastern markets. The supplier said additional two cents would go to the farmers.

The price of milk in Cumberland is now 27 with 51 cents for a half gallon and 88 cents per gallon.

Bands Win Prizes

Both Oakland bands won prizes at the Buckwheat festival in Kingwood last week-end. Top prize was $100 in each case.

The Mt. City band won top prize in the parade last Thursday night for the best independent band, while the Southern High school senior band won first prize among school bands in the parade on Saturday.

TEACHER COLLEGE AERIAL The above aerial view of the campus of Frostburg State Teachers college shows construction which has taken place during the past ten years and areas where new work is planned. The arrow points to Garrett Hall, science building where six new classrooms and several new offices are planned for 1959. Three major celebrations will be held at the college Saturday: The annual homecoming, groundbreaking for a new building and the naming and dedication of several of the buildings already on the campus. Groundbreaking for Gunter hall will take place at 1:30 while the dedication of Garrett hall and others will take place at 2. Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will bring greetings. James Sensabaugh, alumnus and superintendent of schools, Frederick, will make the dedicatory address. Halls to be officially named are Catherine Frost hall, Allegany hall, Garrett hall and Old Main hall. Gunter hall will be a student union building and dining quarters.

Voting Machines Arrive in County

Two shipments of automatic voting machines have been received in the county, and a third shipment is expected within the next few days. Thirty-six machines have been scheduled for delivery.

Five of the first shipment were damaged in unloading and were returned to the company. They rolled off a flat-bed truck last Wednesday while being transferred from the van, and fell to the ground. Russell L. Smith, clerk to the Board of Supervisors of Elections, said the exteriors were damaged to some extent but he did not know whether or not any of the interiors were damaged.

The machines are being stored in the former Dasie Wholesale Produce warehouse, now owned by Ralph Pritts. The cost of storage is $500 per year, according to Mr. Smith.

Nineteen of the machines arrived last Wednesday and twelve more arrived on Tuesday. The second shipment was unloaded without incident.

One of the machines will be used this evening at Kitzmiller to give a demonstration in their use. William Wilson and Irvin Neat, Allegany county, will be the demonstrators.

The demonstration is sponsored by the Republican Women's club. The Kitzmiller GOP women will sponsor a bazaar after the demonstration. A short business meeting will be held by club members.

Mercury Dips to 23

Heavy frosts descended on the county several days this week, making short work of flowers and most of the vegetables that remained for the coldest reading of the week, although there was a heavy frost on Friday morning. The temperature remained cool Sunday and Monday with a light sprinkle of rain falling on Monday. There was another slight rain on Tuesday, but in neither case was it enough to measure and wells of the area remained low or completely dry.

There was another heavy frost this morning but skies were clear and warmer weather was predicted for the week-end.

Will Observe UNICEF Trick or Treat Again

Tuesday evening, October 29, has been set aside as UNICEF Trick or Treat night, it was announced by Mrs. W. W. Dawson, Youth Conservation chairman of the Oakland Civic club.

This is the second year that this has been tried here.

The Girl Scouts will participate in a house to house canvass. Proceeds will be used to supply food and clothing for undernourished persons, distributed through the United Nations agency.

The collection of funds for the United Nations is planned to make the trick or treat custom of Hallowe'en into something constructive.

Jury Unable to Reach Agreement In Trial of Bray

A Garrett County Circuit Court jury which deliberated about three hours last Thursday afternoon was unable to agree in the trial of Gordon Wells Bray, of Altamont, who was charged with assault with intent to kill Dale Ream, of Mt. Lake Park.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley excused the jurors after the foreman, Walter Bittinger, informed him twelve men were hopelessly deadlocked. They were excused about 4:15 p. m., some four hours after having received the case. However the jurors took an hour for lunch before beginning their deliberations.

State's Attorney Stephen R. Fagenhardt said Bray fired a shot at Ream on June 16, at a house on Alder street in Oakland.

Bray will have to face a new trial, probably during the next jury term in March.

In another case last Thursday Stella Bowman, who operates a tavern along Deep Creek Lake, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a gaming table. The State's Attorney said she made payments on a bowling game in the tavern. Judge Fraley levied a $200 fine.

One Case Delayed

One case in the criminal court has been delayed.

The case against Dale Swauger on a charge of rape will be heard within the next few weeks when a physician from Meyersdale is able to testify. Swauger is accused of assaulting a young girl.

Schools Will Close October 10th, 11th

All county schools will be closed Thursday, October 10 and Friday, October 11, to permit supervisors, principals and teachers to attend the annual meeting of the Maryland State Teachers' association, to be held in the 5th Regiment armory in Baltimore.

Some 15,000 teachers are expected for the three-day session starting Thursday and concluding on Saturday. General meetings will be held at the armory with smaller meetings of a departmental nature to be held at various other locations.

A highlight of the convention will be an array of exhibits of an educational nature, covering the basement floor. There will be exhibits of textbooks and instructional aids for teachers to observe and study. The exhibits will cover every field of instruction taught in the schools.

Turkey-Squirrel Seasons to Begin

Open season on squirrel and turkey gets underway on Saturday, October 5 and will remain in effect until October 31.

Harold Harmon, caretaker for the Mt. Nebo state game preserve, reminded hunters that this year there was a regulation requiring persons shooting wild turkeys to make a report of the killing within twenty-four hours.

He said the purpose of this was to give the State Game commission some idea on future stocking of the birds. Checking stations are listed at the Sheriff's office in Oakland, Matt Storey's, Deep Creek Lake; Yough Motors, Friendsville, and with Floyd Hetz, Grantsville.

Hunters are allowed one turkey per season.

Two Held For Rape

Paul Stonebreaker, 26, and Donald Stonebreaker, 19, of Preston county, were apprehended by Corporal Sam Conrad of the State Police, on a charge of rape.

At a preliminary hearing held on Monday before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend, both were held without bond for action of the Garrett County Grand Jury. The offense was supposed to have been committed on September 26 on the Fingerboard road.

Irvin Liller, Pleasant Valley, entered a charge against his wife, Eleanor Jane Liller, with neglect and desertion of her four minor children, aged 15, 14, 13, and 8.

A hearing was scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning before Trial Magistrate Friend, but through her attorney S. F. Hamill, Jr., she prayed a jury trial.

Water Supply For Oakland Still Low

Water supply of the city of Oakland remains low but the reservoirs at present have enough water to fill normal needs.

This is partly due to the fact that the town is getting an additional supply from a well of the Carnation company. Wells of the town have not been sufficient to fill the usual demands.

The new well being dug is down to a depth of 160 feet, it was learned yesterday, but it is planned to go deeper. There is some water in the well now.

The water shortage at Southern High school prevented the scheduling of the football game there last week since there was no water available for showers. Water has been adequate for drinking and sanitation but special steps have been taken at the cafeteria to decrease the amount of water needed there.

At Red House school water has been hauled for the past two weeks.

The well at Northern High school is furnishing sufficient water [illegible]

Dairy Industry Is Given Boost

Fike's Dairy, Uniontown, To Place Receiving Station In Old Imperial Plant

An impressive boost for the dairy industry of the county was announced this week.

Fike's Dairy, of Uniontown, Pa., is taking over the former Imperial Ice Cream company plant in Oakland, and will equip it to meet U. S. Public Health Service regulations for both Maryland and Pennsylvania, and will be receiving 150,000 pounds of grade A milk daily. This will mean one and one-half million dollars to dairymen of the county, it was pointed out, at the present market price. The amount paid last month was $5.53 per hundred.

The firm is known by the title of R. Bruce Fike and Sons, the sons being Lewis and Robert Fike. Lewis Fike was in Oakland Tuesday meeting with J. B. Dowling, supervisor of sanitarians, Allegany county; Charley B. Miller, sanitarian for Garrett county; Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer; and Harry C. Edwards, member of the House of Delegates, Grantsville. Mr. Dowling said that Edwards and H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the county commissioners, had worked many long hours on details of getting the dairy to establish the milk receiving station here. Alexander Pais, supervisor of milk control for the State of Maryland, also was in the area this week.

The station will be able to accommodate from 85 to 125 producers, Mr. Fike said that some 110 shippers from this county at present are sending milk to Uniontown, and these would be transferred to the Oakland plant.

The dairy plans to spend approximately $150,000 for improvements to the Imperial plant, located at Third and Center streets. Storage tanks, coolers and other equipment would be installed and a tank receiving room prepared. Mr. Fike said the work would take from 30 to 15 days, after which the plant would begin receiving the milk.

The Imperial plant announced last July it would discontinue processing of milk following a meeting with some forty or fifty milk producers and it was announced at that time that there would be opportunity for half of the producers to transfer delivery of milk to Clarksburg.

Some producers did this while others transferred their activities to Fike's dairy, Liberty Milk and Queen City dairy of Cumberland, and the Carnation plant. The company at that time had 80 or more patrons who had been bringing in about 78,000 gallons of milk per month amounting to a monthly payroll of some $20,000. Prior to August, 1955, the company had about 300 patrons.

ENGLANDER'S PHARMACY Monthly News

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

Prescription pharmacists everywhere celebrate National Pharmacy Week from October 6th to 12th. Once each year we rededicate ourselves to our profession of pharmacy.

Millions of dollars are spent annually on research to perfect new drugs. Devoted scientists and physicians clinically test them to make certain they safely accomplish the desired result.

Finally, it is up to us pharmacists. The medicine is prescribed by your Physician and you entrust us with the compounding of your prescription. Because of our years of study in a College of Pharmacy it is our duty to check if the prescribed dosage is safe to take and compound every prescription exactly as your physician specifies.

As your pharmacist, we value this confidence in our knowledge and integrity. Like your Physician we consider your health our chief consideration.

This National Pharmacy Week we again renew our pledge to practice our Profession of Pharmacy in strict accord with our traditional Code of Ethics.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son, William Emerson Thomas, Jr., whom God called home October 6, 1947.

If all the world was ours to give
We would give it, yes, and more
To see the face of the one we loved
Come smiling through the door.
With the Savior he is waiting,
In the upper garden fair.
He is watching for our coming
There shall be no parting there.

Congressman Do Witt S. Hyde • 6th District, Maryland

I am hopeful that the Congress during its next session will deal realistically with the pressing problems that face the small businessman. Admittedly, it is difficult to pinpoint the areas in which the small firm can best be helped. But I have felt that a number of small business could be removed if a more equitable taxing system could be devised.

Owners of small firms are hard to have sufficient money left after taxes for a decent profit. They are also handicapped by the inability, under the present taxing system, of retaining enough money out of the firm's earnings for reasonable business needs and for business growth.

A bill I introduced last session is illustrative of the kind of assistance I have mind. My bill would permit business firms, both incorporated and unincorporated to deduct from taxable income an amount for reinvestment purposes not to exceed twenty percent of net income, or $20,000, whichever is the lesser. Using such formula would aid the small business community in meeting competition and permit individual businesses to grow. It would also encourage the formation of new small business to take the place of units as they grow larger.

Although Congress last session took no action on any of a number of proposals to provide tax relief for the small businessman, there is every indication that some people and will be given the small business community next year.

I feel that equal enforcement of the anti-trust laws would aid the smaller firms. It may be that we need some additional laws or some amendments to existing laws to strengthen the position of the small business and help eliminate unfair competition.

Two measures designed to strengthen the anti-trust laws with the aim of aiding small business will be up for final action next session. They are the pre-merger notification bill and a bill to limit the use of "good faith" as a defense in price discrimination to meet competition. Both bills are widely controversial, but they indicate the congressional concern with the problems of the small businessman in relation to antitrust laws.

GETTING ALONG—

. . . taught thru teamwork in the wonderful world of music

All thru life, your children will be learning to get along with people. The boys and girls who learn this lesson best enjoy more happiness, have more fun, go farther in life.

Few things teach teamwork as well as playing in a band. Here a child sees the importance of teamwork as individual sounds blend to produce music. A child sees what happens when teamwork is lacking—discord! A child gets real satisfaction in knowing he or she is part of a team that has done a job well. You 'belong'.

This is just one more reason why your children should take active part in the wonderful world of music. Why not ask your band director's advice tomorrow?

History of Football

By DICK TRAVIS

Safety First

Despite the numerous injuries that have handicapped the football squad at Southern throughout this season, football is still probably less injurious to the individual than any other team sport.

In view of the above statement we probably ask ourselves, "Why do a series of injuries occur?" We could ask ourselves the same question about any other sport or "Why do we have 'freak' accidents in the home?"

A run of accidents will occur in baseball, as happened this year to the Cleveland Indians, or in college and pro football as happened to Maryland and Notre Dame last year or last year's Pittsburgh Steelers, and nobody can give any particular reason why they occur.

Hardly a season goes by without some contender in baseball, hockey, Lacrosse soccer, football or some other sport is deprived of a high rating because the team has suffered a series of injuries.

Football is a contact sport, but, those responsible for its structure and regulation have taken great strides to climate danger to the player and to make it a rugged but clean sport.

Most of the rules of football were designed to provide safety in this sport. Many examples can be given to show that the major penalties (15 yds.) are assessed to keep the game from becoming too rough.

Regulations prohibiting unnecessary use of the hands, piling on after a ball carrier has been tackled, tackling from behind, slugging, hitting, with the elbows or any act of unnecessary roughness are enforced to protect the individual players.

Each boy is also issued about $100 worth of protective equipment. On his head he wears a plastic or leather helmet inside of which are bands of webbing. If he requests it, he may have a face guard. Shoulder pads made of padded leather protect his shoulders and collarbone. He has padded rib pads, hip pads, thigh pads and knee pads. Over this protective equipment he wears a jersey, pants, socks and shoes.

In view of what has been said we wonder why injuries still occur. Nobody seems to have the answer. We have gone through four seasons of football with only a few injuries and this year we have been plagued with numerous disabilities.

Our boys are conditioned in their daily practice which includes calisthenics, running and all-around physical training. They are also advised as to their diet, rest and other habits which contribute to their physical development.

All of our cheerleaders are now off crutches and we hope that in the future Lady Luck will smile on us.

They Always Deliver

The Garrett County Turkey Growers always deliver their bird. The task was a little bit more difficult this year, as the first letter advising Miss Clare Binko of Bel Air, that she won a turkey at the Fourth annual event at Northern High school on August 31 and been returned marked "unknown." The fact that the first letter was addressed to Miss Clare Pinko instead of Miss Clare Binko, might have had its effect.

However, a second letter produced better results and a personal letter from the girl's father, Albert J. Binko. (She was only 2½ years old.)

Mr. Binko and his family were staying at Mt. Lake Park hotel, being their first visit to the county. He said they decided on the county for Labor Day week-end since they had always heard how nice and friendly it was here.

While riding around Deep Creek Lake they saw one of the posters about the supper and decided to attend. He writes: "The meal was the best that we have had at any school, church or other civic affair. The homemade bread and butter were out of this world."

He declared he liked the county very much and was thinking of getting some of his friends and coming here to deer hunt this year.

One Man Enlists

Enlistment of John A. Carter, Jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Carter, of Rockville, has been announced by M Sgt. Joseph E. Sherren, recruiter. For the past several years he has made his home at Mt. Lake Park.

He enlisted September 17 for two years and was sent to Fort Jackson, S. C., for further processing.

Effective October 1 all male applicants enlisting in the army will be sent to Fort Knox, Ky., for basic training.

Church Women Attend Covered Dish Supper

Fifty-six women representing church organizations from Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, White Church community and Deer Park met for a covered dish supper at the Community hall in Loch Lynn last Thursday night at 6:30.

Invitation to the meeting was issued by Mrs. Hope Moon, president of the local Council of Church Women.

Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, Oakland, secretary, introduced Mrs. E. Elwood Williams, Jr., president of the State Council of Church Women, Annapolis; and Mrs. Milton C. Lang, state chairman of leadership education.

They spoke on the work of the state and local councils following the dinner. Chairmen for the various departments were named as follows: Christian World Relations, Mrs. Jamie Elliott, Mt. Lake Park. World Community Day, Mrs. Leslie Rodeheaver, Deer Park.

Christian Social Relations, Mrs. Verna Harvey, Loch Lynn.

Christian World Missions, Mrs. Earl Lee, Oakland.

World Day of Prayer, Mrs. Vernie Smouse, Oakland.

Leadership Education, Mrs. W. E. Tucker, Steyer.

Finance, Mrs. William H. Bell, Mt. Lake Park.

The Church Woman (magazine) Mrs. Delbert Bittinger, Mt. Lake Park.

Public Relations, Mrs. E. Ray Jones, Oakland.

World Community Day was set for Friday, November 1, and was to be held at White Church. Theme of the program will be "Bread, Freedom, Dignity."

Attending the meeting from Oakland were Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, Mrs. Vernie Smouse, Mrs. W. S. Patterson, Mrs. M. C. Cargo, Mrs. Newton Coplin, Mrs. Earl Zepp, Mrs. E. Ray Jones and Miss Icie Friend.

Fairfax Stone

vast domain of Lord Fairfax, the English baron who once controlled the entire northern neck of Virginia and who is said to have "ruled the land with an iron hand."

The original stone was placed in 1746. Another stone was placed in 1859 by Lt. Mitchler. Another marker was erected in 1910 during the boundary dispute between Maryland and West Virginia. The new stone is larger than its predecessor and there will be a metal marker to tell its story. In 1955 the West Virginia Legislature appropriated $1,500 towards restoring the stone and the last Legislature provided an additional $400.

The Western Maryland Railway company has contributed four acres of land about the site and the right of way for a one and one-half mile ingress and egress road. The company will take part in the dedication program.

The site is in the area of Blackwater Falls State Park and is expected to become another attraction for visitors.

Mr. McKeever and West Virginians interested in preserving historical landmarks of the state have collaborated in arranging for the dedication.

Projects For Civic Clubs Outlined at Joint Meeting

Glaser and Mrs. James McHenry, president of the Oakland Civic club and Junior Woman's Civic club, respectively.

Now Deep Sea Diver

Delbert Bittinger, Jr., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Bittinger, of Mt. Lake Park, is now an accomplished deep sea diver for the U. S. Navy.

Rated as a machinist mate third class, with Divers' Salvage, he has just completed a course in deep sea diving at the U. S. Navel school for ship salvage, deep sea divers, in Washington, D. C. Prior to that he attended a second class diving school at Bayonne, N. Y.

Bittinger entered the service in June, 1955. After taking recruit training at Bainbridge he was stationed aboard the USS Rizzi. He attended a machinist's mate school at Great Lakes, Ill., and was assigned to the USS Paracutin, an ammunition ship at which time he took a six months tour of the Far East.

He is now stationed aboard the USS Jason, a repair ship, with headquarters at San Diego, Calif., and within the next few days will leave for another tour of the Far East. Bittinger is now qualified as a deep sea diver, up to a depth of 300 feet, and for underwater demolition and aqualung.

Flood Control

control dams was prepared in the closing months of 1955, which was submitted to Congress for approval last year.

The Soil Conservation service, in its preliminary estimate, had suggested the construction of eight dams on Wilson Run and the Little Youghiogheny river, at an estimated cost of $331,000, plus an outlay of an additional $18,000 for channel improvement of the Little Youghiogheny. In the final analysis three of the eight dams were eliminated and a work plan was devised and presented to Congress which included five dams, to be built at an estimated cost of $187,000, with the two sponsoring institutions, the County Commissioners and the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, committing themselves for $10,000 over a five year period.

Last year the necessity of the local groups providing $10,000 was altered and the Federal government agreed to bear the entire expense. Procuring of the easements, however, was left to the sponsoring institutions.

The proposed sites include three dams on Wilson Run, one in the vicinity of the Loomis property, one in the Cherry Glade run area, and one on the Winters property; two on the Little Youghiogheny river, one in the neighborhood of the E. O. Wonderly farm, and one above the lake at Mt. Lake Park, on Broadford.

These five dams would have a drainage area of 8,508 acres and upon completion would be calculated to prevent any further flood damage to Oakland to around 70 percent over a 100-year period. In Oakland's last flood the total damage was estimated at around $70,000.

Working on the procuring of easements at present are Irvin Feld, Walter W. Dawson and Lowell Loomis. Mayor Smith said additional persons would be named to procure easements from property owners involved in dams three, four and five.

Attending Monday's meeting were members of the City Council, Mayor Smith, two county Commissioners, H. D. Swartzentruber and Elvin A. Roth; William W. Nace, district soil conservationist; members of the Garrett Soil Conservation district committee, and other interested citizens.

Southern Defeated By Beall High 34-0

Mike Fabbri scored touchdowns on 10 and 13 yard runs and kicked four extra points last Friday night as Beall High school's mountaineers defeated Southern High 31 to 0. Beall scored in every period.

A pass interception by Dick Plummer set up the first score. In the second quarter Minnick culminated a 76-yard drive with a 16-yard dash. McKenzie recovered a fumbled punt in the third period and Fabbri covered the remaining distance to the goal line. Allen scored early in the final period.

The loss was Southern's fourth in a row. Coach Dick Travis used all but one of his players in the contest including Gnegy, McRobie, Friend, Sanders, Kelly, Murphy, Duling, Coker, Bittinger, Collins, Butler, as his regulars.

Southern will play St. Francis of Morgantown on the local field this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Fire Auxiliary To Sell Black-Eyed Susans

Members of fire department auxiliaries will make a special effort to sell black-eyed susans during fire prevention week, October 6 to 12.

A hospital fund of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Maryland State Firemen's association is supported by the sale of these Black-eyed susans. Any active member of a department when ill or injured not in line of duty as a fireman is entitled to weekly benefits from the hospital fund.

The work goes on throughout the year but a special effort is made during fire prevention week.

During fire prevention week the President of the United States and governors proclaim against this great destroyer of lives and property.

A concerted effort is made to eliminate fire hazards in homes and other properties. It is estimated that ninety-five percent of all destructive fires are from carelessness and negligence.

Southern Juniors Trim Petersburg

Southern's junior high football team defeated Petersburg junior high 7 to 0 on the home field last Monday.

In the third quarter a fifteen yard holding penalty put the ball on the Petersburg 29 yard line. In five running plays Southern carried the ball over the goal line. Dick Stuck went for five yards. Prince went for ten through center and again through center for nine yards. Harold Sharpless went through the line to the one. Stuck then carried over on a quarterback sneak. Stuck plunged the extra point.

Most of the game was played between the 30 yard lines with neither team able to put on a sustained drive.

Frightening, isn't it? You see a picture like this and suddenly you feel as if you are standing at the edge of a chasm in the dark. You are confronted with the threat of the unknown, and you don't like it.

Why, you wonder, does it have to be like this? Why can't men live together in peace?

We all need the courage to face the unknown future unafraid. We need to find and to develop love, understanding, and peace of mind. But to attain our goal, we need help. That help can be found in the Church, which gives us Faith.

On World Wide Communion Sunday—millions of men and women will unite in solemn observance of one of Christianity's holy sacraments. There will be new faces at thousands of altars, men and women who have only recently begun to realize where man's Hope is to be found.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Ideal and Real

Lesson for October 6, 1957

PAUL was not the fly-by-night sort of preacher who passes through a town, stirs up a meeting and moves on, so to speak, without looking back. He was not the kind of missionary who preaches to the natives gathered on the river bank, starts his engine and cruises on down the river, confident that the gospel has been brought to the people. Paul being a statesman as well as a saint, a psychologist as well as a theologian, stayed long enough — whenever they would let him—in every place he visited, to found a church, a going, active fellowship of believers. Then after he left, he would take time from his more than busy life to write back. He knew that churches, like new Christians, like new babies, need post-natal care. It is not safe to bring them into the world and just leave them.

Dr. Foreman

Called to Be Saints

No church gave Paul more trouble than the one at Corinth. That city was big, booming and bad. Most of the Corinthian church members had had no background of experience in the high religion of the Jews, but came in from raw paganism. Few of them were persons of great culture. At the time Paul wrote to them first, none of them had been Christians long. And yet Paul writes to them as the "sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints." As J. B. Phillips translates Paul's Greek, these Corinthians are "those whom Christ has made holy, who are called to be God's men and women." Almost every one of Paul's letters to Christian churches begins on this same high note. To the Ephesian Christians he writes that they have been "stamped with the promised Holy Spirit as a guarantee of purchase" (Phillips). The Colossians he calls "saints and faithful brethren." Theologians and others have often discussed the question: Is the church human or divine? If we take Saint Paul seriously, we have to say, at least, that the church is made of persons who have been touched and are being transformed by the divine.

"There Is Quarreling . . ."

The ink is hardly dry on the high words Paul has used to describe his "brothers" in the Corinthian church, when he begins to write in a quite different key. "It has been reported," he says, "that there is quarreling among you." The reader who pushes on through this and the second letter to the Corinthians may be shocked by what he sees. These people are unspiritual (3:1), they are babies (3:2), there is jealously and strife among them (3:3). Gross sin goes on among them unrebuked (5:1,2). They have lawsuits against one another (6:1). They have to be warned against prostitution (6:15, 16). Some of them came drunk to communion, or got drunk there (11:21). Paul is afraid that when he next visits them he may find "selfishness, slander, gossip, conceit and disorder" (II Cor. 12:20). How can he say such things to people who have been "sanctified" and are "called to be saints"? The truth is, Paul sees the Corinthians, as he saw all his converts and all his churches, in two lights. He sees the ideal church, what it ought to be and what in the mind of God it already is, or more precisely what it is destined to be.

The Answer

Now the church moves from where it is to where it is to be. But by what power? What is the secret of the church's transformation from what it is to what it is destined to become, from the real to the ideal? The answer is—in one word—Christ. Paul calls him the "power of God and the wisdom of God." In other words, as Christ comes to live in the hearts of these raw, imperfect, quarreling Christians-by-intention, they will become changed, as time goes on, more and more into his likeness. As they face their many problems, they will learn to find the solutions as they learn more and more what the spirit of Christ really is. If Christ lives in his church, the church will not be tempted to confuse what it is with what it ought to be,—it will not mistake the real church for the ideal one; but on the other hand, if He lives in the church, no one has a right to be discouraged, and fear that the ideal will never come true.

Water Supply . . . . .

The need of more water is constantly with us. The unusual dry weather this summer served to bring it forcibly to our minds once again.

Being short of water is not a new experience. Year after year it is the same. The town digs a new well and for a while there is plenty. But the water table drops and more users are added and the same old story is repeated. Every three or four years we are in the midst of a dry spell and the situation becomes critical. It is critical right now. It would be worse if it were not for wells of Sterling Processing and Carnation.

A new well has been completed and soon the water will flow into the pipelines. The two and one-half inches of rainfall will finally seep far enough into the ground to replenish the underground streams and the conditions will be eased for the time being. But another crisis will appear all too soon.

The town is now embarking on a program that could solve the problem for many years. By impounding the waters of Bradley Run and Miller's Run, there is opportunity to create a reserve supply that would last through any prolonged dry spell.

But the problem is not an easy one. Engineers may have to impound Miller's Run and raise it by pump high enough so that it could flow toward Bradley by gravity. There is very little difference in elevations but there is a rise in the terrain between the two streams. Engineers feel that they can solve the problem. The cost of construction, however, may be fairly heavy.

There isn't much choice. Just about as many wells as the area can stand already have been dug, and the only thing remaining is this last attempt at creating an impoundment. So have patience. It may be, that by the time our next crisis appears scientists will have discovered an economical way to purify that salty sea water. Then all we would have to do would be to haul it two hundred miles from Baltimore harbor. But we had better not depend upon the sea water, we had better dig into the situation close at hand and work out our own salvation.

Town Rejects April 1 Deadline For Sewer Plant

Offers To Discuss Sanitary District For Entire Area

A direct order by the State Health department for the town of Oakland to proceed with construction of facilities to remove pollution from the Little Youghiogheny river by April 1, 1958, brought a flat refusal by city officials, but they offered to discuss the possibility of setting up a sanitary district that would involve the entire area.

Letters to this effect went back and forth.

A letter from Edward Daveus, acting chairman of the State Department of Health, told the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland that it must have an engineering report prepared and submitted to the state board of health by April 1, 1958, which would set forth methods proposed for treatment of industrial wastes and sanitary sewage which now are discharged directly into the Little Youghiogheny river, so that the said wastes and sewage would no longer be a water pollution problem.

The letter further ordered the town to "provide the State Board of Health by April 1 with a statement of your intent to proceed with construction of treatment facilities for the wastes and sewage."

In an accompanying letter Mr. Daveus told the town governing body that numerous situations which had occurred throughout the state had resulted in potential health hazards as well as stream pollution and ineffective water supply and sewerage disposal facilities, affecting not only individuals but communities in general.

The letter also indicated the board preferred not to resort to the issuing of orders for securing compliance with the law but added that "such action will be taken if necessary."

The town's refusal to comply is embodied in a letter prepared by the Mayor and Town Council and signed by Mayor Russell Smith and Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, president of the council.

The letter declared that all members of the town council of Oakland were vitally interested in sanitation and general health of the town but in their opinion there was no use of the town of Oakland attempting to remove pollution from the Little Youghiogheny river when all persons living east of Oakland, as well as towns of Deer Park, Loch Lynn and Mt. Lake Park dump their waste in the river, and that the town of Crellin empties sewage in the Big Youghiogheny.

The letter further contains this: "In view of the foregoing we therefore hereby notify you we do not expect to have available by April 1, 1958, any statement relative to our intent to proceed with the construction of the treatment facilities for wastes and sewage. Should your board be interested we will be glad to meet with representatives of the board of health in Oakland to discuss the possibility of setting up a sanitary district to include all areas dumping sewage and waste into the Little Youghiogheny and Big Youghiogheny rivers."

MORE POWER TO YOU—Workmen of the Kingwood and Oakland line department of the Monongahela Power company are shown at work at the substation about one mile south of Oakland on the Monte Vista road, getting ready to convert a feeder line to a 66 kv line which will reinforce the power supply of the entire area. The cut-over will be made next Thursday afternoon when current will be interrupted for about two hours. Story of the change-over and improvement of service appears in today's issue.—Republican Photo.

Reinforcement Of Power Supply Scheduled Here

Improvements Of $80,000 Made To Power Lines; To Cut Over October 17

Electric service to customers in the Oakland area served by the West Maryland Power Company will be improved through the reinforcement of the over-all power supply set for completion here next week at a cost of approximately $80,000.

District Manager J. T. Cain said actual connection of the new facilities is planned for 2:30 p. m. D. S. T. next Thursday, October 17. This work will require about two hours to complete under normal conditions, he explained.

The job entails the energizing of a new $32,700 substation, located about one mile south of Oakland on Third street with an 11-mile transmission line recently constructed from Terra Alta.

Technically, the project required the conversion of the present 12 kv feeder line serving this area to 66 kv and the construction of a 2,500 KVA substation with its necessary terminal facilities.

A $78,815 price tag has been placed on the entire project by the parent Monongahela Power company.

The work will provide a greater continuity of service to the entire mountain-top area of Preston and Garrett counties including the communities of Deer Park, Swanton, Mountain Lake Park, Deep Creek Lake, Aurora, Hopemont, and Terra Alta.

The heavier 66 kv line, with its protective overhead ground wire, is expected to be less vulnerable to damage from electrical and wind storms.

It was explained that the changes were necessitated by the general economic development of the area with resultant increased power demands.

These include the some 14 new homes on the planning boards or under construction in Oakland alone, expansion of conservation facilities in the Deep Creek area, general commercial growth due largely to a successful tourist promotion program, as well as the opening of the Sterling Processing Plant.

The Huskies broke the scoring ice two plays after kicking off. On Butler, a Southern back behind his the second running play tackled goal for a safety and two points.

Intercepted passes set up for two Northern scoring thrusts. Humberson snatched a Southern pass to give Robeson his third scoring chance, and Hugh Umbel picked off another Highlander aerial to set up the final TD scored by Bill Miller. Robeson passed 11 yards to Spear to put the ball on the one-yard line. On the next play Miller scored.

Halftime score was 14 to 0. The teams failed to score in the third period.

Request To Reverse Decision of Council Brings No Action

A request that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland reverse a decision made at its last regular meeting, concerning a permit a place to test firing of rifles within the corporate limits of town, met with no action at the council's regular meeting Monday night.

Twelve persons in the neighborhood of Golf Course road signed a petition presented to the council strongly objecting to the council issuing a permit by the Mayor and council at the last meeting to Carroll E. Miller, one of the members of the city council, to build a back stop for the sighting in and test firing of rifles at his home at the west edge of Oakland.

It was the opinion of the twelve that on ordinance of the town prohibited the discharging of firearms within the corporation. The request declared that the "testing of rifles in a residential district most certainly is out of order, is extremely dangerous and a definite nuisance," and they did not feel "we should have to tolerate such a nuisance and would appreciate a reversal of their decision."

The council took no action.

An ordinance of the town states "it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to discharge any cannon, gun, pistol or firecrackers, squibs, or fireworks, or shoot any slingshot, bow and arrow, crossbow or dartgun at any time within the corporate limits except by permission of the Mayor and Town Council in writing.

Appeal Case To Be Heard Friday

The appeal case involving fifteen former employes of the Sterling Processing company, of Oakland, who were found guilty of remaining upon company land after they had been ordered to leave, following a work "sit-down," will be heard before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the Garrett County Circuit Court, on Friday morning. The session is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock.

Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend, after finding the fifteen women guilty at a hearing September 18, assessed fines of $25 and costs against each one but suspended the fines.

Notice of the appeal was filed by W. Dwight Stover, their attorney, and the women were released upon their own recognizance for their appearance in the Circuit court when ordered to do so.

Women involved in the case included Nellie Sell, Betty Severe, Beatrice Butcher Crosco, Anna Matthews, Jean Hartley, Flora Burton, Phyllis Bowser, Margaret Arnold, Eva Sell, Vera Arnold, Janet Reams, Joanne Shahan, Velma Arnold, Virginia Bowman and Madeline Gordon. Warrants had been issued originally for three others which were unable to be served by Sheriff James E. Frantz prior to the hearing.

Earl Wise, production manager, had testified at the hearing that 24,000 chickens had been received that morning and that eighteen women had refused to go to work because a supervisor had been dismissed. He testified he had ordered them either to work or leave and they did not leave at the time. They left later and then returned to the plant later and signified they were ready to go to work, but were refused admittance.

Mrs. Burton had testified she heard no orders to start to work that morning and did not hear anyone ordered to leave the plant. Mrs. Crosco and Miss Vera Arnold testified in a similar manner. They claimed they did not intend to take control of the plant at any time.

Mr. Wise testified that as a result of refusal to work that a partial loss of 300 to 400 chickens resulted.

That the new elementary school on Dennett road, near Oakland, would be ready for occupancy prior to the Thanksgiving holidays, was announced Tuesday following a regular meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday morning.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, told members of the board he hoped to be able to move into the new school at that time, and that he anticipated that the new school on route 10 would be completed by February 1.

At the same meeting the board approved a request for bids on materials for the renovation of the front portion of the Annex building on Green street, to be used for school board offices.

The matter of obtaining additional land around the Bloomington school has been tabled by the Board. Mr. Hawkins said $2,000 was offered for five building lots adjoining the school property but that no reply had been forthcoming from the owner of the land.

With an emergency existing at the Red House school, since there has been no water there for the past month, the board approved the drilling of a new well. Contract was awarded to John Brenneman at $2.15 per foot, the only bidder.

Appointment of Mrs. Anna Sue Harvey as principal of Deer Park school was approved, and also the transfer of Mrs. Hildred Mulvey to fourth grade in the new school on Dennett road.

Guilty of Thefts

Four persons were found guilty of thefts at trials before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend in Oakland last week.

Edward R. Gordon and George Edward Riley were charged with stealing two lengths of pipe worth $50 and one sheet of copper worth $5 from the property of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company. Both were found guilty at a hearing on October 3 and fined $25 and costs and ten days in jail.

Franklin Haddix and William Davy, of Kitzmiller, were charged with stealing and carrying away a calf, the property of Leighton Harvey, valued at $20.00. At a hearing October 8 both were found guilty and fined $20 and costs each and given a six months suspended sentence in the House of Correction. If the fine and costs were not paid within 30 days they would be compelled to start serving their sentences.

The 2½ million dollar Chronic disease hospital was set to open at Hagerstown about November 1.

Steady Downpour Breaks Drought

A downpour of approximately two and one-half inches of rain on Sunday and Monday brought a halt to drought conditions in Garrett county, but Oakland was still suffering from a water shortage.

Ralph Weber, veteran weather man, in listing the rainfall, said that it would take several days for the water to seep into the underground streams, but that it should get there before too long. The water supply hit its lowest point Tuesday when a number of citizens were entirely without it, but conditions improved throughout the night and the pressure had improved by mid-day Wednesday.

Skies partially cleared on Tuesday and continued clear on Wednesday following a heavy fog over the area early that day.

The city has maintained a fire reserve in one of the town's two reservoirs to a depth of eleven feet, but there has been no occasion to use it up to the present time.

Doing All It Can

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, president of the town council, said the town was doing everything in its power to remedy the situation. They were pumping water into the mains from the Sterling Processing company well and also the Carnation company well.

The new well at the golf course, west of town, has been completed and a good supply of water obtained and this is expected to be piped into the lines in the near future.

Looking toward a long range program, the council already has had a meeting with William W. Nace, district soil conservationist. The government agency will furnish engineering service and there have been plans to make an impoundment on Bradley Run and also Miller's Run, which could eventually furnish the town with enough of a supply that there would be no shortages in the future. Miller's Run is approximately the same level as Bradley Run.

Sentenced to House On Assault Charges

Jack K. Glaze was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend on two charges of assault last Friday. The warrants were sworn out by Sheriff James E. Frantz.

He was charged with assault of Mrs. Clarence Beckman and also assault of Arthur Barnard. Magistrate Friend found him guilty of both charges and was sentenced to serve one year in the House of Correction for each offense, the sentences to run consecutively.

State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt said Glaze had been brandishing a revolver upon several occasions. He was discharged from the service several months ago.

The excursionists pretty much stayed with their busses, although some did get out for a brief period at Swallow Falls. Bus drivers extended their sightseeing trips to other sections of the lake and other areas around Swallow Falls and brought them all back to Oakland by five o'clock when the train began its homeward journey to Baltimore and Washington.

Officials announced that some 500 to 600 tickets already had been sold for the trip this Sunday when the same schedule will be repeated.

Is Your Name BAKER?

Do you know that:

Baker is one of the oldest of occupational surnames. It stems from the Old English "bacan" meaning "to dry by heat" and from the German "backer" which signifies a "baker"; and it was bestowed, when surnames first came into vogue, upon those who earned their livelihood in such trade. Equivalent German names to Baker are Backer, Becker and Bakker.

John Baker (1722-1792) and Lawrence Baker (1745-1805) both served as colonels respectively in the Georgia and North Carolina troops during the Revolutionary War. Baker County, Georgia, is named for the former. Another patriot was Lieutenant Henry Baker (1759-1806) of the Maryland troops.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has ninety-seven listings of individuals by the name of Baker who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

The new village of Grantsville was begun in 1832 and it is said that John Baker was the builder of the first house there in which he operated both a tavern and a general store.

Baker Mountain in the state of Washington is 10,827 feet high.

Numerous genealogies of the Baker family have been published. One is entitled "The Genealogical Record of Reverend Nicholas Baker (1610-1678) And His Descendants." Another is the Genealogy of Richard Baker who was born in England and died in Dorchester, Mass., in 1689.

Newton Diehl Baker (1871-1937) was Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson.

Samuel Baker (1871-1933) was governor of Missouri.

Henry Scott Baker is treasurer and secretary of the board of trustees of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

William C. Baker is vice-president in charge of operations and maintenance, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company.

The United Brethren Break Ground For New Parsonage

The United Brethren church of Loch Lynn Heights broke ground yesterday for a new parsonage that will cost an estimated $13,500. Work on the building began immediately after the ground breaking ceremony at 1 o'clock. It will be located on the vacant lot between the present parsonage and the church.

It will be a three-bedroom home, one story, with pastor's study, basement, a breezeway and garage. It will be brick construction for part of three sides with a stone front, with shingles for the balance of the exterior. Harry Paugh will be the contractor.

Rev. Bryan Blair, pastor, said the building committee was planning a fund raising campaign and hopes to liquidate the indebtedness over a five-year period or perhaps less. The building committee includes C. W. Wagner, Allen S. Paugh and Walter Campbell.

Parsonage trustees are Joe Callis, Carlton Sembower, Lonnie Rodeheaver and Fred Bland.

The present parsonage is now over fifty years old. It will be sold and the proceeds used to help pay for the new structure.

Population Changes Noted In Maryland

Distribution of population throughout the counties is changing, as revealed by estimates of the Maryland State Department of Health. Metropolitan counties of Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince George's are gaining, while Baltimore city continues to lose proportionately.

Garrett county is listed at a flat 20,000, or seven tenths of one percent of the entire population of the state.

Counties with less population are Calvert with 14,300; Queen Anne's with 15,200; Kent with 15,300; and Caroline, with 19,200. Somerset and Talbot are at practically the same level with 20,500 in Somerset and 20,100 in Talbot. Allegany is listed at 82,000.

Baltimore City has an estimated population of 980,000, for 33.8 percent of the state's total. Total Maryland population is listed at 2,895,000.

School enrollment has increased since 1950 by a considerably higher percentage than has total population in every county except Somerset and Garrett. School enrollment increased 7.3 percent, compared to a total population increase of 3.1 percent, and a per capita income after taxes increase of 2.6 percent.

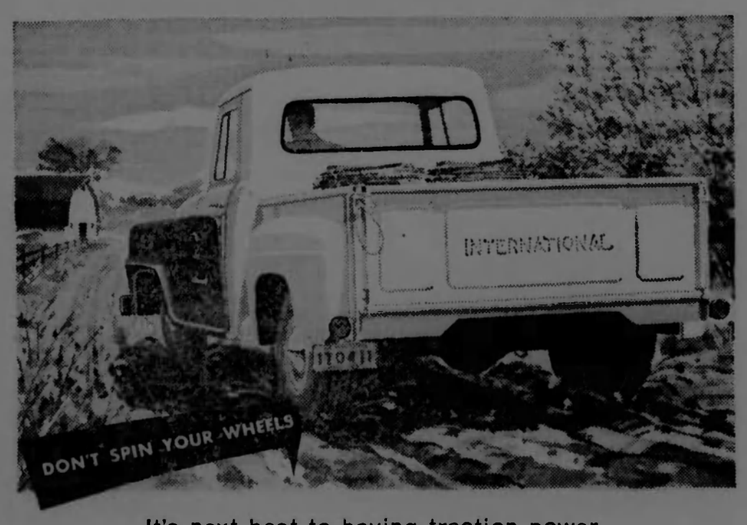
Come in and see our INTERNATIONAL® Truck
"POWR-LOK® Test"!



It's next best to having traction power on all four wheels—and the cost is so low!

POWR-LOK is an ingenious new differential that gives power to the rear wheel that has the most traction.

With POWR-LOK you pull through mud holes, loose sand, other slippery places that would normally stop a truck with standard differential.

So don't spin your wheels. Be sure your next truck is an INTERNATIONAL with POWR-LOK differential. Come in and see our convincing test, first chance you get.

How POWR-LOK Works
With a conventional differential, power goes to the wheel with the least traction. This results in a loss of power—and you're stuck. But with POWR-LOK, power goes to the wheel with the most traction. So long as either wheel can catch hold, you keep moving.

NOW! Only $35.00
Factory-installed on a New INTERNATIONAL Truck. Federal and local taxes additional.

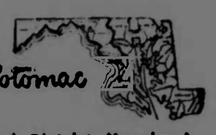
Along The Potomac



Congressman D. Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The new International Atomic Energy Agency, now holding its first meeting in Vienna, reminds us of the role of private industry in the development of the peaceful uses of the atom. American private industry is making a substantial contribution to the application of atomic energy as an industrial, agricultural, medical, and power production tools.

Despite the great progress made by private enterprise in developing the peaceful uses of the atom, there is a group within Congress that would hold the role of industry to a minimum. It seems to me the time has come to increase the opportunities for American businessmen, not to shackle them by government monopoly.

The application of atomic energy to the production of power is the symbol of the new era of history we are entering. The question we must answer is: Shall the production of atomic power be a Federal monopoly? We have learned through sad experience that monopolies of any kind are dangerous and repugnant. History teaches us that industrial and economic growth suffers under state monopolies. Our present industrial supremacy and the high standard of living enjoyed by our people is the direct result of the American system of private enterprise.

I do not believe that the American people are willing to sacrifice the benefits of the atomic age to the public ownership and production theory. Yet the public power advocates would do just that. Late last summer we saw the advocates of Federal ownership and control of the production of atomic power use the Atomic Energy Commission's appropriation bill as a means of furthering their objectives.

The best assurance we can have that our Nation will maintain its atomic leadership in the world is the partnership of private industry and government in the development of the atom for peaceful uses.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Sure, It's In Politics

It is an ugly and awful thing that in a great country such as this a little demagogue from a relatively unimportant State, who broke faith with the President of the United States after a conference on a grave matter, could have been able singlehandedly to raise the lid off the most explosive issue that almost anyone now living can recall, and which once raised cannot easily be controlled. Yet that seems exactly what Governor Faubus of Arkansas has done.

Quite clearly now this issue will figure in the short session of this Congress which begins in January. With equal clarity it will be an issue in the congressional campaign of next year and also in the presidential campaign of 1960. There is no way to stop it. Discussion cannot be choked off. This is not a question upon which "reasonable" men on both sides can "get together" and reach a mutually satisfactory solution. It is a question upon which the northerners and the northwesterners, who have never lived in the South, where the Negro population is largely concentrated, can never really understand the intensity with which the southerner approaches it.

Nor can the true southerner ever really comprehend or condone the hypocrisy with which—particularly in politics—the white politicians of the North and West for so many years dealt—and still are dealing—with this problem. Of course, the Franklin D. Roosevelt family did not originate this hypocrisy, but it must be admitted that Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt did more to promote and increase that hypocrisy than any others. It is not worth while to repeat here the details of the Roosevelt-Farley-Guffey-Hopkins deal of 1936, when the Negroes were transposed from a basic Republican asset into a Democratic asset—though it is a true story and stamped the Democratic party with an even greater degree of hypocrisy than had previously been exhibited by the Republicans—which was very great, indeed.

Perhaps, however, it is worth while to repeat an often told story about a well known woman Democratic leader of the North and the Negroes. Some years ago asked by a friend who did not agree with her on this issue how she would feel if one of her children married a Negro, this lady, it was reported, thought for a moment and then, with a benign smile, replied: "Well, if they were truly in love, I would feel it was all right." This may not be a true story and certainly this writer does not vouch for its truth. But, if it is true it ought to be authoritatively denied. For it is a story often told and quite widely credited. Also, it embodies the real fear behind the South's implacable resistance to the school integration provision in the Civil Rights Act. It isn't that in the South, given time, they could not and would not assimilate and eventually cooperate in that idea. The real basis of Southern resistance is that they feel in the South that co-educational integration inevitably tends toward the abolition of all social barriers, particularly of intermarrying, between the races.

That is a thought deeply repugnant to white men and women of the South. They revolt violently from the idea. And yet that is the root of the whole business and that is why it is so horrible that the racial question should get into politics. Yet no one can deny that it has now been injected completely into politics—that both parties are "out for the Negro vote," willing to go the limit to get it, clearly understanding that that vote is more or less decisive in many states. In this space it was said last week that many politicians and political observers were speculating and prophesying as to the effect of the Little Rock tragedy upon the vote in 1958 and 1960—but that no one really knew. In the past few days these speculations have increased in number but not in substance.

For example, Senator Potter, Republican, of Michigan, who knows little about about the South, burst forth with a statement that the Negroes would now vote Republican, having discovered how false was their Democratic friendship. Mr. George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, is inclined to think that they will vote Democratic as usual. Mr. Meany is a friend of the ex-convict, Mr. Joe Fay. Now he is almost ministerial in his purity and is strongly against the evil Hoffa. Many others are speculating abut the Negro vote in the forthcoming elections. But no one knows—not even Senator Wayne Morse, who knows a very great deal about everything. All that is certain about it is that there will be a most strenuous struggle by both party machines to get it—which is a pity—a very great pity.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

Among the teachings of Christ, there are many one sentence statements that he makes that are wonderful in their simple clarity, and insight into the needs and temptations of man. During the next few weeks, I will treat some of these "Christian Proverbs." The first one is recorded in Matthew 6:19, 20: Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust consume and where thieves break in and steal, but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust consumes and where thieves do not break in and steal.

Many men would sarcastically say to this statement that they need not worry about this problem, because they have no way of laying up any treasure, for after their bills are paid, there is nothing left. This may indeed be true for some, but it is not only the rich people who have money left that lay up treasures on earth. They may be the worst offenders, but most every man has some plans for retirement benefits, either through social security or his own insurance or other investments. And the question here is not over the wisdom of a man preparing himself for the years when he cannot work, for there is no sin in a man's efforts not to be a burden on society in his waning years. But the point here is the fact that too many people apparently think that the only thing that they have to prepare for is their retirement, when as a matter of fact, many will never get to the age when they can use these treasures that they have stored up, and with no treasures in store in heaven, their outlook in the eternal life is pretty dim. They may have cared well for their material benefits, but as for their spiritual life, they continually put it off "'til tomorrow," when for them they meet their Maker before they are ready. When we think in terms of practical Christianity, I wonder how many men give as much money in a year's time to the work of the Kingdom of God as they do to their retirement plans.

It is not all money, however, for Christian stewardship is an area that covers all parts of a man's life. Again we ask the question, how does the time we spend in our secular work of providing for bread and meat stack up with the time we have spent in works of love or the strengthening of our spiritual life. Along these lines, too many people judge a sermon not on the quality of the spiritual instruction given, but on how long the sermon has been, with a groaning complaint if the sermon happens to run a little longer than expected. "I don't have time" is the answer that many a church gets when she asks her members to do a little something, and this is the answer of the vast majority.

Again we draw attention to Christ's statement: Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust consume, and where thieves break in and steal, but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust consumes and where thieves do not break in and steal." Take stock of your life—see where your treasure is—for as he also says, "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

Better Planning For Water and Sewerage Will Be Required

More adequate planning of all forms of community water supply and sewerage services will be required under a policy statement just issued by the Maryland State Board of Health.

The action was found necessary as a result of the frequency with which the Health department has been forced to deal, on an emergency basis, with situations not conforming with State laws or regulations regarding the development of water supply and sewage disposal facilities.

In tightening its enforcement of requirements for advance planning to insure adequate facilities in new and growing communities, the Board has placed renewed emphasis on the responsibility which rests with local community officials and developers. Those receiving copies of the official statement included state legislators, county commissioners, officials of corporate communities, realtors, consulting engineers and others concerned with water and sewerage facilties.

The Board's action is aimed at correcting the following types of circumstances with which it has been faced on frequent occasions:

1. Continuing requests for extensions of sewers in communities where inadequate consideration has been given to the development of sewage treatment plants.

2. Requests for permission to discharge raw or partially treated sewage to streams as a means of correcting sewage nuisances in inadequately planned subdivisions, when in reality the resultant effect of stream pollution is frequently worse than the original condition.

3. Failure by local officials to require builders to comply with Board regulations regarding the size of lots and individual water supply and sewerage systems prior to permitting filing of plats (i.e., subdivisions plans) and starting of construction.

4. Community officials and real estate developers proceeding with construction of water supply and sewerage services before having received approval of plans and issuance of construction permits.

5. Continual petitioning of the Board by community officials and real estate developers for precipitous action on permits where failure to study Board requirements has produced situations involving acute financial hardship and critical housing occupancy problems.

The department indicated that full legal action would be brought against all who fail to comply with the required standards laid down by the health department. It said that due recognition of these factors is particularly necessary in small communities, where local officials and real estate developers may not be fully aware of the problems involved in providing expanded community facilities for mushrooming populations.

Rededication For Fairfax Stone Held

The newest Fairfax Stone, which stands at the headwaters of the North Branch of the Potomac river where Grant, Preston and Tucker counties meet, was dedicated last Saturday afternoon in ceremonies held as a part of the Mountain State Forest Festival.

Officiating was Miss Elizabeth Carol Kemper, of Bluefield, who is Queen Silvia XXI. Some eighty persons attended the dedication.

The 1910 marker still remains. The new marker is a large stone with a bronze plate set in the stone on which are these words: "FAIRFAX STONE. This monument, at the headspring of the Potomac river, marks one of the historic spots of America. Its name is derived from Thomas Lord Fairfax who owned all the land lying between the Potomac and Rappahannock rivers. The first Fairfax Stone marked 'FX', was set in 1746 by Thomas Lewis, a surveyor employed by Lord Fairfax. This is the base point for the western dividing line between Maryland and West Virginia."

Actually the Fairfax stone is about one mile due south of the Maryland-West Virginia boundary line, and is not far from Kempton.

The ground for the site was contributed by the Western Maryland Railway company which gave four acres and the right of way for one and one-half miles of highway. The company took part in the dedication program.

Dr. Roy Baird Cook, Charleston, was master of ceremonies. Harold B. Fortney spoke on the historical significance of the stone and remarks were made by Boyd B. Stutler, Charleston; Dr. O. D. Lambert, Morgantown; Hubert B. Lake, Parsons; Kermit McKeever, chief, division of State Parks; Conservation commission, Charleston; and D. D. Brown, president of the Randolph County Historical society at Elkins.

Mrs. William Bittinger made plans for the meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Freda Knotts on October 15, from 10 to 3:30. Demonstrations will include "Answering questions of small children," "Hair styles," and "A kitchen at your fingertips."

Production of Coal And Clay Increases

Total coal and clay production in Garrett county showed an increase in 1956 over the previous year, as well as in the entire state.

In Garrett county there were 471,846.08 net tons produced as compared to 324,807.11 in 1955. There were less miners, however the report showing only 216 miners in 1956 as compared to 249 in 1955.

A report recently issued by the Maryland Bureau of Mines reveals that coal production in the entire state amounted to 647,409.17 net tons in comparison to 523,909.17 in the previous year. Clay production totaled 62,389.13 tons compared to 57,431 for the previous year.

The slight decline in employment was as the result of technological advances, it was stated.

Production in Allegany county was less, there being 175,563.09 compared to 199,102.06 the previous year.

The year 1956 was marked by a complete absence of work stoppages, and of fatal accidents. There were 18 students in night mining classes in Kitzmiller and 31 in Frostburg. Among subjects studied were mine ventilation, surveying, map reading and gas testing.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

The workers of Russia now have waited 10 years for the Communist government to live up to the promises of Communism-Socialism. They have waited in vain. The promises of Communism and Socialism are pipe dreams. They could never come true. The workers of Hungary learned this, and now they have told the world about it in a brief tragic surge for freedom. The workers of Russia know it too, but since they are living in an overpowering Police State they haven't yet mustered the courage to revolt on any big scale.

Karl Marx, its founder, called Communism "scientific Socialism." His present-day followers call it "scientific Socialism" or just plain "Socialism." Socialism is the economic system in Russia today. In its economic workings it is the same brand of Socialism operating in England's "nationalized" industries, in India's Socialist system, in Israel, and in all the other Socialist countries.

Mr. Peter F. Hurst, Michigan industralist, has reported after a careful study of conditions inside Russia that "scientific Socialism" has brought the Russian people only poverty and slavery—except for the two to three million functionaries in the sprawling government bureaucracy who lives like kings. And now, reporting in United States News & World Report, a Virginia research-educator, G. Warren Nutter, makes the same kind of report.

Professor Nutter visited a number of Russian factories and observed "scientific Socialism" at work. One was a factory at Leningrad producing curtains, tablecloths, etc. Before Socialism Communism took over, it was operated as a private enterprise. "The building, almost all the machinery and a great deal of the technology," noted Professor Nutter, "obviously tsarist period.

"Except for one floor of new spinning and winding equipment built in the Soviet Union and East Germany . . . the machinery is of English, German and French design, as installed around 1886. Much of the power is transmitted through overhead belt lines, a relic of the days when steam engines were used as prime movers. The rooms are dark, dirty and crowded with machines. Not even primitive safety equipment is to be seen. Graphite is used as a lubricant, and it covers, everything with its characteristic black and slippery coating—stairs, walls, railings and workers. . .

"On the whole this plant looked like something out of the nineteenth century . . ." Some of the other plants visited by Professor Nutter were newer and more modern but at the end of all his travels and studies he concluded that the Soviet economy is 50 years behind America's. Let's guard against the growth of Government power in our own system. Our prosperity and freedom are at stake.

Store Fall Crops For Winter Use

Fall crops can be stored through part of the winter, or even through the entire winter, if a few easy conditions are met.

The crops that should be stored are carrots, beets, turnips, rutabagas, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, acorn squash, onions and white potatoes.

Two essentials of good storage are proper temperature and humidity. Basements meet the conditions for pumpkins, acorn squash and sweet potatoes. For practically all other vegetable crops the storage temperature should be just above freezing. The temperature range between 32 and 38 degrees Fahrenheit is best.

For basement storage, a room as far away from the furnace as possible should be partitioned off with insulating wall board. The room should have a tight-fitting door and a slatted floor laid on top of the basement floor. A wooden flue should extend from this false (slatted) floor to a window opening to the outside. The window should be screened and left open.

Most root crops can be stored in this type of insulated basement room. Carrots, beets, turnips, and rutahagas should be stored in boxes of damp sand. White potatoes keep in boxes or baskets at floor level. Onions, which require a drier atmosphere, can be hung in slatted crates from the ceiling.

Keep the storage room dark, clean and sanitary at all times.

If you prefer outdoor pit storage simply dig a shallow hole, and line it with straw or leaves. Pile the root crops in a cone shaped mound, cover them with a foot of straw and then top off the pile with two or three inches of soil. Several small mounds or kilns are better than one big one.

Store only the vegetables that are free from disease and injury. Never wash vegetables before storing them.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: I Corinthians 5
Devotional Reading: Romans 6:12-23

A Moral Church

Lesson for October 13, 1957

THE letter of Paul to the church at Corinth shows us, so to speak, a church with the lid off. These letters were plainly not intended for publication, that is, they were not sent out broadcast over the church at large. They were sent to the church concerned, one of Paul's problem churches.

Dr. Foreman

If Christians today sometimes think that their church would be free from its faults if only they could get the right preacher, they should remember the Apostle Paul. Even he had problem churches—almost "nothing else but."

Last week we noticed how highly Paul speaks of the church as an ideal, and yet how dark the reality sometimes was. One illustration of this was the crime at Corinth. For crime it was, right in the church, the crime of incest. The case seems to have been well known. Paul does not need to mention names. But the church had done not one thing about it. None of them had had the nerve even to speak out about this. (Were they too squeamish to mention it, or were the sinners perhaps prominent people?)

The Church Talks Morality

The church at Corinth is dead and gone long since. But we ask questions about the church of today. Is it moral? It certainly should be; the aim for every one of its members is nothing less than to be like Jesus. The church certainly talks morality. At least half an hour every week is spent listening to a serious talk which, in spite of what rambling there may be, does hold up high ideals. The Ten Commandments are posted on the wall of the Sunday school hall. Every Sunday school class is in favor of morality. You couldn't get a vote against morality in the whole place.

But does the church talk morality? Does it teach social responsibility? Does it hold to the same standards for the rich and the strong as for the poor and weak? Is the church putting its finger on the sins of our time or does it spend more energy denouncing a few simple sins than some of the bigger ones? Does the church talk morality on any higher level than (say) a Lutheran club? Does the church lead the moral progress of the time, or does it do no better than to follow prevailing trends?

The Church Understands Morality

The church can see into morality, what it really means, too. The church today, at any rate—just any church on any corner or country road—knows, or at least it has heard dozens of times, that immortal 13th chapter of I Corinthians, "—greatest of these is Love." The church knows, or has often enough been told, that love is the fulfilling of the law (Romans 13:10). Ask almost any church member what is the most important quality in the Christian life, and he will usually say "Love."

But does the church understand this? On the one hand it understands that all the law of God comes down to and is focussed in just those two commands, Love God and love your neighbor. But has the church often struggled with the question, how does love work out, in business, in education, in race and industrial relations, in any of the complex areas of today's puzzling, pushing life? Is the church's understanding of love something of words more than of works?

The Church Upholds Morality

The church upholds and insists on moral standards, too. Active in civic reforms always is the Ministerial Association. But what ministers and churches do in their own circles may be something else again. In how many congregations will the church tolerate a minister if he persists in pointing out and condemning, in God's name, sins and wrongs committed generally by the members of that church? Don't congregations often muzzle their ministers, as good as telling him he must not preach about this or that "controversial" theme? And, most painful question of all: When there is known to be wrong-doing in a congregation, what are the members likely to do about it? Do they, like the Corinthians, shut their eyes and pretend not to see it? Can a church be said to uphold morality if it never does a thing to, about or with those who drag morality down?

Keith Butler scored a pair of touchdowns on runs of 10 and 12 yards last Thursday as Coach Dick Travis' Southern High gridders scored their first victory of the season at the expense of St. Francis High school of Morgantown. The score was 20 to 7.

Both teams had 0-4 records prior to the game.

After a scoreless first half the Highlanders tallied twice in the third quarter and added another touchdown in the final period.

Butler scored the first two touchdowns and Bill Murphy added a point from placement. Marlin Coker smashed over from the one for the third T.D. and Murphy converted.

A 52-yard run by Henry McRobie set up the final score by Coker.

George Smith's 15-yard pass to Kedora produced the St. Francis score in the final quarter.

Playing for Southern were J. Gnegy, Moreland, Kelly, Sanders, D. Friend, B. Murphy, Duling, Coker, Callis, T. Colaw and K. Butler. Substitutes for Southern were Wenger, Troy, R. Stemple, D. Stemple, L. Martin, Naylor, White, McRobie, Paugh, Michael, and Cerne.

Coach Travis used his entire squad in the game.

Southern will play at Kingwood next Thursday night, October 17, at 8:30 o'clock DST.

Five W's and an H . . .

The following came to the editor's desk this week, which is particularly appropriate since National Newspaper Week just ended.

"The six most challenging, and most challenged, words in the world are the foundation on which a newspaper is built.

"Who? What? Where? When? Why and How? Roll those words around on your tongue. Extract the mental flavor of their sharpness. Experience their bite. They are the most controversial words in the world.

"Your right to know WHO is doing WHAT to affect your life is constantly disputed. Your newspaper does its best to tell you WHO. Your right to know WHAT is going on in this world that will affect you is challenged by a legion whose members believe that what you don't know won't hurt you. Your newspaper believes that you have a right to know WHAT, and strives to find out for you.

"To let you know WHERE things are happening, your newspaper joins hands with the news and picture services which extend its probings to the most remote regions of the earth.

"When a thing is going to occur is important, perhaps vital to you. Is a nation pointing its way toward action that could affect your life? It's the newspaper's job to tell you. The WHY behind the who, what, where and when of the world's events is often the most vital fact of all. Many dispute your right to know the why of a matter. The newspaper is in existence to tell you why.

"Perhaps the HOW of finding the news is the most challenged of these words. Little men in high places would dispense information by handout; no direct questions, please. The newspaper cements the five W's and an H into a shield that protects your freedom. It's up to you to help uphold that shield.

"Let no one meddle with the foundations of your newspaper."

Price For Weeks' House Is Set At $18,500 By Jury

Condemnation Case Heard This Week in Local Court

A circuit court jury on Tuesday awarded Mr. and Mrs. Hulett M. Weeks, of Mt. Lake Park, $18,500 for their home and six acres or more of property. The actual amount was 6 acres plus easements.

The State Roads commission had started proceedings to obtain the property for highway improvements to the Deer Park-Mt. Lake Park road, and early in January placed $13,000 on deposit in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court. This was the amount the State Roads appraisers had set as a value on the property.

Upon objections and an appeal by Mr. and Mrs. Weeks the settlement was placed in the hands of a Board of Property Review on July 21, and the three members of this board placed a value of $17,975 on the property to be taken. An appeal from this decision was entered by Mr. and Mrs. Weeks and the case was heard before a Garrett County jury on Monday and Tuesday. Testimony in the case was completed Monday but the case was argued on Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Weeks through their attorneys, Walter W. Dawson and W. Dwight Stover, had sought $25,000 as damages.

Mr. Weeks, mayor of Mt. Lake Park, retired Baltimore and Ohio station agent, constructed his six-room bungalow and garage several years ago on a portion of his forty-two acres of property across the highway from the Mt. Lake Park postoffice. The house was brick veneer. Mr. Weeks tesified he planned to sell lots from the balance of his property until it became known that the State Roads

Club To Emphasize Light Bulb Sale

An opportunity to purchase light bulbs in a special project of the Junior Woman's Civic club, will be afforded persons in the community next Tuesday night, October 22. A bag of eleven bulbs will be obtainable from the club for $2.

Members are to be divided into two teams with Mrs. Mary Ruth Treacy as captain of team one, and Mrs. Mary Lou Shafter as captain of team two. Bulbs are to be packed this evening at the Oakland Fire hall at 8 o'clock.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to furnish and maintain a clothes closet for needy children in the southern end of the county. Last year the proceeds from the light bulb sale were used to furnish the Garrett County Memorial hospital with a 2-cell counter for the lab. and also a Castle spot lamp for the emergency room. Henry W. McComas, superintendent, in sending a letter of thanks said they were put to use immediately.

Members of the club plan a house to house canvass throughout Oakland and nearby communities. Members are to meet at the fire hall to start out on the drive and report to the fire hall at the conclusion of the canvass, where the Ways and Means committee plans to furnish refreshments of coffee and doughnuts.

Damage Is Slight

Fire damage was slight Wednesday morning at the home of Norman Smith, in the Oak park section between Oakland and Mt. Lake Park, when an oil stove apparently overflowed and started flames spreading.

Smith is living in the basement of his home at the present time. Oakland firemen were called about 5:30 Wednesday but the blaze was under control by the time the department arrived.

Heads B&O Dining Car Department

James B. Martin has been named manager of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Dining Car and Comissary Department, with headquarters at Baltimore. Mr. Martin succeeds Howard O. McAbee, who retired at the end of September after 47 years with the railroad.

The new dining car chief enters his job with a wide background of dining car services. Although his railroad training dates back to 1918 when he started with the B&O in the Motive Power Department, most of his railroad service has been with the dining car Department.

For ten years he was a dining car steward and during that time served aboard such trains as the B&O Capitol and National Limiteds. In August of 1939, Mr. Martin was promoted from steward to dining car inspector, and four years later, in 1943, moved again to assistant superintendent. He has been superintendent of the dining car service since 1947.

Mr. Martin was born on May 7, 1901, in Oakland, but has called Baltimore his home since 1926. He is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin, who formerly lived at the corner of Alder and Sixth streets.

His wife is the former Ruth Lawton, of Oakland.

Former Area Woman Killed In Crash

A 29-year-old woman who formerly resided at Gorman was one of two persons killed instantly last Saturday afternoon when the car in which they were riding crashed headon into a bridge abutment four miles east of Winchester, Va., on U. S. route 50.

Killed were Miss Eva Martin, who had been employed as a waitress in a restaurant in Fairfax, Va., and Durard Tarkenton, 31, of Arlington, Va.

The driver of the vehicle, Thornton D. Smith, 31, also of Arlington, sustained a fractured leg and a laceration of the head. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Winchester Memorial hospital.

Trooper J. H. Smith of the Virginia State Police said the accident occurred about 1 p. m., on a straight stretch of highway.

Miss Martin was born April 20, 1928, near Oakland, and was a daughter of Carl Martin, Gorman, and the late Anna Bachtel Martin.

Surviving are her father and step-mother, five sisters, Mrs. Rhea Brady, Midland, Texas; Mrs. Norman Koslap and Mrs. Blanche Kiser, both of Garfield, N. J.; Mrs. Vida McCrobie, Germania, Miss Ula Mae Martin, Passiac, N. J.; two brothers, Denver Martin, New Castle, Ind; and Randall Martin, Gorman; five half-sisters, Judy, Elma, Kela, Dean and Lenora, all at home; one half-brother, Dennis Martin, also at home.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Red House Lutheran church with Rev. Charles Carlson, Oakland, in charge. Burial was in the Red House cemetery.

Cable Break Sunday Is Attributed To Bullet

Cable trouble Sunday between Cumberland and Hancock, caused a break in long distance service of the C. and P. Telephone company for several hours.

The cable trouble affected trunk lines connecting Cumberland, Oakland and Piedmont to Baltimore. Some calls were rerouted by way of Bedford and Pittsburgh.

It was believed that a bullet hole caused the trouble which put out 11 talking and two teletype circuits.

England's prime minister said world peace still hinges on West's H-bomb deterrent despite startling developments in Russia.

Wanted on Charges Burglary - Larceny

Four persons of the county are wanted on charges of breaking and entering and also larceny, at Bernard F. Fazenbaker's place of business on Backbone mountain, near Bloomington.

The robbery occurred on or about October 13, and merchandise to the extent of about $140 was taken, including beer, chickens, meat, and cigarets.

Two of the four being sought are lodged in a West Virginia jail. They are Robert Lewis Sharpless and Milford George Tasker. Two others sought are Paul William Tasker and Roy "Buck" Sharpless. The latter two were being brought into custody by officers when they broke away.

Dale Swauger Is Guilty Of Rape

Dale Swauger, 18-year-old young man from Jennings was found guilty of rape by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley yesterday in the Circuit Court. The charge was rape of a seven-year-old girl.

Sentence was withheld pending a pre-sentence investigation report to be made by David Steel parole officer.

Swanger was at one time confined to the Maryland Training School.

The trial took most of the day, with State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt prosecuting the case and Stuart F. Hamilt, Jr., and W. Dwight Stover defending.

Before declaring the man guilty Judge Fraley declared: "I think this is one of the worst cases I have heard since being on the bench. I believe this little girl told the truth and I believe that this man has been proved guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

"As I sat here and heard the testimony, how any man or boy of the age of this defendant could brutally assault and have or attempt to have sexual relations with a seven-year-old baby is just simply beyond my comprehension. If this boy had been a moron and weak mentally I might understand it but he is not. He is not a moron. He speaks intelligently. He definitely knows right from wrong, and I repeat, it is just beyond human comprehension how a boy could even attempt such an act with a child of that age."

Preceding the meeting a turkey dinner will be served in the school cafeteria, starting at 6:30 and continuing as persons arrive, and accommodations permit until all persons have been served.

Entertainment will be provided by the Southern High school band for those who eat too early to go directly to the meeting in the gymnasium.

Other features of the evening's program include an election of officers; a discussion and voting on resolutions; special music by winners of the Talent Find contest; report of activities of the Associated Women by Mrs. Orval Glotfelty, president; greetings from the state office, and perhaps other matters.

Group singing will be led by Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle with Miss June Leydig at the piano.

State's Biggest Coal Shovel at Work In Garrett County

Maryland's biggest coal shovel is at work in Garrett county and has been at work for more than a year.

It is being used on a strip mining job directed by Daniel Houck, in the Bethlehem area, some six or seven miles from Oakland.

The shovel is one of the newer, powerful, self-sufficient, mastedonlike digging machine with its own power plant, and equipped with long legs and big steel feet to walk about mining operations like an elephant, despite its enormous weight.

A feature article about this operation appeared in the feature section of the Sunday Sun, written by Frank Henry. Three photographs accompanying the story were taken by A. Aubrey Bodine.

The machine is the biggest and the first of these to operate in Maryland. It is owned by the Schell Mining company, headed by Mr. Houck. The big digger cost $250,000, weights 100 tons and it can lift and toss 10 tons of earth about every minute.

Its big scoop weighs 10 tons empty and a jeep can fit comfortably inside it. In 24 hours it can remove from 8,000 to 10,000 tons of earth despite time out for periodic oiling.

This is not the biggest machine of its kind in the country. The biggest one can lift and toss nearly 90 tons a single scoop of its huge shovel. But Mr. Houck's digger is of that family of machines which has come into use the last twenty years or so and made strip coal mining possible on a scale undreamed of.

Its mission is to lift the overburden from coal seams, lay them bare so smaller diggers can pick up the black, crusty pay-dirt as they inch along bottoms of the deeply dug canyons. The big digger can lay bare seams 65 feet or more beneath the surface.

Use of diggers the size and cost of Mr. Houck's is warranted only if the known reserves of coal in the Stover was authorized to appoint a committee to continue the financial study, and see whether or not there was sufficient interest in the enterprise. Stover said possibly something definite would be known next week.

Over one thousand people took advantage of the two Autumn Glory excursions on the past two Sundays.

Three hundred sixty persons from Baltimore, Silver Spring and Washington came the first week in spite of the rainy weather, and last week there were 706. Last Sunday's weather was considered ideal but many local persons were of the opinion that the brilliant coloring in the leaves had perceptibly faded within the space of two days.

Comments from persons making the trip however, all indicated that they were delighted with the excursion and also the tour to Swallow Falls and Deep Creek Lake.

Final Polio Shots Still Being Given

The County Health department is continuing the immunization program in giving the third and final shots in schools and to preschool children. Some 1,200 shots were given in September.

Dr. Arthur Jones, health officer, said the program would continue until all who started the shots will have received the last one. For those who have left the community to attend college or other reasons, he said that immunization would be available between the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday periods at either the health department office in Oakland or at any one of the health centers in the county during regular office hours.

The program is being financed by the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Dr. Jones said the Foundation also was financing a clinic in Baltimore in November for any state resident who had polio at some previous time. Those having had polio and desiring to attend the clinic will have free transportation to and from Baltimore, meals provided and clinic fees paid.

Heavy Frosts Occur

Heavy frosts were the order for the entire week with the temperature dropping as low as 17 degrees for one morning. That was on Sunday.

It was 18 degrees Monday morning and 20 degrees Saturday morning, while other mornings also had heavy frost but the temperature was not quite so low.

A slight rain fell last night and was continued this morning.

Plant Workers Are Acquitted In Local Court

Judge Fraley Issues Directed Verdicts After Hearing Testimony

Fifteen former employes of the Sterling Processing company in Oakland were acquitted last Friday in Garrett County Circuit Court of charges of violating a 1941 Maryland law directed against sit-down strikes.

The fifteen women had been convicted of the charge before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend on September 18, following a dispute four days previously at the chicken processing plant.

All were acquitted by directed verdicts handed down by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley. W. Dwight Stover, Oakland attorney, and William C. Walsh, Cumberland attorney, requested the directed verdicts on grounds that state evidence was not sufficient for conviction.

The defense attorneys moved for acquittal after State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt presented the state's case against Mrs. Anna Matthews.

The same motion was made and granted after the state presented its case against the other 14 women as a group.

The case arose September 11 following the discharge of a foreman at the processing plant. A discussion arose during which the women were told to return to work or leave the plant. Testimony indicated the women went to the rest room, stayed there about 15 minutes, and left the plant, going down town to make two telephone calls. They returned to the plant sometime later and indicated that they were ready to work but were refused admittance. Some fifty other employes continued to work after the dispute.

Four days later the 15 women were taken before the magistrate where they were found guilty of violating Section 27 of Article 27 of the 1941 Maryland code and each fined $25 and costs. The fines were suspended.

In asking the directed verdicts attorneys for the women pointed out it was admitted no harm was done to the plant and nobody was hurt by the incident.

Judge Fraley, in granting the directed verdicts, pointed out that the law was passed at a time when employes were taking over complete charge of various plants throughout the nation, preventing people from entering or leaving and destroying large amounts of property. But he said work was not stopped in the present case, although it might have been delayed for a short time. There was no damage to the property and after milling around in the rest room all persons involved left the plant.

The judge did declare from the bench however that he felt the company had a perfect right to hire people who refused to work and said he probably would have done the same thing had he been plant manager.

But he said the statute involved provides penalties for workers who take "substantial possession" of a plant, and he said he could find nothing in the testimony to indicate that in this case.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

An Opiate For The People?

Have you often wondered about the teachings of Communism? How it has spread in our twentieth century from nation to nation, enveloping people in its grasp by the millions?

I have done considerable reading about it, but I am sure like many other folks, I only have a vague knowledge of its scope, activity and influence.

There is a charge made by its adherents against the Christian religion which has tremendous implications for all of us. It will at least make us pause and think about it. They say, "The Christian religion is an opiate for the people".

I looked up the word "opiate" in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary and these are some of the definitions given—Opiate: a narcotic; any medicine containing or derived from opium; anything restful or soothing. Now, I would think they probably mean the last part of the definition, which means something soothing to lull people into a stupor.

When I read that, I looked into my own heart and mind and asked myself, "Is there any truth in it"? Surely, our faith brings us peace of mind, but not a stupor induced by narcotics.

I found the entire statement to be untrue. My Christian faith bids me to be up and doing. It points out to me the path of duty, the taking of responsibility. It is the direct opposite of stupor. It demands a keen mind, a willing heart, a dedicated life in service. It is that to everyone who truly believes. It is forever a challenge, driving us forward. It bids us to be strong, when it is easier to be weak. It gives courage, when we would be cowardly. It shows us how to be forgiving, when we want to hold that grudge. It puts us to shame to waste our time in gossip and silliness, when there are tasks to be done in His name.

Throughout man's history, the Christian religion has been his greatest challenge. It has inspired the most beautiful pictures that have ever been painted. The most beautiful music to be written and sung and loved and enjoyed has come from it. The most gifted writers have written of its eternal truth and beauty. Men and women have been good to their noblest deeds by its influence, justice, mercy and good government have been built on its teachings. Wherever it has been preached and believed, men have raised their sights to new visions and newness of life.

I am sure they are wrong. We need to prove to the world that they are.

A large number of prizes will be awarded and they will be on display in the office of the West Maryland Power company next week. Booths are to be set up on Second street and other entertainment will be held at the Oakland Fire department hall, beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be games and refreshments.

The Cub Scouts of Oakland will call at each home asking for used clothing for the needy. The evening of Wednesday, October 30 has been chosen for the roundup, to be conducted in Trick-or-Treat style. The residents of Oakland are asked to check their attics and closets for used clothing of any size or description which can be used by elementary or high school students. Baby clothing is also sought.

It will be a help if the porch light is on. The boys will know there is clothing.

This event is designed as the kick-off of the "Clothes Closet" project undertaken by the Junior Woman's Civic Club members of Oakland who expect to devote a great deal of effort in future months to setting up a distribution center in the schools. The ladies have asked a label be pinned on each piece of apparel giving the size as nearly as possible.

Spreading use of tranquilizing pills was causing grave concern among religious leaders.

Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip arrived in Canada October 12. They were due in United States October 16.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

Hard On The Prophets

In what seems record time there have been several developments affecting this country and practically everyone in it. These have been of such character as to upset all kinds of calculations and compel the prophets and prognosticators, of whom there have been a great many on a wide variety of things, to run for cover.

Of course, the grimmest and greatest of these have been the successful launching of their earth-circling satellite and all that that means by the Soviets and the clear lead in propaganda and prestige it gives them. Whether or not it strengthens them in other ways and whether or not we can recover our position of leadership in the rapid remains to be seen. But certainly it shatters our complacency, forces us to cease regarding the Russians as inferior to us in scientific knowledge and concept. Further it compels admission that our long pursued policy of Federal parsimony toward research following the first World War, following the second World War, following the Korean War and now pressing hard upon us by the high taxes and the inflationary tendency of great expenditures, has not been wise.

Apparently, after each of these wars the American people wanted to reduce taxes and curtail the cost of living rather than take steps to insure against a repetition of these dreadful and costly hostilities. However, this is no time for useless regrets; it is a time for a reappraisal and action. This is a development with global reactions, the end result of which no one can foresee. In the meantime, there are at least two domestic developments the political importance of which is hard to overestimate. One of these, of course, is the racial issue violently opened up in Little Rock.

Unless some way, now unforeseen, can be found to avert this issue it is sure to figure prominently and unhealthily not only in the coming session of Congress but in the 1958 congressional and the 1960 presidential campaign to follow. Nearly everybody deplores it, but no one knows how to dispose of it. From the close of the Civil War until 1936 the Negro vote had been almost solidly Republican. From 1936 until 1956 it had been almost solidly Democratic. Now, by reason of the chasm opened by the Supreme Court, no one knows what it is or will be.

Finally, there is a third development of overwhelming importance—though for the time being confined to one State only—California. It has to do with organized labor and its plain determination to run the country through the Democratic party. Apparently the man it hopes to make President is Gov. G. Mennen Williams (nickname Soapy) of Michigan, who has just let it be publicly known that he is an aspirant for the 1960 Democratic nomination. This is not news. It has been assumed many times but not as authoritatively as last week. As always, his chief supporter is the slick, unsavory but powerful Mr. Walter Reuther, now first vice president of the combined AFL-CIO labor organization. Many persons regard Governor Williams as the pliant political creature of Mr. Reuther. Many insist that the nomination and election of Mr. Williams would, in effect, give us a real labor government.

However, several obstacles lie in the path of this ambition. One is that personally Mr. Williams is not an attractive campaigner. He does not make nearly as good a speech as Mr. Adlai Stevenson, the two-time loser who has had enough. Another is that the recent corruption exposures of the McClellan committee, plus the election of the notorious Jimmy Hoffa as head of the immense teamsters union, have greatly diminished the political power of organized labor everywhere. Nor have the present saintly pretensions of the Messrs. Meany and Reuther sufficient appeal to rectify this situation. Finally, there is the formidable figure of Senator William Knowland, who is resigning from the Senate and running for the Republican nomination for governor in California. He is already campaigning and one of the things to which he has committed himself is the signing of "right to work" law. To this, of course, every labor leader is opposed—including Meany, Reuther, Hoffa and Beck. It is a situation recalling that of the late Senator Taft in 1950 when he ran for re-election with every labor leader in the nation equipped with unlimited funds and propaganda against him. Well, the voters in Ohio re-elected Senator Taft by an immense majority. There is a strong feeling here that Senator Knowland may easily duplicate that feat. Under existing circumstances, labor opposition may easily become an asset to him.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Not many people in the United States ever have come face to face with a person who proclaims: "I'm a Communist. I'm an enemy of the United States. I am working to undermine this nation's strength and overthrow it, and establish a Communist dictatorship backed by the Red Army." No, the Communists in America don't openly declare their true mission. And they are not like the classic picture of the radical, with beard, shaggy hair, tattered clothes and a bomb held poised in the right hand.

Most of the top people in Washington were shocked when Alger Hiss, a young "liberal" with aristocratic bearing and excellent social connections, was exposed as a Communist. And yet the truly important Communists in America today have built up just such a false character of respectability around themselves. It is difficult to identify them as Communists. They have wormed themselves into positions of trust in every phase of our American society. They wield great power. And yet many American citizens will not accept this fact.

"Anyone who thinks that Communism in the United States no longer constitutes a serious menace should consider that at this moment on American soil are the equivalent of 20 combat divisions of enemy troops engaging in propaganda, espionage, subversion—and loyal only to the Soviet Union." This statement is an excerpt from the annual report of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, one of our Government's best informed agencies combatting Communist subversion.

"The danger of Communism is increasing, not receding," emphasized the Committee, composed of five Democratic and four Republican Congressmen. "The United States remains the major target of Soviet aggression; indifference to the Kremlin's avowed program of global conquest can lead only to the inevitable destruction of our free institutions, and ourselves as a free nation." This new report, of the Committee's 1956 work, its findings, and its recommendations for strengthening the nation's security can be obtained by writing your Congressman.

The strategy of the "20 combat divisions of enemy troops" is the indirect attack. The Red master-minds found long ago they could not entice enough Americans with their undiluted Socialist economics and anti-God philosophy. So they quit their soap-box oratory and, in the thousands, infiltrated every activity of our economic, governmental and social life. They became influential "progressive" citizens, not advocating Communism or Socialism but gently guiding unsuspecting groups of loyal Americans into actions undermining the strength of our nation.

The Un-American Activities Committee annual report said that it had uncovered "a mammoth nationwide campaign of political subversion designed to paralyze the security programs of the executive and legislative branches of the United States Government." As citizens we must resist this campaign and let congress know we support the investigative committees.

Price For Weeks'

The Weeks case is one of several that will be heard by the jury within the next few months, all as the result of condemnation proceedings against property owners along the Deer Park-Mt. Lake Park highway. In each case where they fail to accept the amount the State Roads Commission has deposited with the clerk of the Circuit Court as a fair amount for the properties, the case goes before a Board of Property Review. This consists of three persons, C. C. Nathan, Grantsville, an attorney; F. R. Cotliss, surveying engineer, Deer Park, and Grover C. Stemple, Oakland, a disinterested party, all appointed less than a year ago by the Court when a new procedure in condemnation cases was inaugurated.

State Roads Aims For Bare Roads In Winter Months

State Road Officials declared this week they were aiming for bare roads this winter as they began the process of putting into place some 205,500 feet of snow fences along the state's highways.

These thirty-nine miles of snow fences will be erected in about two weeks, according to Edward P. Kuhl, state roads engineer for Garrett county, except in a few instances where farmers have work they still want to do on their properties where the fences are placed.

Scores of snow plows and trucks to scatter abrasives will be available as in previous years. The new thing this year will be the liberal use of rock salt to melt ice and snow off major highways in Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties, which comprise district six in the state system. There are 165 miles of state highways in Garrett County. G. Bates Chaires, district engineer, said the roads commission throughout the entire district would use 355,000 lineal feet or about 70 miles of snow fences to protect highways from drifting snow, and that at least 90 percent of the fences would be up by November 15. Over half of the entire mileage will be placed in this county.

District 6 crews will have available about 50 pieces of snow removel equipment. Mr. Chaires said SRC crews were going to attempt to do even a better job this year by using lots of rock salt. In recent years no Maryland highway has been completely blocked by snow.

The snow-melting chemical will be used liberally on a number of important highways, he said, to get them bare of ice and snow quicker than has been possible in the past. The plans call for beginning with abrasives, cinders and sand, with a small amount of salt. At the proper time crews will switch over to pure salt which will be applied in the center of the highway at the rate of from 500 to 600 pounds to the mile. He said the salt would be applied in the center of the roads so the brine will run in both directions and melt ice or snow. He said highway engineers do not expect too much good from salt when the thermometer ranges from 18 to 20 above zero or lower.

Chaires estimated that from 2,000 to 2,500 tons of rock salt would be needed this winter. Aiding in the fight will be a modern mechanically operated spreader which is being secured for use in this county. At present district 6 has two similar spreaders. The spreaders will have a nine-yard capacity and can be used to spread either abrasives or salt. The spreader will hold enough abrasives to treat from 15 to 20 miles of highway or about 25 miles with salt.

Milwaukee Braves won the world series baseball title from Yanks with four games to three.

Current To Be Off Two Hours Today

Thirty-five areas obtaining electricity from the West Maryland Power company will be affected this afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., when the current will be interrupted in order to make improvements to the distribution system.

The job will include the energizing of a new $32,700 substation about one mile south of Oakland with an 11-mile transmission line recently constructed from Terra Alta

Current Off Tuesday

The current failed unexpectedly for almost two hours on Tuesday evening by what company officials termed a mechancial power failure. Thomas Cain, manager, said that some work was being done on the sub-station Tuesday evening when a line they were moving broke and dropped down to other live wires. Immediately these wires were burned, dropping the entire Oakland and Mt. Lake area into darkness. The current was off from about 6:25 until about 8:20.

There were literally "balls of fire" all over the place for a time and the blaze set fire to the grass.

Current also was interrupted at Mt. Lake Park on three different occasions when the big boom of a steam shovel, at work on the new bridge near the B. and O. station got tangled in the electric wires. Current was off for half an hour or so on Friday, Saturday and Monday.

State's Biggest Coal Shovel

immediate vicinity of its operation are ample for several years of mining.

The coal must be within easy "walking" distance because taking the machine apart and setting it up again at a distant location is a long and expensive operation.

Mr. Houck explained that when it was shipped to him from the manufacturers in Chicago nine freight cars were required to carry its disassembled parts. The freight bill was $7,000.

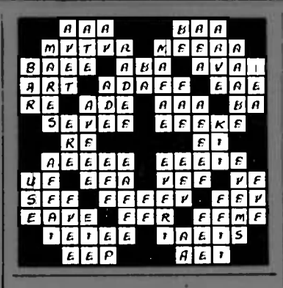
And the quoted cost for trucking them seven miles from the railroad to the mining site was $6,000. In fact, the total price quoted by the manufacturer for transporting the big digger from railroad to mine site and setting it up was $25,000. Time required to do the job, two months approximately. But by use of local talent and facilities Mr. Houck got the job done for $4,900.

They work around the clock at the mine site. The digger has uncovered as much as 1,750 tons of coal in 23 hours. The digger keeps well ahead of the smaller ones which inch along in its trail and load trucks with coal.

The digger burns about 200 gallons of oil in a 24-hour operation. At night its boom, swinging the shovel back and forth, with the string of bright lights on its underside, seems like a giant finger pointing this way and that in the dark.

Right now the digger is uncovering part of the Bakerstown coal seam which is about 30 feet below the surface and has a thickness of 24 inches.

At the far or digging end of the canyon, which is perhaps a half a mile long, the big digger stands high on one side. And on one side of the canyon are tall pyramids of dug-up earth standing in regimented rows. It means that the digger has walked a long way since it started work. It can take long steps, 5 feet 8 inches. And its 400 tons settles on the ground with a light whomp. The machine walks backward, away from its boom. Paul Coker, one of the digger's operators, says she handles like a baby.



The machine is the basic reason why Mr. Houck can produce 800 tons of coal a day with only 30 employes. That production comes to a little more than 26 tons per man per day, considerably higher than the national average for mechanized mines—17 tons per day per man.

It is said that concentration of coal deposits are ample to warrant use of more big diggers in Allegany and Garrett counties. It was estimated there were 1,500,000,000 tons easily accessible.

Currently there are 165 mines in Western Maryland. Of them 36 are strip mines. Higher grade coal brings $5.50 per ton at the mine.

Generally strip coal miners buy the mineral rights of property on a royalty basis, usually 25 cents a ton. It can be very profitable to land owners when production runs into hundred of tons a day. But the miner also must deposit $100 with Maryland Bureau of Mines for every acre he mines, as a warranty that he will refill the hole he digs.

Will Convert Terra Alta Gas Field to Subterranean Storage

Plans to convert the Terra Alta natural gas field in Preston County, West Virginia from production to underground storage were announced today by Atlantic Seaboard Corporation and Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

Under the plan, Atlantic Seaboard will purchase C&A.'s Terra Alta holdings which are about played out. Atlantic Seaboard also will purchase physical facilities and leaseholds in the field from Hope Natural Gas Company. Both Atlantic Seaboard and C&A. are operating companies of Columbia Gas System.

Gas from southwest suppliers will be stored by Atlantic Seaboard in the Terra Alta fields during the summer months and then withdrawn to meet winter demands.

Preliminary engineering study and surveying have been done on the project, and a compressor station site has been purchased, the announcement said. The tentative plan is to begin construction of facilities in 1958. It is expected to be ready for the first injection of gas in 1959.

Underground storage involves reconditioning depleted production wells, constructing high pressure pipelines and compressor facilities, converting lesses to permit storage, and injecting gas into formerly productive sand formations. Additional wells are often drilled so that gas will be more easily delivered from the storage pool.

The procedure for developing the Terra Alta pool will be as follows: 1. Atlantic Seaboard will pump southwest gas into the original gas-producing structures.

2. Forty-three miles of 20-inch pipeline will be laid from the storage pool to Atlantic Seaboard's Seneca Compressor station, near Seneca Rocks, which is located on Seaboard's main 26-inch pipeline extending from near Charleston, W. Va., to Rockville, Md.

3. A large compressor station will be built on W. Va., Route 10, three miles southeast of Terra Alta.

The plan to convert the Terra Alta field to storage follows an exploration and production history which goes back some 33 years. The first drilling in the area was in 1924, when a dry hole was sunk to the 4,900-foot level.

Another dry hole was drilled into the Oriskany sand in 1941. In 1947 large commerical quantities of gas was struck and C&A. acquired majority interest in the field to increase production by drilling more wells. Hope Natural Gas Company also developed considerable gas production in the Terra Alta field.

GROUND BROKEN FOR PARSONAGE—Twelve church officials and others were at Loch Lynn Heights last Wednesday to witness the ground breaking ceremonies that will culminate in a new parsonage for the United Brethren church there. The finished product will cost some $13,500. Work on the building began immediately after the ceremony. Participating in the affair were the following, left to right: Rev. Bryan Blair, pastor; Harry F. Paugh, builder; Richard Wagner, Mrs. Mary Liller, Lonnie Rodeheaver, president of the board of Parsonage trustees; Mae Biggs, Allen S. "Dick" Paugh Mrs. Nellie Kitzmiller, Mrs. Russell Stover, Walter Campbell, Mrs. Carrie Bittinger and E. O. Liller. Paugh and Campbell are members of the board of church trustees. The ladies are all members of the Ladies' aid. The parsonage is being constructed by the United Brethren circuit. Circuit churches are located at McHenry, Mt. Bethel, Paradise and Loch Lynn.

Monument in County Gives State Title Of "Free State"

The only monument to call Maryland the "Free State" is atop Backbone Mountain in Garrett county.

A story about the monument appeared in the rotogravure section of the Baltimore Sunday Sun of October 6, written by John C. Schmidt.

It is a concrete marker which points out the highest spot on route 50 east of the Rockies. It was erected in 1928 and constructed by August Mencken, who was heading a road building crew at that time.

He had a bronze plaque made and paid for it himself. In fact he had three plaques cast for the marker. On the main one he inscribed the usual information that appears on public projects: elevation, date, names of Roads Commission officials and the name of the contractor.

On the second plaque he showed the familiar sailing ship that was for years the insignia of the State Roads Commission. On its sail is the Maryland seal. Mr. Mencken carved the wooden master for this himself, as he did for a third plaque which showed the Mencken family coat of arms.

The bronze work was done by a founder in Baltimore. During its erection he dropped in a sealed copper box full of trinkets.

Of the three plaques on the shaft only two are visible from the road. Mencken put the family coat of arms around on the back of it.

When the road was widened the contractors hauled it back into the woods but filling station and motel owners protested so the contractor returned and re-established the shaft by the side of the road.

On the round seal on the front of it, around the inside edge above the ship, Mr. Mencken inscribed the words "Maryland Free State."

This phrase, according to the writer, Mr. Schmidt, goes back to 1923 when at the height of the debate over prohibition a Georgia congressman denounced Maryland as a traitor to the country because it had refused to pass a State enforcement act. The editor of The Evening Sun, which had opposed such an act, wrote a mock-serious editorial headed "The Maryland Free State," in which he argued that Maryland should withdraw from the Union. The editorial was not used, but the title caught on, and the principle behind it found one of its greatest champions in August Mencken's brother, H. L. Mencken.

Erecting the monument five years later August saw his chance to memorialize the slogan and took advantage of it. To the best of his knowledge it remains the only monument in the whole state to the "Free State."

IMPROVES FACILITIES—Farming for Better Living results in improved facilities and added conveniences for the farm family. Mrs. Marvin Beitzel, Bittinger, in the above picture, displays her kitchen on the Beitzel farm. The kitchen cabinets are made of knotty pine. The Beitzels operate a dairy and turkey farm near the Western Maryland 4-H Center. They have enrolled in the Farming for Better Living program for the past several years. Two sons, Ray and Roger, have won honors in 4-H with their turkey projects.

Along The Potomac

Congressman Bo Witt S. Frois • 6th District, Maryland

A major unresolved problem confronting the 85th Congress is the issue of wise farm legislation. No adequate solution to the difficulties of American agriculture have so far been presented to the Congress. My hope is that during the coming session we may find a new and lasting approach that will benefit the farmer and the consumer alike.

It seems to me that future farm legislation must consider means of increasing the industrial uses of agricultural products and the encroachment of metrophtan areas on our richest farm lands. Each of these presents major difficulties.

I would like to see the Congress next year provide for research and study into new uses for agricultural products. The President's Commission on the Increased Uses of Agricultural Products points out that agriculture lags far behind other industries in the search for new and increased uses for its products.

The Commission, in part, says: "In the past twenty-five years agriculture often has been researched right out of its own natural domains. Industry will continue to explore the unknown in search for new products and new uses for old products.

Nothing is planner in the economic pattern of today than that agriculture must compete in the areas of basic and applied research. Agriculture should be enabled to compete as an equal in the contest for consumer acceptance. It is now losing by default."

I am hopeful too, that Congress will look into the increasing loss of rich farm lands to our ever-expanding urban areas. The prospect of a vast urban area extending from Boston on the north to some miles below Alexandria, Virginia, on the south demands careful attention to the threatened loss of agricultural lands and recreational areas.

Profit for the farmer depends on markets for his products and his costs of production. The pressure to develop low unit costs in agriculture has unquestionably forced the development of big farms. Unfortunately, our current farm programs tend to make big farms bigger and not to help the small farmer. I am sure that many of my colleagues in the Congress will now agree that any farm program must sharply separate large-scale farming and family living.

Mulches Reduce Root Damage To Ornamental Plants

Thermometers dropped to their lowest points in years in some parts of Maryland last winter and one of the effects of this weather was damage to ornamental trees and shrubs.

Actually, this kind of damage can happen even in mild winters, so protection for valued plants is recommended, regardless of the weather outlook.

It is usually the rool systems that are damaged most during the winter, according to Carl Johnson, University of Maryland extension landscape specialist. And it isn't long periods of cold weather that do the damage so much as sudden drops in temperature followed by mild weather. This alternate freezing and thawing of the ground causes the plants to "heave", breaking the small roots and separating the roots from the earth around them.

Mulching insulates the root area against sudden temperature changes. Johnson says many things can be used for mulching; probably the most common method is simply to rake leaves around the plants.

Leaves, however, have a couple of disadvantages. When they get wet they pack down and cut off the air to the roots. This is true especially with Oak leaves. Also if it is windy, leaves blow away unless they are weighted down with boards. And sometimes leaves may serve as a convenient resting place for mice.

The landscape specialist says peat moss is a good mulch because it is light enough so it won't pack down when wet and yet is heavy enough so it will stay in place in windy weather. Ground corn cobs, barley hulls, well rotted sawdust or barnyard manure are other good mulches.

Mulches are usually spread around the base of the plants as far out as the spread of the branches and should be about two inches thick.

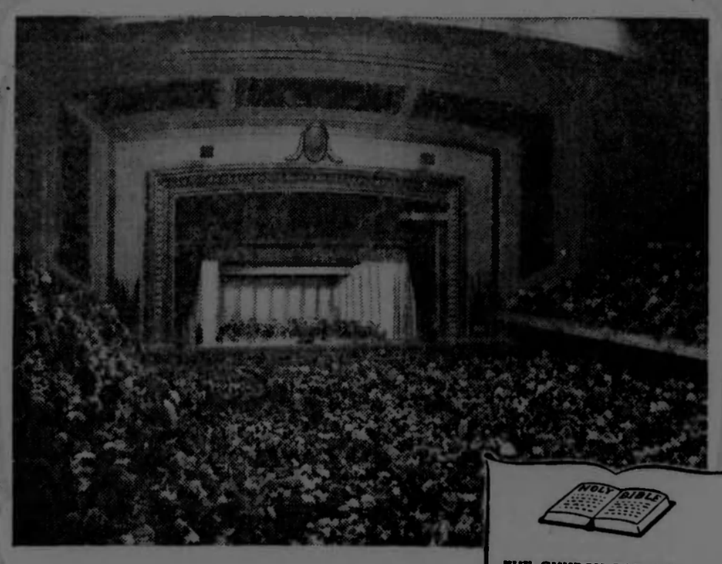
IN HARMONY



The house lights dimmed, the director raised his baton, and the music of Brahms flooded the auditorium. Suddenly I was lifted into a world of sheer beauty and harmony. When the last notes of the symphony died away spontaneous applause greeted the director and the musicians.

What a thrill it would be to play in a great orchestra, I thought. Each instrument must be perfectly in tune, but until they play together there can never be the harmony or the volume of a symphony.

That's the way it is with life. We may strive to find joy and beauty alone. But only when we tune our lives with our Creator do we discover the abundant life.

Then united with fellow Christians in the Church, with Jesus Christ the Leader, we discover beauty and harmony, not only in this life but for all eternity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: 1 Corinthians 9
Devotional Reading: Acts 20:17-24

Minister

Lesson for October 20, 1957

THE man has various titles. He may himself prefer to be called by the simple democratic "Mister." But he is also Pastor John Doe, and the Reverend John Doe, and maybe Doctor Doe, besides. Some call him the preacher. But the title that binds him closest, perhaps, to the Lord Jesus, is the word "Minister." Jesus said: "The Son of man came not to be served but to serve." The Latin word for "serve" in that verse (Mark 10:45) is the word from which our English word "minister" is derived. It is the most inclusive of all the titles; it means in general one who is of service to others, and in particular one who serves in the name of Christ.

Dr. Foreman

The Minister's Call

Consider three points about ministers, which the people in the pews often overlook. One is the minister's call. What he does is a "calling" rather than a "position". How does a minister come to be pastor of a particular church? That varies from one denomination to another, though not very much. But how does the minister come to be one in the first place? That is always the same, whether he is a Roman Catholic priest or a Protestant minister: he is a minister of Christ because he believes, he was called by the Lord to do and be just that. Could he be mistaken? Indeed he can. There are men in the ministry who have no business there. The problem of how to be sure about one's call to the ministry is a problem for ministers, not for most of the people who read these lines. What we need to do, when we "call" a minister, is to be sure we get a man who among other strong points has this: he is God's man first of all; ours only because he was God's first.

The Minister's Salary

Some churches do not have salaried ministers. Most of the churches in America, however, do have salaried ministers. One thing that many church members do not realize is that the salary of a minister is positively not the same thing as a weekly wage paid to a farm hand, or a business man's return on an investment in stocks, or a fee paid to a lawyer. If you hire a man, he is your man. If you don't like what he is doing, you can fire him. But the minister is not a hired man. He is God's man, at your service, but not under your thumb. The business man wants to get rich, or richer; his income builds up his fortune. But the minister's salary never grows to a fortune. The lawyer has a stated set of fees, and if he is like some lawyers, he charges what the traffic will bear, i.e. he charges the wealthy more than the poor. In the Protestant church there is no scale of fees; most of what the minister does is free. Progressive ministers are today doing away with the wedding fee, for example, marrying only their own people and doing this as a part of the church's service to its people. Furthermore, and this is most important, the minister's salary, unlike professional fees, is NOT payment for services rendered. If the minister is any account, his services are beyond price. (How much is it worth, in cash, to be comforted in sorrow, strengthened in temptation, illumined in spirit?) The salary is a subsidy enabling him to work without a salary!

The Minister's Ambition

Paul made it clear that he had a right to a salary; though he preferred not to use that right but to earn a living as he went along. But even if he had been "paid," the salary could never have been the main thing with him. "That I may WIN some people"—not to build a kind of private empire, not to win people for himself, but for Christ. Only God saves men; but he saves men through men. And what price can be named which is a fair "payment" for saving a man's soul?

All dedicated men set the doing of their work above the paycheck in importance. Their real heart's ambition is not for more pay. Their ambition is greater effectiveness—a closer approach to perfection, whether their work is art, teaching, bridge-building or whatever else it may be. So the true minister's secret ambition is not a bigger congregation, more salary, more prestige; it is more souls won.
